FOREWORD

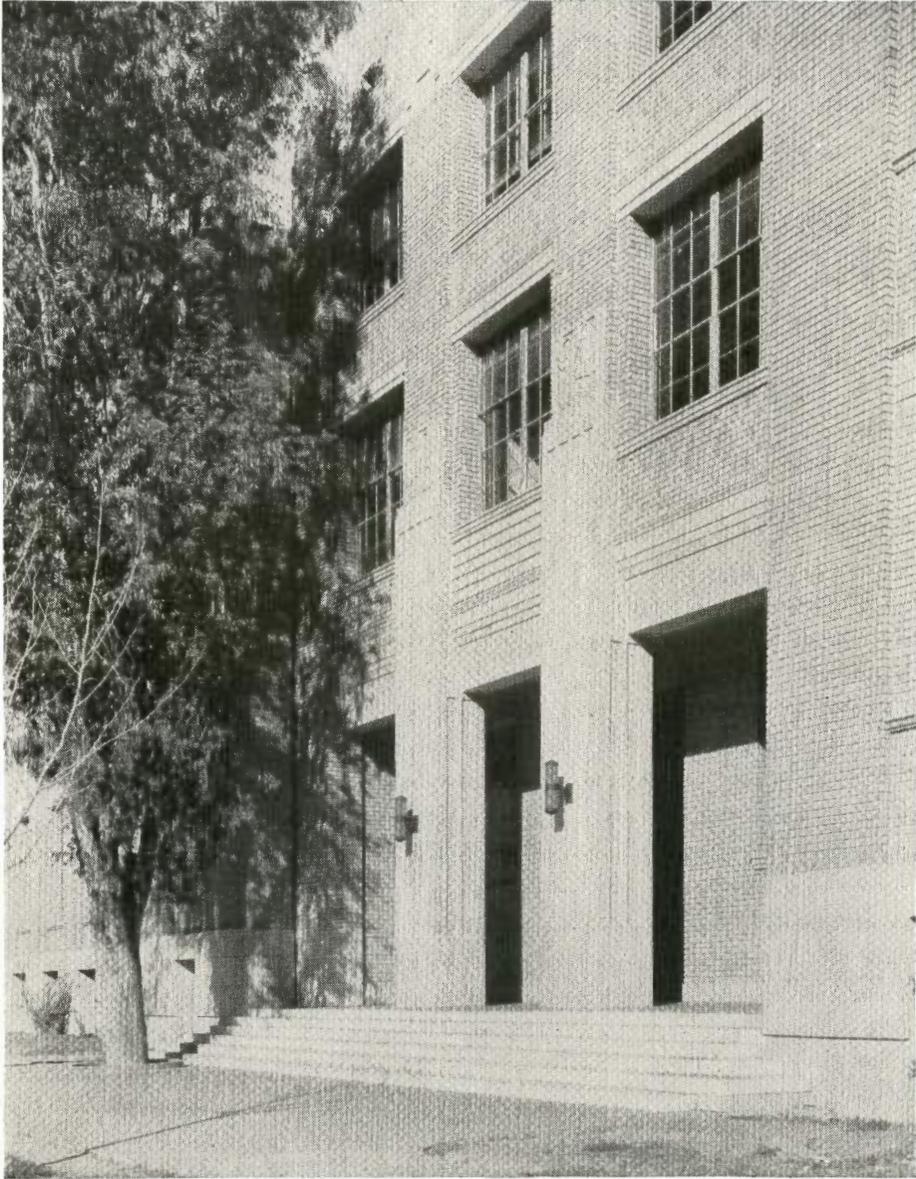

Simplicity has been the goal for the 1935 Renegade Raconteur. We, the staff, believe that this fifth volume of the Raconteur will represent the campus life of the Bakersfield Junior College in a manner that is both interesting and illustrative.

The production of this book has been enjoyable and we wish to thank the students and community for the trust that has been reposed in us.

