FROST QUITS AFTER 26 YEARS

Jack Frost Leaves Football After Finishing 26 Years of Coaching

Jack Frost, a great coach of a great game, is quitting football after 26 years of coaching in Bakersfield.

He leaves behind a record of 85 wins, 52 losses, and 11 ties—a fine record in any league. What he will never leave behind is the admiration and respect of those who knew him as a coach and the admiration and respect of those who knew him as a man.

Asked why he is giving up the coaching profession, Frost replied in the soft-spoken voice that has become his personal trademark, "I've just been in football long enough."

Wallace D. "Jack" Frost was born in Donaldsonville, Louisiana in 1902. Attending high school in Beaumont, Texas, he was a stellar end for the school football team and he also lettered in basketball and baseball.

When Jack entered UCLA in 1921 he played halfback under coaches Harry Trotter, Jimmy Cline, and Bill Spalding. He was a 4-letter man, who also acquired a lightweight boxing championship.

In 1927 he took over the coaching chores of the Bakersfield High School Sandabs. From 1927 to 1931 the Sandabs had the magnificent record of 42 consecutive wins.

When Spud Harder left Bakersfield to go to Santa Barbara, Jack became head coach of the Bakersfield College Renegades. He has continued in that position up to the present time. Probably few BC students remember the Renegades as headed by any other man than Jack Frost.

Jack says that besides teaching men the fundamentals of football, he teaches them to always play within the regulations of the game, which he considers the greatest rule of football, to play as a team rather than individuals and to be loyal to school and coach. "I believe that any man can become a good football player if he has the desire to play and is willing to work diligently on fundamentals and faithfully abides by training rules."

The Renegades, under Frost, won the Metropolitan Conference Championship in 1947 and almost went to the little Rose Bowl. They have won the Central Section Conference Championship numerous times. Jack, himself, states that he cannot remember when he first started to play football.

Frost, although he has given up football, will remain at Bakersfield college as a PE instructor and golf coach, but the students will miss him and football will miss him as leader of the Renegades.

Each and every member of Bakersfield college owes Jack Frost a sincere vote of thanks for the great sportsmanship he inspired, for the men he helped build, and for being a great guy.

We at Bakersfield college will miss you as the pilot of our football team, Jack. We know what the man meant when he said the best things come in small packages.

Renegades Earn Bid To Play in Spud Bowl

Bakersfield College earned the right to meet Fresno Junior College in the Fifth Annual Kern County Shrine Club Potato Bowl game at Griffith Stadium this Saturday, with their convincing 46 to 12 defeat of the Taft Jaysee club last Friday, November 28.

With two minutes remaining in the Taft game, the Shrine Club board of management met behind the Renegade bench and produced unanimous decision allowing the Gades to play in the Potato Bowl game.

In anticipation of the big game, a bonfire rally will be held tomorrow night at 4th and P streets after the Christmas parade. The affair is being presented through the combined efforts of the college AMS and the Shrine Club. In charge of the event is John Burum, president of the AMS.

Pre-Game Ceremony

An elaborate pre-game and half-time ceremony is being planned by the members of the Kern County Shrine Club, in which approximately 900 Kern County high school and college musicians will participate. Each band will make an individual presentation on the football field and will then assemble for a mass playing of the national emblem march as the cadet guard approaches the north end of the stadium.

Half time activity will be handled by the bands of Bakersfield High School, Fresno High School and Bakersfield College. Also participating in the ceremonies will be the Kern County Shrine Club's Hharis marching unit, under the direction of Frank Wilkson.

Both Bakersfield College and Fresno Junior College will be allowed 300 rooter tickets for the game, according to Ernest C. Hunter, chairman of the game.

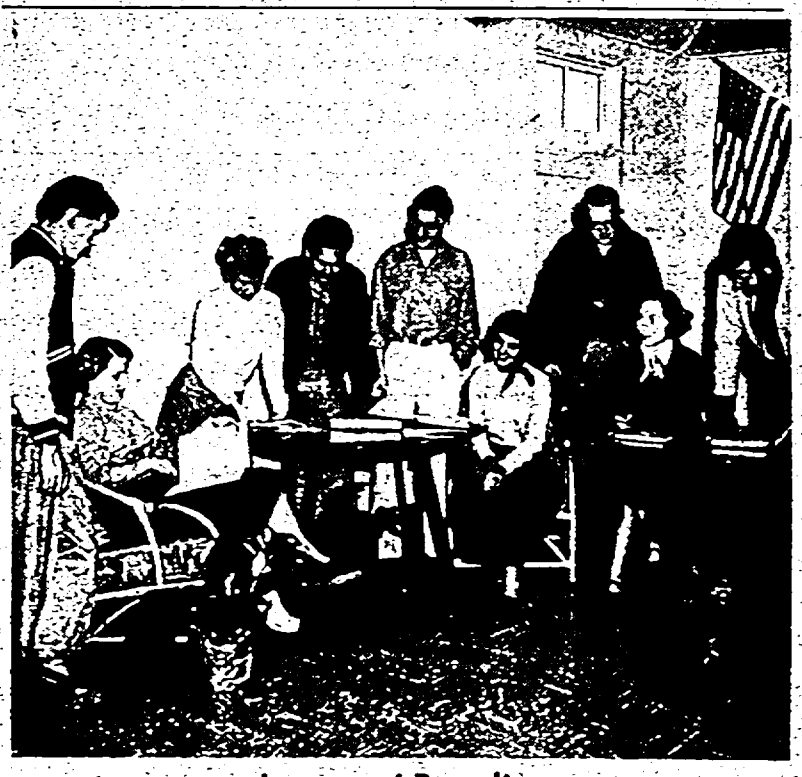
Fresno's Record

Fresno Jaysee has run up an impressive seasonal record of seven wins and two defeats. Both losses were early in the season to Hartnell College of Salinas and Modesto Jaysee. Coach Hans Wiedenhoefer's club dealt defeats to Menlo Jaysee, Taft, Reedley, Porterville, Coalinga, College of Sequoias, and San Jose State Frosh.

Fresno Jaysee is the oldest junior college in California. Bakersfield is the second oldest. The Fresno Rams are three times Central California Conference champions.

Graduates Attention!!

All prospective January graduates must file a candidacy for graduation form in the records office on or before December 12. These forms can be obtained in the records office.



Loungers' Paradise

With the completion of decoration of the lounge, weeks of homelessness are now ended for numerous students who have been aimlessly wandering the campus in search of a haven in which to study, telephone, and make like a genuine psycho case. Finances were drawn from the fund created by the momentous sale of student body cards. Kirk Hale, far right did most of the transforming. Others pictured left to right are Tom Stockton, Peggy Dye, Pete Dewees, Pete Loewenberg, Ida Cesmat, Floyd Hicks, Adele Newell, and Hale.

Baby, It's Cold Outside! Students Shiver, Shudder

by Mary Alice Gonzales

It's a fact! It really is! It's cold outside! In case you don't believe it's cold, try coming to school the way Marilyn Monroe dresses. In fact, the weather is so cold that it takes about 5 minutes for the words you speak to thaw out.

Cold weather is a convenience, however; skirts, sweaters, and those flashy red jackets of the Renegades look in place, rather than just decorative.

When teachers, the fresh air fiends, open windows, the cold, plus those monstrous jack-hammers set students to shivering and vibrating like Santa's tummy.

The lounge has become a desirable place to congregate for those lifers taking three units a semester.

Of course I may be exaggerating a little bit in the coldness of the weather, but then again it is awful cold.

Well, there's only one thing you can do now and that's to brr with it.

Orchestra Shows Film on Music

"Concert on Film," the name of the film shown in Harvey Auditorium Tuesday night, was sponsored by Bakersfield College and High School Orchestra.

Featured in the film were Arthur Rubinstein, Gregor Pratigorsky, Andres Legovia, Jan Peerce, Nadine Conner, and Jascha Heifetz. These artists who have been heard in the music capitals of the world were met in behind-the-scenes movement as only a few know them.

Showtime

BLOODHOUNDS OF BROADWAY

The only things that make this different from all the other George Jessel musicals are Damon Runyon's amusing but unbelievable characters and that wonderful little bundle of energy, Mitzi Gaynor. Otherwise the weak spots lie in one single mis-cast—Scott Brady who doesn't belong in this type of picture; an awkward southern accent by Miss Gaynor; and not enough of what makes musicals musicals, music with dancing and singing.

