Dear Online and Hybrid Faculty,

Are your online classes completely accessible to all potential students? Did you know that sometimes technology can enhance access to students who have a disability and sometimes it can create unintended barriers to those same students? Did you know that we’re legally mandated to provide our content in an accessible format?

We're pleased to be able to offer a fully online workshop that can help you spot possible accessibility issues in your classes and help to ensure that we're keeping our educational offerings open to everyone, regardless of a disability. Please join us in this informative two-week workshop (details below).

When: Monday, November 7, 2011 - Friday, November 18, 2011 (two weeks)
Where: Completely online
How much time is involved: Approximately 10 hours total (2 hours every M-F)
How do I sign up: Please send an email to sphinney@portervillecollege.edu