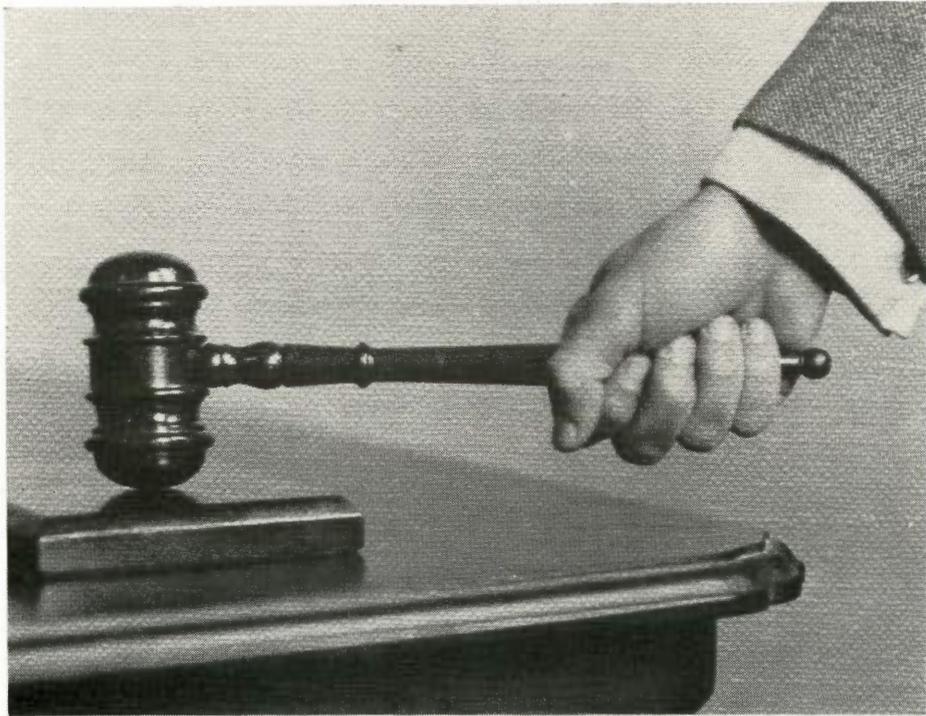

It is hoped that this book will meet with the readers' approval.

DEAN BIRD'S MESSAGE

THE year whose student activities are recounted in this year book has been a happy one and a gratifying one. Bakersfield has maintained a high level of achievement in all her student body endeavors: In sports, where, as winner or runner-up, she has had the wholesome respect of both opponents and supporters; in forensics through which have come to her the highest State honors; in dramatics with the brilliant and artistic presentation of "Yellow Jack", which brought us the unqualified commendation of our community; in her cordial and democratic conduct of social activities; in the publication of this book and the student newspaper, The Rip.

It is sound educational philosophy to say that one of the fundamental aims of junior college education is to prepare its students for more effective participation in the "common understandings of American life", those understandings and activities which must be shared by all of us irrespective of our particular occupational groups. And it is sound educational psychology to say that one of the best ways of increasing the effectiveness of the individual for such participation is to give him practice in sharing actively in the common understandings of student-body life, those understandings and activities which belong to us all and can only be realized if shared by us all irrespective of our academic majors or our particular classification as students. Under the leadership of President Bob Moon and the Executive Council, there has been a wide and generous sharing of responsibility. All of us are richer for it, and the Bakersfield Junior College has grown in strength and stability.

GRACE BIRD, Dean.

SPINDT'S MESSAGE

UNDER the inspiring leadership of Dean Grace Bird, the Bakersfield Junior College has maintained its position in the front rank of California Junior Colleges.