MITZI GAYNOR

The plot is that of an illegal bookie agency run by Brady; a backwoods gal, Mitzi, who falls hard for him; and that honesty is the best policy. There is another Mitzi in the picture, Green, by the last name. Although Hollywood appears to have a good stock of dancers, there is always room for one more, speaking of Richard Allen who also shared the spotlight with Susan Hayward in "With A Song in My Heart."

THE IRON MISTRESS

A bloody good picture all the way. About that endless life of Jim Bowie and his two loves, a woman of a cold heart, and a knife of cold steel.

Virginia Mayo is the woman and Alan Ladd is Jim, a backwoods man who finds wealth to get a wife, but by the time he makes his fortune on cotton and horse races, a blow knocks him down. Mayo couldn't wait so she marries a no-good gambler who would be better off dead.

Cut-Ups

Douglas Dick has his finest role to date as the well-to-do brother of Mayo who lives on wines and sword duels.

Ladd finds himself busy, either cutting up a few people, or getting cut up a bit himself every time he turns around. Otherwise good entertainment.

REVIEWER'S QUIP . . . These backwood folks certainly aren't backward by any means.

County High Schools View BC Programs

Bakersfield college has been giving assemblies for Kern county high schools to create good student relations.

Dail Harrison is the M.C. with the help of Chuck Carlstroem.

The assemblies open with "Mr. Touchdown" played by the Renegade band and the interviewing of four senior students. The song and yell leaders then lead the students in their own fight songs and yells.

Chuck Carlstroem and the band do a specialty concert and Matiquita Eddy and Joe Armbrister do individual numbers.

Also on the program are the girls drill team, the majorettes, and a uke trio by Don Hartman, Dail Harrison and Chuck Caralstroem.

The high schools that the group has gone to are: Arvin, Shafter, Delano, and East Bakersfield.

Poem of BC Instructor To Be Printed

Paul Gordon, chairman of the humanities division at Bakersfield College, has received word from Karl Shapiro, editor of "Poetry, considered the outstanding poetry magazine in the country, that his poem "All Gargoyle" has been accepted for publication in a future issue.

The poem is one of a number written by Gordon while on leave of absence last year to do advance study at the University of California at Berkeley.

Two poems of Gordon's appeared in the Summer issue of "Recurrence." They are "Nirvana" and "Between the Tiger and the Lilly."

Earlier this year Gordon was awarded first prize in the Poetry Section of the Ormida Keeler Writing Contests, sponsored by the California Writers' Club.

Gordon's winning entry was titled "What Mirror Do You Read." The announcement and presentation of the award were made at a dinner meeting of the California Writers' Club at the St. Julien Restaurant, San Francisco.

This is Gordon's first year at Bakersfield College, where he instructs classes in English XB, 1B, and 5A.

Skippin . . . . . Around

by Skip Groff

Due to the many requests and threats we have received in the past few months, we felt it would be wiser to continue this column. The phone calls late at night, the letters pouring into the office and the clamor of the readership was not quite convincing; even when the printer threatened to stop printing the paper we weren't sure, but the last straw came when Dean Simonsen intended to end it all by leaping off the Kern river bridge. So from now on here is Skippin Around.

Incidentally,

the theme of this column will be an attempt at humor. For example, we will print jokes like this one: Joe: Whats it called when a Swede gets up in the morning and writes poetry? Schmoe: I don't know. Joe: Going from bed to verse.

For Rent

Furnished Room. No drinking aloud. (No sippers wanted, apparently.)

You see, the above demonstrates what this column might consist of, other features will be guest writers, the only gossip column in the Rip, well known facts about little known people, aids to education and other uninteresting facts.

Coaching Record
Jack coached first at Bakersfield High School with the Sandabs where he set a record of 40 straight wins without a loss. Here at Bakersfield College he has a victory percentage of over 62. Frost was also named Flyweight champion of the Pacific Coast while boxing for the UCLA team.

Sports Sprinklings

by Wayne Smith

Bakersfield is about to lose one of California's most respected coaches—Wallace D. "Jack" Frost. Jack will end his coaching career after Saturday's fifth Annual Potato Bowl game between his Bakersfield college Renegades and the Fresno JC Rams. His record at BC is quite impressive, winning 62 per cent of the games. It would be very fitting of his Renegades if they would win this one for Jack, and I am sure they will do just that. Good bye, Jack.

Fresno vs. Bakersfield

The Rams from Fresno have racked up wins over Taft, Coalinga, Reedley, College of Sequoias, Fresno State College Frosh, and the San Jose State Frosh.

For the past several years Fresno JC has been a power in their conference, taking their conference for the last three years. The Rams will be tough to beat in this game, however.

Gades' Record

Bakersfield hasn't had the most successful season, but examine their schedule.

Our worst game was probably with Long Beach, but look at their other three defeats — East Los Angeles 14-17; El Camino 6-14; and Los Angeles Valley 19-17. All of these are among the top 15 teams in the nation. None were bad defeats either, in fact, with a break, the Renegades could have won any one of these.

In the Renegades' last two tilts, Bakersfield has gotten back to their form of their first four games; Santa Monica, 63-6, and Taft 46-12. Bakersfield is a much better team than their season record indicates.

His Last Game
Jack Frost will be leaving the football coaching ranks after Saturday's fifth annual Shrine Potato Bowl as his Renegades fight it out with the Fresno JC Rams. Frost will continue to coach the golf team and will also be a gym teacher. In the above picture "the little giant" is shown in a very familiar piece of equipment to him—a football uniform he wore while in his youth.

Gades Try for First Win in Potato Bowl

Bakersfield will meet Fresno junior college Rams in the 5th annual potato bowl game this Saturday night at Griffith stadium, with all net proceeds going to the Shriners' hospitals.

Fresno has a record of seven wins and two losses for the season. Their losses were to Hartnell college 6 to 0 and 7 to 0 to Modesto JC. Fresno has beaten Menlo 19 to 14; Coalinga 31 to 0; Porterville JC 30 to 6; Taft 59 to 0; Reedley 27 to 7; College of Sequoias 33 to 6; San Jose State College Freshmen 28 to 0.

Fresno and Bakersfield both have played Taft this year. Fresno beat Taft 59 to 0 and Bakersfield beat them 46 to 12.

Fresno has compiled 227 points to their opponents 46. For the third straight year they have won the Central California conference under coach Wiedenhoefer.

Gades Wallop Taft

Last Friday night the Renegades beat the Taft Cougars 46 to 12 before 5,000 fans at Griffith stadium. The Gades scored in every quarter. At half time they were leading 14 to 0. In the third quarter they exploded for 20 points. In the fourth quarter Taft scored 12 points against the second string defensive unit.

Basketballers Try for Repeat Over Reedley

Off to a good start with three consecutive wins, the Bakersfield College Renegade hoopsters are ironing out the kinks in their offense with hopes of repeating their first win over Reedley Junior College earlier this week, when they meet this same club Friday, December 5, at Reedley.

In the opening game of the season, the Gades squeezed by a strong Alumni team 58-56 on a tip-in just as the final buzzer was sounding.

Reedley Junior College, who is considered to be one of the top teams in the central section, felt the axe here last Saturday night, when the Gades teamed up to regain a 25-3 deficit handed them in the first quarter, and go on to win 64-61. Don Holliday hit high point honors with 20 points although only playing in three of the four quarters.

After one nights rest the locals took on the Jets from Edwards Air Base and easily handled the fliers to the tune of 73-45. Everybody got into the act as coach Hank Pfister cleaned the bench with the reserves in turn putting in a creditable performance for themselves.

Professional Loungers and Students Alike Rejoice As BC's New Lounge Is Opened

Pull up a chair, pardner, a new rattan chair that is!

The new student lounge, long a dream, is now a reality according to Ida Cesmat, chairman of the lounge committee, as she officially announced the opening Monday.

"This new lounge is something of which all student can be proud. I hope everyone of you will make much use of its facilities," stated Pete Loewenberg, student body president.

Located on the school parking lot east of the Junior College Building, the new lounge is housed in one of the temporary buildings purchased by the district administration to ease the shortage of classroom space.

Completely furnished and decorated in red and green, the new lounge will be equipped with air-conditioning, phone, coke and candy machines, and a juke box.

Top attraction will be the new rattan furniture with tough plastic-covered cushions purchased from student body funds set aside by the executive council earlier in the semester.

Additional furniture from the old lounge will be refinished in green plastic and bamboo in the fashion of the new furniture. Kirk Hale, a sophomore student, volunteered to handle the reconstruction project without cost to the student body. The tables have already been repainted in emerald green.

Completing the furnishings will be bamboo drapes, and water color paintings by Betty Lou Thompson; a bulletin board kept up to date by Pete Dewees, all the latest magazines; a cupboard for publicity materials, a clock, and green plants donated by Bakersfield florists.

