Manuel Muñoz, author of the soon-to-be-released novel What You See in the Dark, will be at Bakersfield College on Wednesday, April 6.

2 presentations in the Norman Levan Center (in the Administration Building)

10 A.M. and 2 P.M.

The event is co-sponsored by the Grace Van Dyke Bird Library and The Norman Levan Center for the Humanities.

Manuel Muñoz is a native of Dinuba, a graduate of Harvard, and teaches creative writing at the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa. He is the author of two short story collections: The Faith Healer of Olive Avenue and Zigzag.

His new novel, What You See in the Dark, is set in Bakersfield in the late 50s and evokes a frightful atmosphere. In the novel, Muñoz says the filming of the movie — based on Hitchcock's Psycho — in Bakersfield.

Made possible by the bequest of Delores Cerro