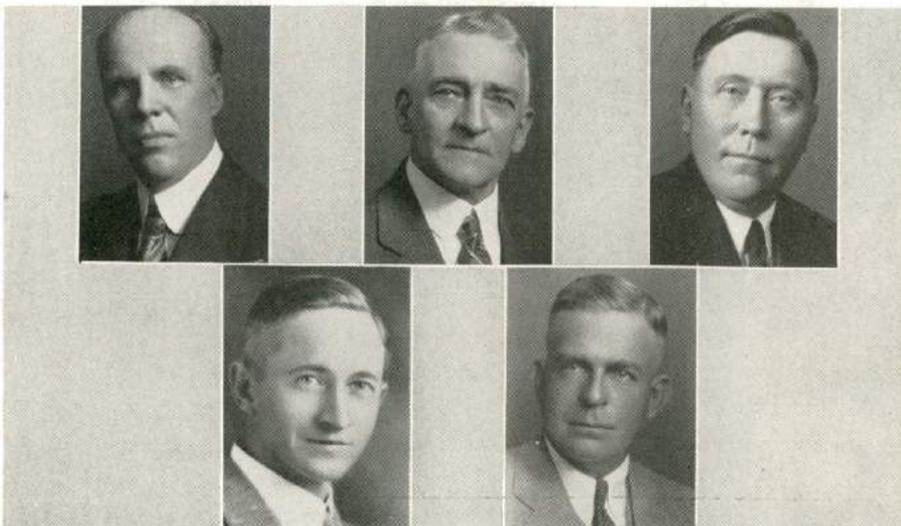

The quality of instruction, the work of the students, and the general spirit of the institution are equal to, and possibly surpass, the work of other years. I have been very proud of the record of our graduates as shown in reports of the Dean; I was very proud of our football team at Taft, of our dramatics group in Yellow Jack, of our string quartette, of our debaters at U. C. L. A.—of all of the things that have characterized our studies and our activities.

To our graduates, the best of luck—but also a word of admonition: remember that the standing of our school depends on what you do at college, on the job, or in your personal behavior. If you do well, it will mean that more of our graduates will be accepted by the colleges and more will be given jobs. In this you must help maintain and improve our present high position.

HERMAN A. SPINDT, Principal.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

BOB MOON
President

ON BEHALF of the student body I wish to express congratulations to the graduates and hope that in their future activities, whether educational or vocational, they will maintain the same high standards of achievement which have been so characteristic of this graduating class.

The class of '35 clearly led the school in their constant participation in student body activities. The record set by this group makes a definite advance in the measured progress of our junior college—a progress that should inspire an even higher achievement in the succeeding classes.

The fine cooperation of the students in the extra-curricular work definitely is reflected in the quality of attainment of the student body as a whole. I wish to make known the appreciation of the executive committee for this valuable help throughout the year.

In conclusion may I thank the executive council for the work and leadership which they have exhibited in their respective offices. It is opportune at this time to express gratitude to the faculty and administration for their helpful guidance in all our student body activities.

STUDENT COUNCIL

RICH in cooperation and ability but poor financially, the controlling powers of the Bakersfield Junior College student body under the direction of Robert Moon, spent a busy year in the arrangement of social life and future policies for the institution.

Dances, the chief worry of the program committees, were rather few and far between, but those held were successes financially and attractive in a decorative fashion. Entertainment for the weekly assemblies and any other gathering was arranged by Harry Harps, the holder of a hard and thankless job.