The upkeep of the lounge will be paid for by the profits from the juke box.

From THE EDITOR

by Don Righetti

MY PERSONAL THANKS TO THE PEOPLE WHO DID SO MUCH WORK ON THE NEW LOUNGE AND THE BONFIRE. The entire student body is indebted to these people who worked for the benefit of the college without promise of any reward whatsoever. This is a true example of school spirit.

ON THE OTHER HAND, SOMEONE RECENTLY USED THE PHONE IN THE STUDENT LOUNGE TO MAKE LONG DISTANCE CALLS. A bill that looked something like California's share of the national debt was the result. The calls were traced and the party responsible has since made restitution. This should serve as a sufficient deterrent to you Anguses who get the urge to inquire about the weather in Poughkeepsie on a free-for-nothing basis.

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO PUT THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS INTO WORDS. It is a season of frenzied activity, of fellowship and gaiety that is absent during the rest of the year. It causes people to feel closer to things higher than the wars and greed of the world. It defies description; so let me just wish you, very sincerely, from myself and the rest of the staff—Merry Christmas.

Congratulations!
The presentation of felicitations to Jack Frost for the winning of the Potato Bowl game produces mixed emotions. Smiling broadly at the inanimate mike are Bob Elias, KBIS program director and Hans Wiedenhoefer, coach of the losing Fresno contingent. Looking less happy is be-fezzed Ernest Hunter, Shriner in charge of the game and festivities.

The Big Dance

Here are two students who aren't ducking the "Snow Ball." Gay Branscum and Kirk Hale are all ready to get into the swing of Bob Sisson's music at the Christmas formal held at the Bakersfield Country Club on December 23. Bids for the dance which will last from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. are $2.

Fashion Show for Holiday's

"Holiday Fashions," featuring evening wear, was the theme of the fashion show given by the Lance and Shield last Tuesday night in Harvey Auidtorium.

All the evening wear was obtained from Minnette's and Ethel Ferber's shops. Invitations were extended to Garces, Bakersfield High School, East Bakersfield, and Bakersfield College students and faculty.

Entertainment was furnished by Lupe Ornelaz, who sang "White Christmas" and "Indian Love Call," and Nancy Renfree who danced.

The girls modeling were Barbara Ballou, Joan Dodge, Lavania Florence, Patsy Harvey, Lucille Hopkins, Pat Irick, Mary Kaley, Marvelle Mather, Anna Robman, Nancy Skelton, Maureen Stevenson, Louis Stewart, Wanda Weeks, Lila Wood, and Linda Beaty.

Joan Dodge and Anna Robman were co-chairmen of the committee working on the show. Mrs. Esther Sargent is advisor to the Lance and Shield.

"And Be Back Jan. 5!"

Making like that benevolent gentleman of the Great White North-of-the-Auditorium is President Ralph Prator. He presents seasons greetings from the combined faculty and staff.

BC Students To Attend Y Conference

Bakersfield college is sending 17 student representatives to the annual Pacific Southwest Student YMCA and YWCA conference to be held at Asilomar, December 28 to January third.

The Rotary club is sending 12 freshmen. The sophomores are financing their own trip. The Interfaith Council is sponsoring the group.

The program includes morning platforms, seminars, evening programs, committees, recreation, and a New Year's dance and party. About 400 delegates from colleges and universities from California, Arizona, Nevada and Hawaii are expected to attend the conference.

Persons attending the conference are potential leaders of tomorrow. Some foreign exchange students also attend the conference.

Students Attending

Students attending the conference are: Mariquita Eddy, Dorothy McLaughlin, Colleen Buckley, Ada Actis, Gay Patterson, Karen Sagen, Jim Waters, Jim Downs, Johnnie Atchley, Bruce Vogel, Pete Sharland. Sophomores attending are Peter Loewenberg, Jim Richmond, Marvelle Mather, group chairman, Jean Peppers, Bob Orrick, and Bob Wessel. Alternates are: Gay Branscum, Jeannette Blank, Duck Brubaker, and Jerry Smetzer.

Some well known speakers and their topics for the meeting are Dr. Fritz Kunkel, "Growing Through Crises"; Mr. William Piehl, "Proposals for Peace"; and Mr. Arthur Casady, "Roots of World Conflict."

Snow Ball Rolls

"Snow Ball" is the name of the Christmas formal which will be held at the Bakersfield Country club, Tuesday, Dec. 23, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., according to Bob Orrick, student body vice-president, who is in charge of the gala event.

Other people working on the formal are Bette Ann McEwen in charge of reception, Mary Kaley will handle the publicity, and Skip Groff is working on the details for the dance bids. Bids will go on sale for $2.00.

English Class Are Poetry Devotees

An interesting course this semester is Miss Edna Keough's World Literature or English B. The class read Shakespear's "Tempest," "Hamlet" and "Romeo and Juliet." After doing part 1 of "Goethe Faust," they will revert to past times with selections from Irish mythology. At this time the class is beginning Dante's "Divine Comedy."

Although the course was originally for non-English majors, or those going into teaching, it is now recommended for English majors.

Miss Keough is also giving a night class in English 48 AB. It is a course in modern poetry devoted to such modern poets as T. S. Eliot, W. H. Auden, Wallis Stevens, Ezra Pound, George Barker and others.

Both courses will be continued next semester and offer three units each. The night class meets once a week for three hours.

Editorial Comments

Probably most of you are aware of the fact that we have a new and beautiful lounge. But do you realize just how lucky we are in the possessing of the lounge?

With the recent earthquakes resulting in the razing of various buildings on the campus, classroom space diminished and it created the problem of finding adequate classroom facilities for an already swollen enrollment. The addition of Mobilhome classroom, putting up of tents, and the partitioning of larger classrooms into two rooms has solved the immense problem.

The point that I am stressing here is that we didn't have to have a lounge. What is now the lounge might have been another classroom. With these facts in mind, let us all co-operate with the people who gave so much of their time and effort in the furnishing and construction of the interior of the lounge.

We can certainly thank these people who were members of the lounge committee headed by Ida Cesmat. Helping her were Kirk Hale, Bob Schroeder, Tom Stockton, Peggy Dye, Pete Dewees, Pete Loewenberg, Floyd Hicks, Adele Newell, and Chuck Carlstroem. As further co-operation, we should help keep the lounge clean so that it will continue to be really a nice place in which to see our friends, do homework, listen to music, and recover from the rigors of the school day.

Yule Greeting From Dr. Prator

Season's Greetings! I can pretend to be Santa Claus as my counselor has suggested and in any role I do bring tidings of good cheer. For the first time in several years I think we can look forward to the New Year with a thought that national and international affairs will be less strained. The program of containment of Communism has in a sense lessened the danger of World War III and our growing prosperity promises a bright future for 1952-53.

Having just won the Potato Bowl football game due to the efforts of a very fine football team and having witnessed the splendid demonstration of school spirit which took place just after the game, I have no feeling other than one of optimism that 1932-53 will be our best year yet.

Mery Christmas and please have a good time during the whole holiday season.

Cordially yours,

Ralph Prator

Pete Speaks

It is always a shame when there is strife within a family. For this reason, it was with great remorse that I heard of the fisticuffs within our Bakersfield college family.

How can we stand against our rivals and opponents when we fight among ourselves? Why not devote some of this energy and prowess toward doing some of the things that need doing around Bakersfield college?

Let's save our combativeness for our enemies on the outside, and at times when we feel like hitting someone we can all recall the great truth that Abraham Lincoln stated when he said:

"A house divided against itself cannot stand."

Mmmmmmmm'

The Christmas season is upon us! The spirit of brotherly (well, possibly not so brotherly) love has overtaken us. This is the holiday when visions of sugarplums, roast turkey, and mistletoe dance in our little heads. This, sigh modest maidens, is the festival second only to Valentine's Day. And, they add, what is the logic of Christmas coming but once a year?

Christmas: Mistletoe, Tree and Presents

by Mary Alice Gonzales

Christmas! What does Christmas mean to you here in the U.S.? Fun, merriment, enjoyment, receiving gifts, and then more fun? That about sums it all up on what Christmas means to us.

But in the Scandinavian countries elaborate preparations are begun weeks in advance, for the whole house must be cleaned, renovated and gaily decorated. Festivities begin on Christmas Eve with an elaborate supper, followed by a tree with family worship and singing before the presents are distributed.

European Celebration

Germany has kept Christmas with much heartiness in the old manner of a home festival and attendance of church services. The observance centers around the Christmas tree with presents piled under it and on nearby tables.

In the Netherlands and Belgium, the feast of St. Nicholas on December 6 is the children's holiday when the customs associated with cember 6 is the children's holiday, Christmas and feasting are observed. December 25 is a religious holiday with services in the churches and quiet family gatherings at home.

The Italian Christmas is a sacred holiday observed with solemn ceremonies in the churches, especially midnight mass, though there are home customs and special food, but gifts are reserved for Epiphany, another religious ceremony.

A southern hemisphere Christmas in Brazil falls in midsummer, giving it the characteristics of a summer festival with flowers for decorations, fireworks, picnics, fiestas and boating excursions.

In tropical Mexico where Roman Catholicism is the state religion, every home is decorated with flowers and has an altar erected with a presentation of the Nativity in preparations for the Posados. This means "resting place" and commemorated the journey of Mary and Joseph from Nazareth to Bethlehem.

One of our customs is the mistletoe over the doors. Don't you think this is the best custom yet?

Holiday Customs

by Skip Groff

With the Christmas season approaching, have you ever wondered where our customs of Christmas originated? Our present traditions have grown from ancient folkways and Christian rituals.

The date for Christmas was set by the Bishop of Rome in the middle of the fourth century, set arbitrarily, but with good reason. Centuries before the birth of Christ, December had been the month for boisterous pagan rejoicing, celebrating the Winter solstice.

Feasting, decorating the home with mistletoe and evergreens, gift exchanging and the general merrymaking were all integral parts of the traditional heathen celebrations. Having Christmas coincide with ancient festivals was an attempt on the part of the church to counteract the wild winter revelries, and to encourage man's attentiveness to more spiritual things of life.

The idea of Christ's crib began when one was installed in a cave in Italy, and served as the center of a rude altar for Saint Francis when he celebrated Christmas in 1223. From this meager beginning, the nativity soon grew into elaborate plays, in which the clergy took the parts of angels, shepherds and midwives to help at the Holy Child's birth.

Santa Claus had his ancestry in Holland where he was known as Saint Nicholas and was a favorite saint of the children there. He was originally a bishop in Asia Minor, and provided presents for children and doweries for poor maidens.

Special Election Will be Held

Tomorrow, December 12, students will go to the polls to vote in the special student body elections. The ballot will not list candidates running for office, but will contain two important prepositions presented in the executive council.

Proposition 1 is to determine what our school colors should be. As it stands now, some of our trademarks are maroon and white. For example, our banners and dinks. Others are red and white, such as the athletic team uniforms, and the band uniforms. A vote yes would be for red and white, and a vote no, would be for maroon and white.

Proposition 2 concerns the term of office for the class officers. According to the constitution the class officers are elected for one year. Proposition 2, if passed, would amend the constitution by requiring the class officers to be elected semesterly as the student body officers are now. A vote Yes on Prop. 2 would be for the proposed amendment and a vote No would be against it.

What is Christmas? Love, and a Miracle

by Rita Boyd

It was a cold night. The ground was covered with a thick blanket of snow. The air was crisp and snappy, biting through the thin clothing of the shepherds. The only warmth they knew was within their hearts and the voices of angels their only comfort. The sky was clear that night. There seemed to be a million stars lighting up the earth. Far away from this lonely spot, three wise men prepared themselves for a strange journey. Their only possession, gifts. Their only course of direction was a star that seemed to stand out from all the others, bigger and brighter, shining in the east.

In a poor inn in Judea, a proud mother was carefully attending her new born babe in the stable. The child was named Jesus. He became not a prince nor a statesman, nor a warrior. He was not a member of a conquering race and wrote no book defining what was right and wrong. His years on earth were short and hardly in the comfort we are accustomed to today.

There was never any doubt that those few who knew him well became convinced that he was more than man. For He was the son of God.

What caused men to worship such a man? It was what he created in those who were witnesses of it, and in those who heard of it—a conviction of what He really was.

For He possessed an attribute which we know from our own experience to be utterly beyond the value of human nature. He had brotherly love for not only the individual, and that spasmodically, as we do at times, but for the worst and most selfish.

The whole meaning of Christmas is the miracle of Christ's birth and death. The fact that once and only once in human history was there such a man. He so loved his fellow men that he dedicated without a thought to his own self, to give relief and service to all those who stood in need of him.

So, Christmas does not mean just receiving gifts and stuffing ourselves more than the turkey was stuffed. It has a special meaning we all know and love.

Platter Patter

Frienzied about that Christmas present? Records make a lasting gift for Christmas. There are great varieties of recordings to suit every type of taste.

For the sensitive ears: Dorothy Kirsten's album, "Puccini Arias," is excellent. She sings favorites, such as "Vissi d'arte" from "Tosca," "Un Bel Di, Vedremo" from "Madame Butterfly" and "O Mio Babbino Caro" from "Gianni Schicchi." The latter aria which means "O My Darling Daddy" will soon be very appropriate now that Christmas and Santa are drawing near.

"Don Juan in Hell" has been done by Columbia with the original cast, including Charles Boyer, Charles Laughton, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, and Agnes Moorehead. Also, "Will Rogers Says," selections taken from Mr. Rogers' broadcasts, is now available.

PERSONAL

Dear Santa,

Thank you so much for the new lounge. We certainly appreciate it early. It is so roomy and spacious.

After that, we shouldn't even think of anything else. But, there is one thing we would like. A Jack Davenport typewriter for those of us who are in desperate need of one (which means all of us) would be mighty nice. Please.

Skiing Resorts to Visit During Xmas Vacation

During vacation if you're looking for some place to go to take a short vacation and do some skiing; here are some suggestions.

Squaw Valley

Squaw Valley is approximately 350 miles from Bakersfield. They have the best skiing facilities in California.

The largest chair lift in the world runs two thousand vertical feet almost to the top of magnificent Squaw Peak overlooking Lake Tahoe. For the first time skiers will enjoy a double chain lift, meaning there will be someone to talk to on the 18-minute ride to the top.

You can sleep in the style to which you are accustomed—your sleeping bag, swank Tahoe Tavern, or anything in between. Close to the foot of the lift is Squaw Valley's Alpine Village, with clean, cheerful lodging for 150 people. These range from dormitories to attractive suites all with the latest facilities.

Badger Pass

Badger Pass has an elevation of 7,300 feet, the snow average is about 60 inches during the long ski season. Skiers find the open porch of the Badger Pass ski house a superb place for sun tanning, lunching and relaxing.

Within the ski house the skier will find ski storage, waxing and repair rooms, and may rent or purchase all necessary ski equipment. The comfortable lounge with its sunken fireplace is a favorite gathering place for an after-ski snack. There are no sleeping accommodations.

If you are a beginner in skiing, you can get lessons at the ski school at Badger Pass. The instructors present their expert technical information in an understandable manner and its system is universally accepted as the simplest in principal, the easiest to grasp and the most practical for all snow conditions. The terrain is ideally suited for the beginners to learn the fundamentals and long, steep slopes for advanced pupils to practice thei rswing turns.

Sun Valley

Sun Valley is sponsoring Learn to Ski weeks January through April 11. You will get all meals, six days of ski lessons and unlimited use of ski lifts in operation. Plus dancing, music and evening enteitainment at Sun Valley Lodge and Challenger Inn. You may swim any time you wish in Challenger Inn's outdoor warm-water pool. All of this for the low price of $92.

Christmas

I heard the bells on Christmas Day
The old familiar carols play,
And wild and sweet,
The words repeat
Of peace on earth, good-will to men.

Then from each war-torn land
The cannon thundered on every hand
And with that sound
The carols drowned
Of peace on earth, good-will to men.

It was as if an earthquake rent
The hearthstones of a continent,
And made forlorn
The household born
Of peace on earth, good-will to men.

And in despair I bowed my head,
"There is no peace on earth," I said
"For hate is strong
And mocks the song
Of peace on earth, good-will to men."

Then pealed the bells more loud and deep;
Good is not dead, nor doth He sleep;
The Wrong shall fail;
The Right prevail,
With peace on earth, good-will to men.

Doggy Style for Pet Set

by Mary J.

Are you wondering what to give that favored member of the family, your dog, for Christmas. Well, so was I. There was a program on television showing some beautiful doggy fashions for the yuletide season. A poodle came sauntering across the stage wearing a plaid wrap-around trimmed in gold braid and a little "weiner" dog in a turtle neck sweater made a fashionable model.

Of course if you really want your animal to be good and warm, there's a mink edged jacked. It sells for only $123. Kidding aside, for gifts a little more in our pocket range, we looked in on some of the pet shops here in Bakersfield. Found some good looking wool jackets with long sleeves and bright colors.