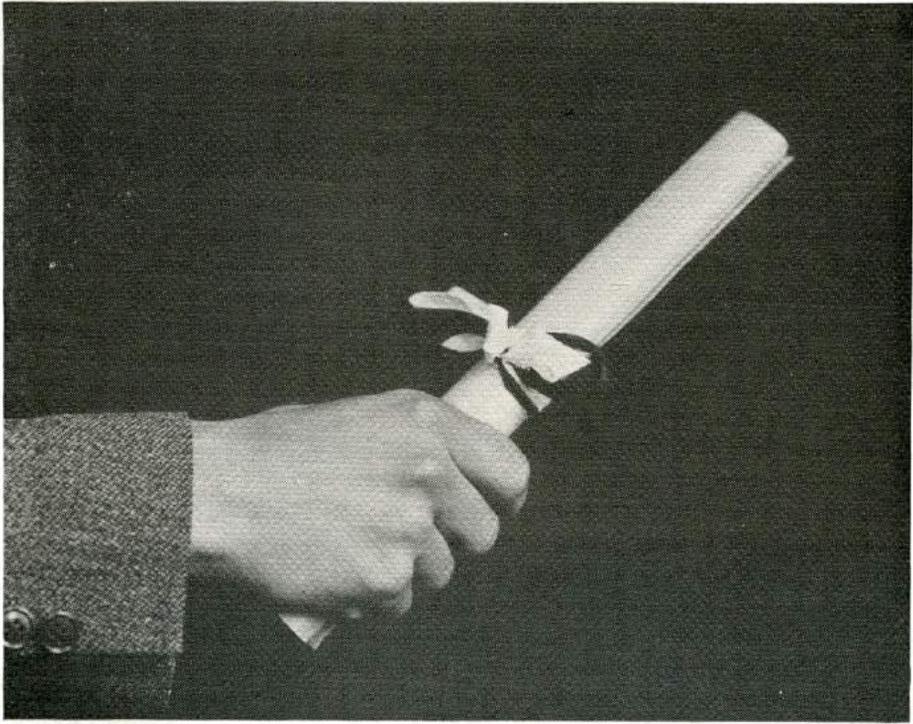

Numerous revisions of the Constitution were prepared, presented and passed by the few students who ever feel interested enough to vote. Outstanding in the changes are the division of the one office of Editor of Publications into two offices, the Editor of the Renegade Rip, and Editor of the Raconteur. An office of business manager of publications was also created. Scholarship standards were set up for those desiring to run for a student body office.

Subordinates to Prexy Moon were North Hathaway in the position of first vice-president; Cyril Haworth, second vice-president; Phyllis Klipstein, secretary; William Baldwin, business manager, and Howard Roland, editor of publications. Due credit should be given to these students who have donated time which could have been profitably spent on studies and who did work which made possible a better-working, more educational institution.

ORGANIZED for the purpose of welcoming women students to B. J. C. and creating active interest within the group itself, the A. W. S. ends the year feeling satisfied that it has accomplished its purpose.

At the beginning of the year the A. W. S. in conjunction with the Patrons Club gave a tea for all freshman women students. Freshman women were further welcomed to B. J. C. on the night of October 18 when they were escorted to a Sailor Party in the girls' gym by sophomore women dressed as sailors.

The outstanding event of the second semester was the A. W. S. Hi-Jinks given in the Auditorium on March 28 for all girls and their mothers. The theme of the Jinks was the comparing of old fashioned girls with modern girls. Many mothers experienced memories of old that night. The purpose of the Hi-Jinks was to have as many girls as possible active in it.

A delegation of four was sent to Santa Rosa on March 1 for the annual A. W. S. convention. The main purpose of the trip was to obtain new ideas for the local organization.

Business meetings were held once a month. At these meetings some form of entertainment was always provided. The most interesting meeting proved to be the one at which former J. C. women spoke.

INCLUDING a wide variety of social events and meetings, activities among the members of the A. M. S. during the past year have been considered most interesting and as successful as in previous years. With Nate O'Brien leading the way in the first semester, and Romain Clerou taking the helm the last semester, the men students found themselves busily engaged in the way of activities.

The first semester was off to a flying start with a dance in the boys' gym. Members of the U. C. L. A. Frosh football team, who suffered a defeat at the hands of the Renegades that same evening, were guests at the dance.

Toward the beginning of the second semester moving pictures of an ice hockey game between Loyola and U. S. C. were shown at a meeting. In the spring a spectacular barn dance was staged in the gym with wagons, hay, and other "barnistic" features as decorations. Among other social highlights are: Annual stag feed and "blowout," "burlesque" stunt, and a concluding social affair during the closing weeks.