A stocking filled with dog candy, rubber balls, bells, and bones can be purchased at small cost in most of the pet stores and is guaranteed to delight the pooch.

After all you know they are your best friends and as such deserve nothing but the finest. The ensemble pictured was shown through the courtesy of the Alta Vista Pet Shop and our gracious model was Junior Libbing.

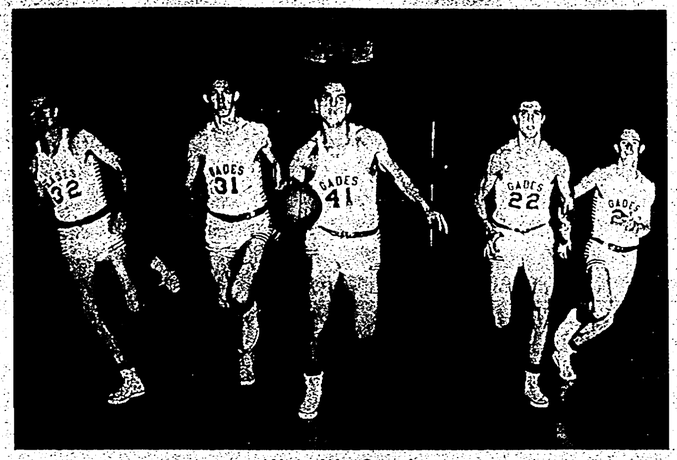
RENEGADE BASKETBALL SEASON GETS UNDER WAY



Here We Come!

Reedley Hands Cagers First Basketball Loss

Led by six foot, six inch center Jim Grande, playing his last game before going into the air force, the Reedley junior college Tigers turned the tables on an unhappy Renegade basketball squad last Friday night to the tune of 77-58 on the victors' home court. It was the first game for the Tigers this season as they pleased the crowd of 500 with their outstanding play.

A monkey wrench was thrown into the Gade offense as three first stringers fouled out in the final play of the third quarter. Johnny Ogden, John Bass, and Don Holliday all had to ride the bench during the fourth quarter. Holliday still came through with high point honors for the locals with 17 digits. Following close behind was T. H. Lockard with 10.

Early Lead

Taking an early lead, the Gades looked as though they might repeat the previous week's win over the Tigers at Lakeside. But taking advantage of free throws, the northern five pulled into the lead at the end of the first quarter 19-16. With the lead narrowing and then stretching out time and time again, the Gades kept fighting back until the half when the lead widened again 37-30.

As the third quarter got underway the Tigers had revenge in their sights and started pouring it on. It was then Holliday, Ogden and Bass fouled out. Reedley took advantage of their height and controlled the ball for the entirety of the final period. At one time the lead was narrowed to 11 points and it looked like the Gades might pull a surprise but the determination of the Tigers kept the game safely tucked away.

Subs Play

Pfister cleaned the bench when it was realized all hope for a victory was lost as the reserves were hit with a stall-the-ball routine. The game was hotly contested with a total of 53 fouls being called as both teams were fighting desperately for possession of the ball.

Others adding to the scoring for the Gades were Johnny Ornelaz with 7, Blair Russell with 9, Juan Perez with 2, Jim Tuttle with 2, Johnny Ogden with 4, and Don Johnston with 1.

Gades Seek Comeback Against Fresno Friday

Seeking to avenge the defeat handed them by Fresno last year, the Bakersfield college Renegades go into action against this same club this coming Friday night at the Lakeside school gymnasium, game time at eight.

A large crowd is expected for this rivalry game and the social event which will follow because of the Gades' impressive performances in the past home games. The general feeling of the Fresno fans who made the trip to the Potato Bowl football game last week was that there could very well be a home town following at this game from the Raisin city.

Tough League

Not much is known about the northern city five except that they will probably be no easy victim for the Renegades. The Rams are members of the Central California Junior College association, a league well known for their basketball teams which include Coalinga, Porterville, C.O.S., Taft and Reedley junior colleges. C.O.S., and Reedley play teams from the Renegades' own Metropolitan Conference and come up many times with victories. This is especially true with C.O.S. who turned up second to mighty Ventura in the state finals last year.

The local five has been practicing with high hopes of a victory after losing to Reedley the past week when the Tigers surprised them with a zone defense.

First Stringers

Still working at first string berths will be Blair Russell and T. H. Lockard at guards, John Bass at center, and Don Holliday and Johnny Ogden at forwards. Holliday so far has turned out to be the Gades' leading scorer with an average of 15 points per game.

The squad this year has been working very well together and are rapidly rounding into near mid-season form. "The rebounding under the offensive board still needs some work" reports coach Hank Pfister who is impressed with the way the team has been playing so far this year.

Lakeside Gym? Where the H—— Is the Thing?

The new and beautiful Lakeside Elementary School gymnasium is the official home court of the Renegades this year. Bakersfield college is indeed fortunate to be given the facilities of this $285,000 plant, as the accommodations are excellent for social affairs following the games.

Easily Reached

The gym is located approximately three miles south of Old River on the Maricopa cut-off. To reach the gym, BC rooters will have no trouble by going south on Oak Street to the Taft highway and then west to Old River.

Social Hall

The social hall is large enough to accommodate a good crowd for an after-the-game dance. The lighting is already installed and can be used for various effects with the many different colored lights. It has a refrigerator for cokes in a separate room easily reached from the dance floor.

A Steamroller

This steamroller most of the time got into high gear, but at times never quite got into second. The Renegades ended up with a seven win-four loss record. The losses they did suffer weren't big ones. The Gades scored a total of 292 points against 125 points for the opposition this season. They won a great game for their retiring coach Jack Frost from a good Fresno squad 25-19 in the Spud Bowl.

Local Football Great Inks Opinions of Jack

I was asked to mention a few remarks about Jack Frost from the standpoint of a former player and manager of the Renegades.

I played fullback for Jack during gthe season of 1949. We had a comparatively bad year as far as winning games, but I learned a lot of football from Jack.

The one outstanding particular that I learned from Jack was that if you wanted to be a success in college football you had to have the old determination and drive to overcome your weakness yourself. A coach can tell you what you are doing wrong, but he can't make a player out of you. They show us then, its up to us from there on out. A coach has from 30-40 men to watch every night in action and its a big job to deal with them individually. Its up to us as football players to overcome our faults by constant self-examination.

Jack's method of coaching was very outstanding in my opinion. He didn't ride a player, he expected him to work—after all, why is a fellow out for football? The guy is out there playing, because he loves the game and he wants to learn.

Fine Offense

I'm sure coaches throughout California agree with me in saying that Jack has designed one of the most outstanding offenses in football today. You can look at this record and see how his pass patterns have especially brought success.

Jack has developed a lot of outstanding players, among them, my brother Charlie Sarver, who in my opinion is the best player to come out of Bakersfield college or the University of California. Charlie stands with me in my opinion of Jack, I'm sure.

Since I was manager this year, I was able to observe Jack as a personal friend as well as a teacher and a coach. Jack doesn't say much, but when he does you can retain it as the knowledge of an expert.

He's a wonderful guy and the sports world is losing a great man of football.

by J. D. Sarver.

When was the bonfire rally supposed to come off? According to reliable sources the fire was to be set off at nine, but when yours truly arrived on the scene about 8:45 the fire was being put out by the fire department. The whole festivities were over. The persons that worked so hard on this bonfire were quite disappointed when they arrived around nine and saw the bonfire already burned down. It had been set off at 7:30 by some of the administration. There was a stream of cars out there at nine, but no fire.

Burnell "the arm" Jamerson has been named to the All-Junior College team. Oddly enough, Jamerson was the only player named on this team from the Metropolitan conference—quite an honor for BC.

Long Beach city college has taken a down hill slide in the last few weeks. The week following Bakersfield's 63-6 win over Santa Monica, this very same team upset the Vikes by two touchdowns. Earlier this season Bakersfield was beaten by Long Beach 20-6. This last week end one of the top upsets of the year took place—winless Los Angeles Harbor took a 15-7 verdict over the skidding Beach Combers. We beat Harbor 40-6.

With the football season over, it's time to focus our attention on basketball. The basketballers have won over the Alumni team, Reedley JC, and Edwards Air Force Base. Their sole loss came at the hands of Reedley in the return game at the northern town. Their next home game is with Fresno JC this Friday at Lakeside. A dance is scheduled afterwards.