Through available funds in the treasury, the A. M. S. contributed to gold basketballs awarded the Renegade stars—an activity which alone is considered a great deal.

A BANNER SEASON of social occasions marked a successful and interesting year for members of the junior college honor society, Alpha Gamma Sigma. This organization is a branch of a state honor society comprised of sixteen chapters.

To attain temporary membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma, a student must gain thirty grade points in one semester with no grade lower than "C", and at the time be carrying no fewer than twelve units of work. Permanent membership requires that a student maintain three semesters of temporary membership during his jaysee career, with a minimum total of 140 grade points and a 2.3 average during all four semesters of school.

Members of Alpha Gamma Sigma include:

THE W. A. A. has had an exceptionally successful year. Competition between the sophomore and freshman women students has been very keen in every series of games, and, as strange as it may seem, the freshman women have dealt defeat to the sophomore women rather consistently.

The W. A. A. is organized for the purpose of interesting women in sports and encouraging them to take an active part in interclass games. The chief sports played during the year are: Association, soccer, speedball, volley ball, baseball, basketball, and tennis. These games require not only skill, but also pep and vitality. The girls of the W. A. A. invite anyone who does not believe this to come out and see them some time.

HIGHLIGHTS—

November 5—Freshmen won the series of games in association. Chinese dinner at the Shanghai.

January 9—Freshmen defeated sophomores in the soccer series. Italian dinner at Il Trovatore.

March 11—Sophomores crushed the freshmen in volley ball.

March 12—Mid-year award banquet at St. Francis Cafe.

April 6—Noon dance.

PRODUCTION of the three-act murder mystery, "Ten Minute Alibi," marked the climax of activities by members of the Junior College dramatics honor society, Delta Psi Omega, during the year. Three one-act plays, "The Beau of Bath," "His Return," and "The Return of Buck Gavin," were presented at various meetings held by the organization. Inspired by the jaysee play, "Yellow Jack," Dr. Lloyd Fox and Mr. Stoddard Atwood presented talks on different phases of yellow fever as features of the regular meetings.

The purpose of Delta Psi Omega is to stimulate interest in dramatic activities, to encourage and uphold a high standard of drama in Bakersfield Junior College, and to secure for the college all the advantages of helpfulness provided by a national fraternity. By means of electing as members students who have done distinguished work in dramatics, it serves as a reward for their efforts in participating in plays staged by the dramatics organization of the jaysee. Members include: Beatrice Allen, John Twaddell, Georg Meyers, Hyrum Amundsen, Ann Eastman, Lucille Ayer, Jessie Lee Hubbard, Henry Hathaway, Francis Walker, Howard Roland, Monroe Browne, and Raymond Rodgers. Among faculty members are Mr. Leslie Hedge, Mr. Cornelius Siemons, Mr. Gerald Smith, Miss Grace Bird, and Miss Ethel Robinson.

COMPLETING a year of industrial study and discussion in the field of architecture, members of Beta Alpha Gamma, architectural honor society, can proudly gaze upon the amount of work completed in that time.

Beta Alpha Gamma is organized solely for the students in Bakersfield Junior College who are majoring in Architecture, and is intended to foster interest and enthusiasm in the study of the various phases of education that lead toward architectural development.

The members of Beta Alpha Gamma constitute a well organized group of future draftsmen. As a student organization in this junior college, it has always stood as a guide to students planning an architectural career.

Regular meetings are held each month, at which time a speaker presents a talk on some subject of architectural interest.

Members include: Bill Howsmon, Eugene Choy, Harold Murray, Fred Deuel, Leonard Turoski, Julius Bain, Robert Eddy, George Meu, Royal Tyson, Edwin Shomate, Charles Faun, and Lee Schmidt.

THE FRENCH CLUB, one of the most active in the college, is organized for the purpose of encouraging interest in the French language. This is accomplished in various ways. French plays in which the members of the club participate are one of the chief means.

However, all of the club's activities are not devoted entirely to accomplishing their purpose. Le Cercle Francais is very prominent in social affairs. Parties, dances, and dinners include some of its other activities. A Christmas dance given in cooperation with the German Club proved to be one of the most popular events of the year.

HIGHLIGHTS—

October 12—Business meeting.

November 10—Party at Iva Van Meter's home.

December 20—Christmas dance.

March 20—French play, "Rosalie," presented at Marian Mortenson's home.

May 17—Dinner at Martha Tracy's ranch.

JUNIOR COLLEGE students interested in the study and development of science make up the organization known as the science fraternity, Kappa Rho Sigma. The beginning of the first semester found the science group functioning slowly, with only six old members returning to school. However, in February fifteen new members were initiated.

Since many of the new members are freshman students, the future of the organization next year is assured. Besides enjoying a series of interesting talks and lectures throughout the year, Kappa Rho Sigma organized a trip to Boulder Dam, returning by way of Death Valley. With Charles Prewett at the helm and Percy Chamberlain as adviser, the group has witnessed a successful year.

Members include: George Besone, Douglas Buffington, Wallace Burt, James Dabney, Wesley Chesterman, Robert Ely, Lamont Frost, Art Hahn, Fred Halverstadt, Eugene Hoagland, Robert Holler, K. C. Kim, Kenneth McLean, Clyde Parr, Erwin Pletcher, Charles Prewett, Walter Riley, Max Shaffrath, Ralph Shick, Louis Tangen, and Carl Russell.

RANKING as one of the most popular clubs in the Junior College, the Forum may be very proud of itself. The purpose of this club is to stimulate interest in the social and cultural values which college has to offer.

The organization throughout the year has attempted to promote its purpose by studying various phases of college life in the bi-monthly discussion meetings. A general consideration of the local Junior College was the first topic, from which proceeded discussions of the relative advantages of large and small colleges, the value of graduate study, a moral code for college students, student self-support in college, and various subjects in this field.

An attempt was made to diversify the type of social activities sponsored for the members, and as a result many enjoyable experiments were participated in by the most active members.

FEATURED by a series of talks and discussions on religious topics at the bi-monthly meetings, the year proved profitable and interesting to the members of the Junior College Y. M. C. A., under the leadership of Darrell Janzen, president. The purpose of this college "Y" association is to organize a group of men students in an attempt to live by Christian ideals.

During the first semester the deputations group was much in demand at meetings all over the county. Of much interest to everyone was the post-season basketball league sponsored directly by the college "Y".

As an assembly contribution to the jaysee student body, the "Y" group were most fortunate in arranging to present Dr. T. Z. Koo as a principal campus speaker of the season.

Members include: Darrell Janzen, William Johnson, Paul Wiebe, Ralph Zellers, Malcolm Dailey, Gordon Patterson, Cloyd Ross, Ralph Price, Paul Graves, David Delameter, Dave Hanley, Walter Riley, Kenneth Rich, Harold Voth, Norman Seim, Wallace Burt, Wayne Bailey, K. C. Kim, Lloyd Groemer, and Harold Shafer.

PARENTS of junior college students, together with jaysee instructors, form the Junior College Patrons' Club. The purpose of this organization is to promote a better understanding between the students and the patrons. The group has been exceedingly successful in accomplishing its purpose this year.

In the fall semester the Patrons' Club presented the junior college with a maroon and white victory flag which may be seen flying over the junior college building in times of victory. Proving further their interest in the affairs of the students, the club sponsored the Football Banquet.

During the spring semester the entire activity of the club was directed toward presenting the jaysee with a Trophy Cup upon which the name of the student doing the most in benefiting the college would be inscribed. Money for the cup was raised by sponsoring the picture, "David Copperfield." Congratulations to Bill Baldwin, the first student to have his name on the cup.

WITH a well-filled calendar of outstanding performances and participation in grid games, concerts, and parades, Harold J. Burt and his Bakersfield Junior College Band gaze clearly on another successful year concluded with the musical organization.