I was given this letter to the editor—here it is: "Dear Sports Editor: I've got a gripe. For Jack Frost's last game of the year we certainly displayed a dead rooting section. Are the students of Bakersfield college too adult and sophisticated to give with a little yelling for the team? I've never seen such a group of deadbeats. What's happened to our school spirit?" Signed, A very disgusted BC Student. — My answer is, I don't have the slightest idea.

A Steamroller

This steamroller most of the time got into high gear, but at times never quite got into second. The Renegades ended up with a seven win-four loss record. The losses they did suffer weren't big ones. The Gades scored a total of 292 points against 125 points for the opposition this season. They won a great game for their retiring coach Jack Frost from a good Fresno squad 25-19 in the Spud Bowl.

Local Football Great Inks Opinions of Jack

I was asked to mention a few remarks about Jack Frost from the standpoint of a former player and manager of the Renegades.

I played fullback for Jack durin gthe season of 1949. We had a comparatively bad year as far as winning games, but I learned a lot of football from Jack.

The one outstanding particular that I learned from Jack was that if you wanted to be a success in college football you had to have the old determination and drive to overcome your weakness yourself. A coach can tell you what you are doing wrong, but he can't make a player out of you. They show us then, its up to us from there on out. A coach has from 30-40 men to watch every night in action and its a big job to deal with them individually. Its up to us as football players to overcome our faults by constant self-examination.

Jack's method of coaching was very outstanding in my opinion. He didn't ride a player, he expected him to work—after all, why is a fellow out for football? The guy is out there playing, because he loves the game and he wants to learn.

Fine Offense

I'm sure coaches throughout California agree with me in saying that Jack has designed one of the most outstanding offenses in football today. You can look at this record and see how his pass patterns have especially brought success.

Jack has developed a lot of outstanding players, among them, my brother Charlie Sarver, who in my opinion is the best player to come out of Bakersfield college or the University of California. Charlie stands with me in my opinion of Jack, I'm sure.

Since I was manager this year, I was able to observe Jack as a personal friend as well as a teacher and a coach. Jack doesn't say much, but when he does you can retain it as the knowledge of an expert.

He's a wonderful guy and the sports world is losing a great man of football.

When was the bonfire rally supposed to come off? According to reliable sources the fire was to be set off at nine, but when yours truly arrived on the scene about 8:45 the fire was being put out by the fire department. The whole festivities were over. The persons that worked so hard on this bonfire were quite disappointed when they arrived around nine and saw the bonfire already burned down. It had been set off at 7:30 by some of the administration. There was a stream of cars out there at nine, but no fire.

Burnell "the arm" Jamerson has been named to the All-Junior College team. Oddly enough, Jamerson was the only player named on this team from the Metropolitan conference—quite an honor for BC.

Long Beach city college has taken a down hill slide in the last few weeks. The week following Bakersfield's 63-6 win over Santa Monica, this very same team upset the Vikes by two touchdowns. Earlier this season Bakersfield was beaten by Long Beach 20-6. This last week end one of the top upsets of the year took place—winless Los Angeles Harbor took a 15-7 verdict over the skidding Beach Combers. We beat Harbor 40-6.

With the football season over, it's time to focus our attention on basketball. The basketballers have won over the Alumni team, Reedley JC, and Edwards Air Force Base. Their sole loss came at the hands of Reedley in the return game at the northern town. Their next home game is with Fresno JC this Friday at Lakeside. A dance is scheduled afterwards.

Red & White Now Official School Colors

In the recent special student body elections held Friday, December 12, in the basement of the JC building, Red and White won out over Maroon and White as the official school colors for Bakersfield college. IT SEEMS THAT THERE IS SOME CONTROVERY AS TO WHETHER OR NOT CARD PLAYING SHOULD BE ALLOWED IN THE LOUNGE. The executive council has passed a resolution to allow non-gambling card playing in the lounge. I don't see any reason why it should not be. As long as no hard cash changes hands during a game, the game is no different from checkers or tiddly winks. I have seen numerous card games played in the new lounge, but never one in which so much as a dime was on the table. My suggestion is—wait until someone attempts to abuse the privilege of card playing by gambling in the lounge; then talk about restrictions. If the persons who play cards learn of this policy, there'll probably be a long wait.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE ENTIRE RENEGADE FOOTBALL TEAM. Congratulations on all the hard work you put in and the great job you did in representing Bakersfield college.

HEY! LET'S EVERYBODY HAVE A GREAT TIME FOR THE NEXT TWO WEEKS! It's a long haul to the next vacation. Mery Christmas and Happy New Year from the Rip staff.

BC Wins First Place in Parade

"The Queen of Hearts," Bakersfield college's prize winning float in the Christmas parade was sponsored by the Shriners, the Renegade Knights, and the student body. Rosalie Williams, football queen, and Colleen Buckley and Ida Cesmat, princess, road atop the float, which gave BC first place in the school division judging.

The college's official entry in the parade was a float named "Ring Around the Potato Bowl," constructed by members of the AWS. On this float were Joan Dodge, Marsha Schuetz, Peggy Dye, Donna Bianco, Nancy Robinson, Mary Gates and Shirley McKelvey, AWS members. Also, Harvey Watten, Renegade team member, W. B. Tate, Shriner, and Donnie Smith, who represented all crippled children who will benefit from the proceeds of the Potato Bowl game.

Following "The Queen of Hearts" float in school division judging were floats from St. Joseph school in second place, and from Vineland school district in third place.

Scrooge and Company Seen by Five Audiences

Five performances of Dickens' immortal "Christmas Carol" are to be shown as this year's Christmas Pageant. Performances on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday have, and will be given at two p.m. for high school audiences. One evening performance was given yesterday at 8:30 p.m. and the college is to see the play during third period tomorrow.

The orchestra, a capella choir, high school glee clubs, stagecraft class, and drama class took part in the annual presentation with the assistance of eight faculty members.

"This was probably the largest cooperative student endeavor of the year," said Frank Wattron, instructor in speech and drama, who directed the Christmas production.

This year's cast was headed by members of Delta Psi Omega, national junior college honorary dramatic society and members of the drama class.

Don Hartman was in the role of Scrooge, Dicken's famous character in the Christmas story, and Bruce Vogel was Scrooge's clerk, Bob Cratchit. Don Zimmerman handled the role of Scrooge's nephew Fred, and Dail Harrison played Marley's ghost.

The spirits of Christmas, Past, Present, and Future, were portrayed by Adele Newell.

Mrs. Cratchit and her family included Gay Branscum, Carmen Barnes, Geraldine Davis, Virginia Porter, and Charles Carlstroem with Haven Luccas taking the role of Tiny Tim.

Jerry Schneider, Don Gregory, and Dale Stansbury appeared in the scenes of the past as Mr. Fezziwig and the boys Ebeneezer and David, respectively. Shirley Hooper, Frankie Dietzman and Meedie Robinson played a group of old women, and Fred Crawford and Charles Sproule took the roles of two London gentlemen.

Cal Mueller's class in harmony wrote the music for between the scenes. Mueller arranged the orchestrations for the numbers.

The Bakersfield college and high school orchestra played the overture and interlude music under the direction of Harold Burt, chairman of the music department. The combined college and high school choirs prepared carols for the production under the supervision of Mrs. Marilyn Michalsky of the high school music department and Warren Wheatland, new college choir director.

Well, I Don't Know
Some profound question seems to be bothering these three gentlemen as they cluster about this lightpost in a scene from "Christmas Carol," this year's Christmas Pageant. Maybe they're trying to figure how to get a few jitnies away from the original Scrooge. The bewildered thespians are Don Zimmerman, Scrooge's nephew, Fred; Jerry Schneider, Mr. Fezziwig; and Chuck Sproul, second London gentleman.

BC Cattle Win in Show

Bakersfield College and High School Future Farmers took first place in the recent Great Western Livestock Show with their load of shorthorn steers, according to Howard K. Dickson, agriculture director at Kern County Union High School and Colleeg district. The exhibition was in the Los Angeles Union Stock Yards.

Forty Bakersfield boys attended the showing. Their stock received 35 cents a pound for 65 head of cattle, five cents above the market price. The animals averaged $375 a head.

Entries from Iowa, Arizona, Utah, and Nebraska were included.

Grand National honors went to stock from Boys Town, Nebraska, where Ronald Hutchings, former local F.F.A. president, is agriculture director.

Rrrr! Not Invasion But Reconstruction

For the first time since the World War II draft, a punctured ear drum is a blessing. This is perhaps the only means known to medical science for preventing mass schizophrenia among students who are compelled to listen to the jackhammers at work on the south wing of the JC building.

With the announcement that work will continue until next fall, it is feared that bills from the sale of ear muffs will sky-rocket.

A Long, Long Time

Bill Glynn, superintendent of the work being done, says the wing probably will be ready for use next September.

According to him vertical channels are being dug in the sides of the building to house steel braces which will be cemented into place.

The entire outer layer of bricks is to be removed and four inches of Gunnite, a type of cement, is to be blown onto the sides of the building by pressure hoses. The south wing would then have the same appearance that the middle wing does now, he says.

Ivy Halls Now Cement

All the walls in the south wing are to be removed and replaced with new, reinforced walls. Those on the top floor have already been removed. Floors, however, will remain intact.

All of which means: Our ivory tower will long resemble a shell-shocked shanty; Hamlet's soliloquy will continually be interrupted by shouts from the workmen; and students will still receive the free service of plasma and K rations being dropped by helicopter every hour on the hour on the dangerous trek to the offices.

Last week the student body had some special elections, and according to Jerry Schneider, Chief Justice of the student court, only 270 students went out and voted. This is less than one-fourth of the entire student body.

This, in my opinion, is not a very good showing of school spirit, certainly it wouldn't take more than a few minutes to stop by the polls and exercise one of our rights as a citizen of BC.

There was enough publicity concerning the elections — Why didn't more people vote? Don't they care about the issues concerning the school they attend? One of the propositions was about our school colors, which is no small item. We should remember that the school is known by the colors that represent it. Our colors are now red and white.

I hope that these colors are some of your favorites; if not, and you did not vote, you have no room to complain.

Resolutions Make Consternation, Woe

Take heart—all is not in vain. New Year is coming up—that season of new beginnings and renewed aspirations. A well formulated list of resolutions may turn the tide.

Try, for instance:

I resolve to cut out weed-beating, as the cost is prohibitive to a decent standard of living. Not the cigarettes for me, you understand, but the expense entailed in supplying them for friends who are weed-fiends on "O.P.'s."

I must do more studying during the day. Scientific tests prove that learning during hours when the student is conscious is more comprehensive.

Dreaming of a White Christmas

"I'm dreaming of a white Christmas." This first line of a popular Christmas song reveals the desire of those who live in South Africa, Austria, Tahiti, and Bakersfield.

Multi-Faced Commodity

Small children in these areas grow to adulthood with definitely perverted ideas on the quality of snow. They are told that "It is like ice cream," which brings to mind chocolate, with pineapple sauce; "It's a fate worse than death," which conjures the picture of company for dinner, a visit from Aunt Jael, a picnic in the country (this from father) commercials on television and mother's new hat (this from father also).

Cool, Man

"It gets in your shoes," brings the feel of sand. "It falls from the sky"—a paratrooper. The adjective "chilly" makes modern musicians wonder who its arranger is.

A New York philanthropist hired a truck and rented a cow to show city-bred youngsters the agrarian point of view. A Texas millionaire with a refrigerator car and an inexhaustable supply of the cold stuff might do the same for smog-bound innocents.

PERSONAL

Dear Gary,

Football season is over. What a calamity! What will people do, with all those week ends, and no game to go to? But, life will just have to go on, some how, I guess. Anyway, we'll have all vacation to think of something.

And all vacation to write our term papers. It won't be so bad, though; we can use my Christmas present Jack Davenport typewriter.

Platter Patter

by Ronald Turoonjian

It's here! The revolution of the century! The most surprising change since the Clock Tower flew away. Johnnie Ray has actually changed his style of singing—almost. Ray and Doris Day have recorded a tattler of a tune named "Ma Says Pa Says."

Ray didn't sound like Ray when I heard this tune. He was so subdued and placid in spots that he sounded like Frankie Laine after the latter was dead tired from whipping the "Mule Train."

"Ma Says Pa Says" is not a song to brag about. In many places the lyrics get very involved. But Doris Day adds quality with her soft brand of vocalizing. This is not one of Ray's best recordings, but it is worth hearing because of the revolutionary element it contains.

MILLION DOLLAR MERMAID

It doesn't take much effort to guess who the star is. Esther Williams gets a chance to prove she can really act as well as swim in this story of a girl who made history by becoming the first swimming star in the movies. She also made a record-breaking swim across the English Channel, and introduced the one-piece bathing suit to America. It is a story of a girl with courage and determination, Annette Kellerman, Australia's gift to America's Athletic hall of fame. Victor Mature is a carnival proprietor, Walter Pidgeon plays Esther's father, and David Brian is the guy with the money who always shows up at the wrong time.

ROAD TO BALI:

It's back on the road again with our three friends, Bob, Bing, and Dotty, (Hope, Crosby and Lamour) and this time putting the latter back in sarongs for the first time in 12 years. The two boys play a couple of broken down vaudevillians who see their chance to make a fortune when hired by a Balinese prince to do a job for him. When they get to Bali and find that the job is robbing Princess Lamour of her inheritance, it turns out to be a different story. Moral: Never take a woman's look for granted.

AGAINST ALL FLAGS:

The question here is just how weak is the weaker sex? Maureen O'Hara who is trying to outdo the late John Barrymore in those leap and bound pictures, offers Errol Flynn some embarrassing competition in the swashbuckling line. The plot begins in the year 1700. Three men from a British merchant ship sail from Madagascar to a small pirate stronghold that has been resisting all attempted invasions by warships. Once accepted as pirates, they spike guns to permit the British ships through. They not only carry through their mission, but one wins a lady pirate as well.

REVIEWER'S QUIP:

Three colorful bills, should satisfy all, with no bites.

Sisters Sassy

"South Rampart Street Parade," by the winning team of Big Cross by and the Andrews Sisters, is loud and sassy. This jumpy tune is dominated by the Sisters; nevertheless, Mr. Crosby has his moments of glory.

Others which I found particularly appetizing are Perry Como's "Don't Let the Stars Get in Your Eyes," and the mystic and charming "Fandango" by Winterhalter.

Enrico Caruso, the top money maker on classic discs hasn't recorded for 30 years, but his records are still selling. From 1906 to November, 1951, "Music Views" says that royalties on his records have brought $3,500,000.

Second Concert In Kern Series

by Rita Boyd

Miklos Rozsa proved to music lovers that music not only hath charm, but also character and personality, with ability to express any main point of life. Rozsa, composer of the background music for many film hits, including "Lost Weekend," "A Double Life," "Quo Vadis," "Ivanhoe," and "The Killers," thrilled his audience Monday night with his music from "Spellbound," a 1945 Academy award winner, and his enchanting calls of the Jungle from "Jungle Book." The main jungle sounds are identified through certain sections of the orchestra, and narrated by J. Arthur Lewis and Mary Backus. With subtle skill the composer creates, through the medium of music, the mysterious atmosphere of the jungle far more effectively than words could. As for "Spellbound," the concerto opens with the grandiose theme, developing into the air of uncertainty and foreboding.

The third number of the evening, "Theme, Variations, and Finale" shows both the finesse of a master craftsman and the joy of a musician who has a song to sing.

Rozsa, Leipzig Graduate

Miklos Rozsa, a graduate of the conservatory and university at Leipzig, Germany, was bitten by the music bug in 1931 when he began to compose symphonic compositions. Many of these have since been played all over the world. The Budapest composer made his way to London where he wrote a ballet for Alexandra Markova and Anton Dolin. Later he was engaged by Alexander Korda, head of London Films, as musical director and composer.

Wins Oscars

MGM realized Rozsa's gift for music, and since his arrival in America in 1940, has made sure his talents were put to good use. Since then he has won two Oscars, and was many times nominated for this award in other years.

In addition to his work as a top musical director, he also is a professor of music at the University of Southern California and lectures there regularly.

This concludes the second concert of the Kern Philharmonic Orchestra. Coming February 9, will be Miliza Korjus, leading Metropolitan soprano.

Be on Time!

Bakersfield college started it's registration for the spring semester on December 10 and will complete registration on January 23. The records office urges all students to complete their registration as soon as possible, as many classes will soon be closed.

Students may secure duplicate copies of study list R5 and instructions from the records office. The student should have an appointment with his counselor to get the schedules approved. The approved copy is the authorization to complete registration.

Complete registration by going to the records office and securing the necessary forms. The office will be open daily from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"Nervous in the Service"

by J. D. Sarver

For the first time this year we have more news than space to write it in, so stand by—you may read about the favorite guy you have been wondering about.

A large flock of BC students received their greeting papers this past month. Most of them have been granted deferments until June, so you can sit back and breathe again, girls.