To stimulate enthusiasm and encourage up-and-coming musicians is the purpose of this musical unit in the school. The written specific duty for each member is that he appear properly uniformed and on time at every rehearsal and official appearance of the organization.

The Renegade musicians, supported by a group of outstanding high school band members, have extended their talented services to all home junior college grid games, the Taft-Bakersfield play-off at Taft, Armistice Day parade, Frontier Days parade, Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena, Wildflower parade and festival, and other events. The year's activities were concluded by the Annual Band Concert, which was held during the month of May in the high school auditorium.

PARTICIPATION in a great number of school and civic affairs was recorded by Harold J. Burt's Junior College-High School Orchestra this year. The year's activities culminated in the annual concert given in the auditorium on May 3. Particularly noteworthy was the fact that the orchestra was capable of presenting, in a creditable manner, the entire Tschaikowsky Sixth Symphony (Pathetique). The program was rounded out by the addition of three other interesting numbers—Lecuona's "Malaguena," Grofe's "On the Trail," and Johann Strauss's "The Bat" overture.

Some other important appearances of the orchestra during the year were at the Student Body Play, the Senior play, the Elks Memorial program at the Fox Theatre, the public schools program at the Masonic Temple, the High School Musical Festival at Wasco, where the orchestra performed, as well as accompanied the combined high school choruses of the county under the direction of Mr. John Smallman of Los Angeles, and finally the Annual Baccalaureate Service.

Max Bayless, Willard Hirst, William Garriott, Randell Lewis,
Robert Hocking, and Pete Lynch

KEEPING in progress with the musical world, Jimmy North and his orchestra of well-known student musicians have won honorable approval with their excellent performances at junior college dances and other social fetes this year.

With performance "unsurpassed" by any like organization in the past, Jimmy North and his orchestra have risen in ability to compare favorably with leaders in the same field. This group of high school and junior college students was formerly a part of Jack Rees' famous orchestra, the latter having joined the ranks of a nationally known dance orchestra.

Jimmy North's organization has been the center of attraction at many important school social affairs, including: Big "B" dance, annual military ball, opening junior college dance, J. C. Thanksgiving dance, J. C. Christmas dance, J. C. publications dance, A. M. S. barn dance, high school publications dance, J. C. spring sport dance, Varsity Club dance, and concluding Jaysee informal affair.

III
ACTIVITIES

By MURRAY ARNOLD, Sports Editor

BOASTING one of the most capable coaching staffs of any junior college in the state, B. J. C. is fortunate in having not only a group of able men guiding the teams but men who have imprinted their own personalities in the life of the school. Coach Jack Frost, graduate of U. C. L. A., shoved a green team to within an ace of the grid conference championship. He was assisted by Don Robesky, all-American guard from Stanford, and John Clymer of U. C.

In basketball, Coach Frost came through again with the goods when the Renegade basketball team, losing a third game of the season to the Taft Cougars, just missed the conference title. In both football and basketball, the Maroon and White lost to the West Side teams by the closest of margins. It is predicted Jack will have some fine years in the future with his men acquainted with the system which he brought in totally new this year.

Coach P. M. Bliss, the Renegade cinder mentor, had one of the finest years since he came here from U. C. He was handicapped, it is true, by a lack of material, yet his track team, with a nucleus of a few good men, was a consistent winner. The local team was given a lot of trouble by the Visalia Tartars whenever the two squads crossed spikes, but it managed to stay on top of Taft, Porterville, Coalinga, and Reedley.

Coach Forrest Lynn, in tennis, also had a good year. He had some material which was better than the average and he made the most of it. One of his top flight players, Kenneth Rich, made a fine showing in the annual Ojai Valley net tourney.

Theron Taber, commissioner of athletics, deserves a lot of credit for the work he has done not only in the season of 1934 but in a number of past seasons for the Renegades.