The Genial G. Gut Gothney starts the ball rolling with a fine letter from Tuscon, Arizona. Cliff is only a short distance from home 634 miles, but due to financial difficulties, he cannot make it home too often. Gut says that it is about time for overseas duty but he isn't going if he can help it. That a boy, Gut, stick to your constitutional rights as an American citizen. Cliff's address is A/1c Clifford E. Gautney 803rd Mtr. Sqdn. Davis Monthan Air Force Base, Tuscon, Arizona.

Darrel Gordon, ex-Renegade football star, writes from Fort Eustis, Virginia. At the time the letter was written, Darrel was on maneuvers somewhere in the Virginia mountains. He was taking training for special railroad work. Darrel has to complete three months of schooling and two months of basic before he is eligible for overseas duty. Darrel mentions the weather in a very sarcastic manner (cold and rainy—great for sleeping).

Darrel's address is Pvt. Darrel Gordon US 19407231, Co. "B" 2nd Bn TRTC, Fort Eustis, Virginia.

James Gibson writes from Topeka, Kansas, where he is stationed with the 55th Armt. and Elect. Sqdn. James arrived here in the states after two years in the tropics. He says it is plenty cold in Kansas, so the change was terrific. Every time he goes to see the doctor, he comes back with a bagful of APCs and a bag of GI rum (aspirin and cough syrup). Write to James: A/2c James F. B. Gibson AP 19386556 55th Armt. and Elect. Sqdn. Farbis Air Force Base, Topeka, Kansas.

BC Instructors Offering Unique Night Course

Those students who prefer their art, science, and philosophy integrated with the facts of life may be interested in the courses offered by Dr. Leo Koch and Mr. Don Frantz in the extended day program. This program has been referred to by Dr. Frederick Mayer, recent convocation speaker, as "the most interesting experiment in general education today."

The courses, Philosophy 30 and English 40, were introduced last semester on an experimental basis as a practical approach toward the goals of general education. They embody a common methodology and point of view applied in the solution of common problems. The problems considered are based upon representative dualisms drawn from literature, art, science, and philosophy, and attempted reconciliations are based on facts drawn primarily from the instructors' fields of specialization—science and literature.

One of the unique aspects of this program is that both instructors are present at all joint sessions. The classes are offered on Wednesday evening, 7-10 in JC 12. Transfer credit, 3 units.

Zimmerman Soph Adviser

Mr. John Zimmerman is the new adviser to the sophomore class. He teaches geology and anthropology at Bakersfield college.

Mr. Zimmerman has been at Bakersfield for two and a half years and has a night class in geology. The class has a social at every meeting with coffee and cake or cookies.

Mr. Zimmerman received his A.B. at San Jose State and his M.A. at Stanford. He is a member of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

He has three children, all girls. Before BC he was a geologist for Kaiser enterprises.

Shop Classes Feed Families

The shop department of Bakersfield college is co-operating in a drive to raise money to furnish Christmas dinner for a number of needy families. There are eleven different classes all donating to the fund.

The Kraftsman Klub will, at a regular meeting held tonight, purchase and pack the food for delivery.

The different classes helping in the drive are the radio shop, diesel shop, body and fender, auto trades, wood shop, mechanical arts, sheet metal shop, welding, cold metal shop, machine shop, and basic tool class.

In this way every member of the shop department had an opportunity to contribute to this worthy cause, according to Marvin Stone, head of the committee working on the drive.

Music and Ideas Become Words

Mr. Donald Frantz, member of the Bakersfield college English department, had an article in the No. 2 November issue of "College English," which is a publication of the National Council of Teachers of English.

In the article entitled "Music and the Writing Experience," Mr. Frantz explains his search for subject needed in writing classes. The object of this search is to get the college student interested in writing and develop a correct attitude.

There They Go

John Bass, Renegade center, jumps with Fresno's center Hewey Davis as the game starts with Fresno getting the ball, but not for long as Bakersfield gains a 9-1 lead in the opening minutes. In the background is Bakersfield's T. H. Lockard (32) and Fresno's Jack Steitz (7). Coach Hank Pfister's crew wrecked the Rams 64-51 last Friday at the "fabulous" Lakeside gym—home of the Gades. The hoopers, probably playing their best thus far, upset a powerful San Berdoo squad at the southern city 59-56. Their record to date stands at five wins and two losses.

Chaffee Tourney Next for Victorious Gades

After a highly successful week end, with wins over Fresno and San Berdoo, the Bakersfield College Renegades sharpen their eyes this week for the annual Chaffee Junior College basktball tourney to be held December 17 thru 20, in Ontario, California.

The well known tournament engages 17 of the top hoop teams in Southern California and out of state Branch Agricultural college of Cedar City, Utah.

Last year the Gades reached the semi-finals in the consolation bracket only to be beaten by the Utah five in a hotly contested battle.

After their win over a giant Berdoo squad, the Gades gained prestige in their chances at the tournament. The Indians are well known for their outstanding hoop teams.

In the out-of-town fracas, the Renegades proved the old adage "the bigger they are the harder they fall" as they led the monster five through the entirety of the contest. A fired-up squad full of determination walked off the courts with a 59-56 victory. The Indians haven't a starter under six foot three and boast a center standing at six foot nine inches tall.

Holliday Injured

Playing without the services of their high scorer Don Holliday, who injured his eye in the Fresno game, the Gades started out with a quick six point lead. After continual ball stealing and the wizard-like shooting of John Ogden the first half ended with the Gades out in front 32-26.

Playing undoubtedly their finest game to date, John Ogden, John Bass, T. H. Lockard, Blair Russell and Jim Tuttle repeatedly out rebounded and out shot the giant Indians, Ogden more than did his part as he scored 21 points to lead all scorers. Diminutive Blair Russell kept the locals in the game many times in the final period with timely free throws and his total of 15 points for the evening.

Also adding points for the locals were T. H. Lockard with 12, Bass with 7, Tuttle with 3, and Howard Goss with one. Big Bernie Neymeyer (6'9") with his 17 points, led the Indians while their usual high scorer, Ron Wood, was held to 8.

In the Lakeside game the Potato Bowl was repeated as the Fresno Rams were riddled 64-51 by an inspired Gade five. The superior height of the Gades proved a big difference as Holliday and Lockard led all scorers with 16, followed closel ybehind by John Ogden with 15. John Bass chalked up 11 while the rest of the scoring was handled by Tuttle with 3, and one point each by Russell and John Ornelaz. Huey Davis led the Rams with 14 while Steitz followed closely with 13.

Sports Sprinklings

by Wayne Smith

Its a long way to Lakeside gym. Sixteen miles to be exact. It might be a good idea to have a school but to take some of the student rooters to the game, then the student attendance would improve. Many of the students haven't transportation out to the games and that means that fans that might like to make the games can't go. As it stands now, most of the spectators are from the farms near by the school.

There will have to be at least twenty-five sign-ups before a bus can be had. It's up to you, the students. There wouldn't be any charge for the bus.

3rd Place Tie

Well it looks like El Camino did it. Yep, they won the Metropolitan conference with a seven win-no loss record. In conference play they allowed only a measly 28 points to be scored against them. East LA and Valley tied for second with 5-1-1 records.

The Renegade footballers ended up in a third place tie with, of all teams, Santa Monica. Bakersfield won from the Beacheons 63-6. The Gades came in second place as far as a defensive team is concerned, and third in offense. A very commendable record, I'd say.

Set of Irons

Retiring coach Jack Frost was presented a set of new golf irons at the annual football banquet held at the Saddle and Sirloin last Tuesday night. Speakers were Jack Frost; Chester W. O'Neill, clerk of the district board of trustees; Cap Haralson; Dr. Ralph Prator, president of Bakersfield college; and Theron Taber, deputy superintendent.

COS Ain't Easy

A week ago the Gade hoopsters took it on the chin from a very strong College of the Sequoias Giants on their home court. For the last several seasons COS has been a basketball power throughout the state, and this season will probably be no exception, but one big reason for their success is because they are hardly beatable on their home court. Last year the Giants were undefeated on their floor, including a Bakersfield loss. But when COS came to Bakersfield for the rematch the Renegades won it out at Lakeside, and so far this season the Renegades are undefeated on their court—Lakeside. Could be lucky for us, never can tell.

Schwocho, Little are Lauded

Ken Schwocho, all-Metropolitan conference tackle in 1951 and co-captain for this year's Renegades was voted the outstanding player of the 1952 season. Schwocho also was voted as the most inspirational player by his team and coaches.

Dean Little was named as the brainiest member of the football squad. Mr. Marchino of Harry Coffee's presented both Schwocho and Little with awards.
