

2 L'ACONTEUR

The 1960 RACONTEUR is dedicated to the FACE IN THE CROWD, to the individual student as he seeks his identity, as he disciplines his mind, as he exercises his creative powers, and as he realizes his potential.

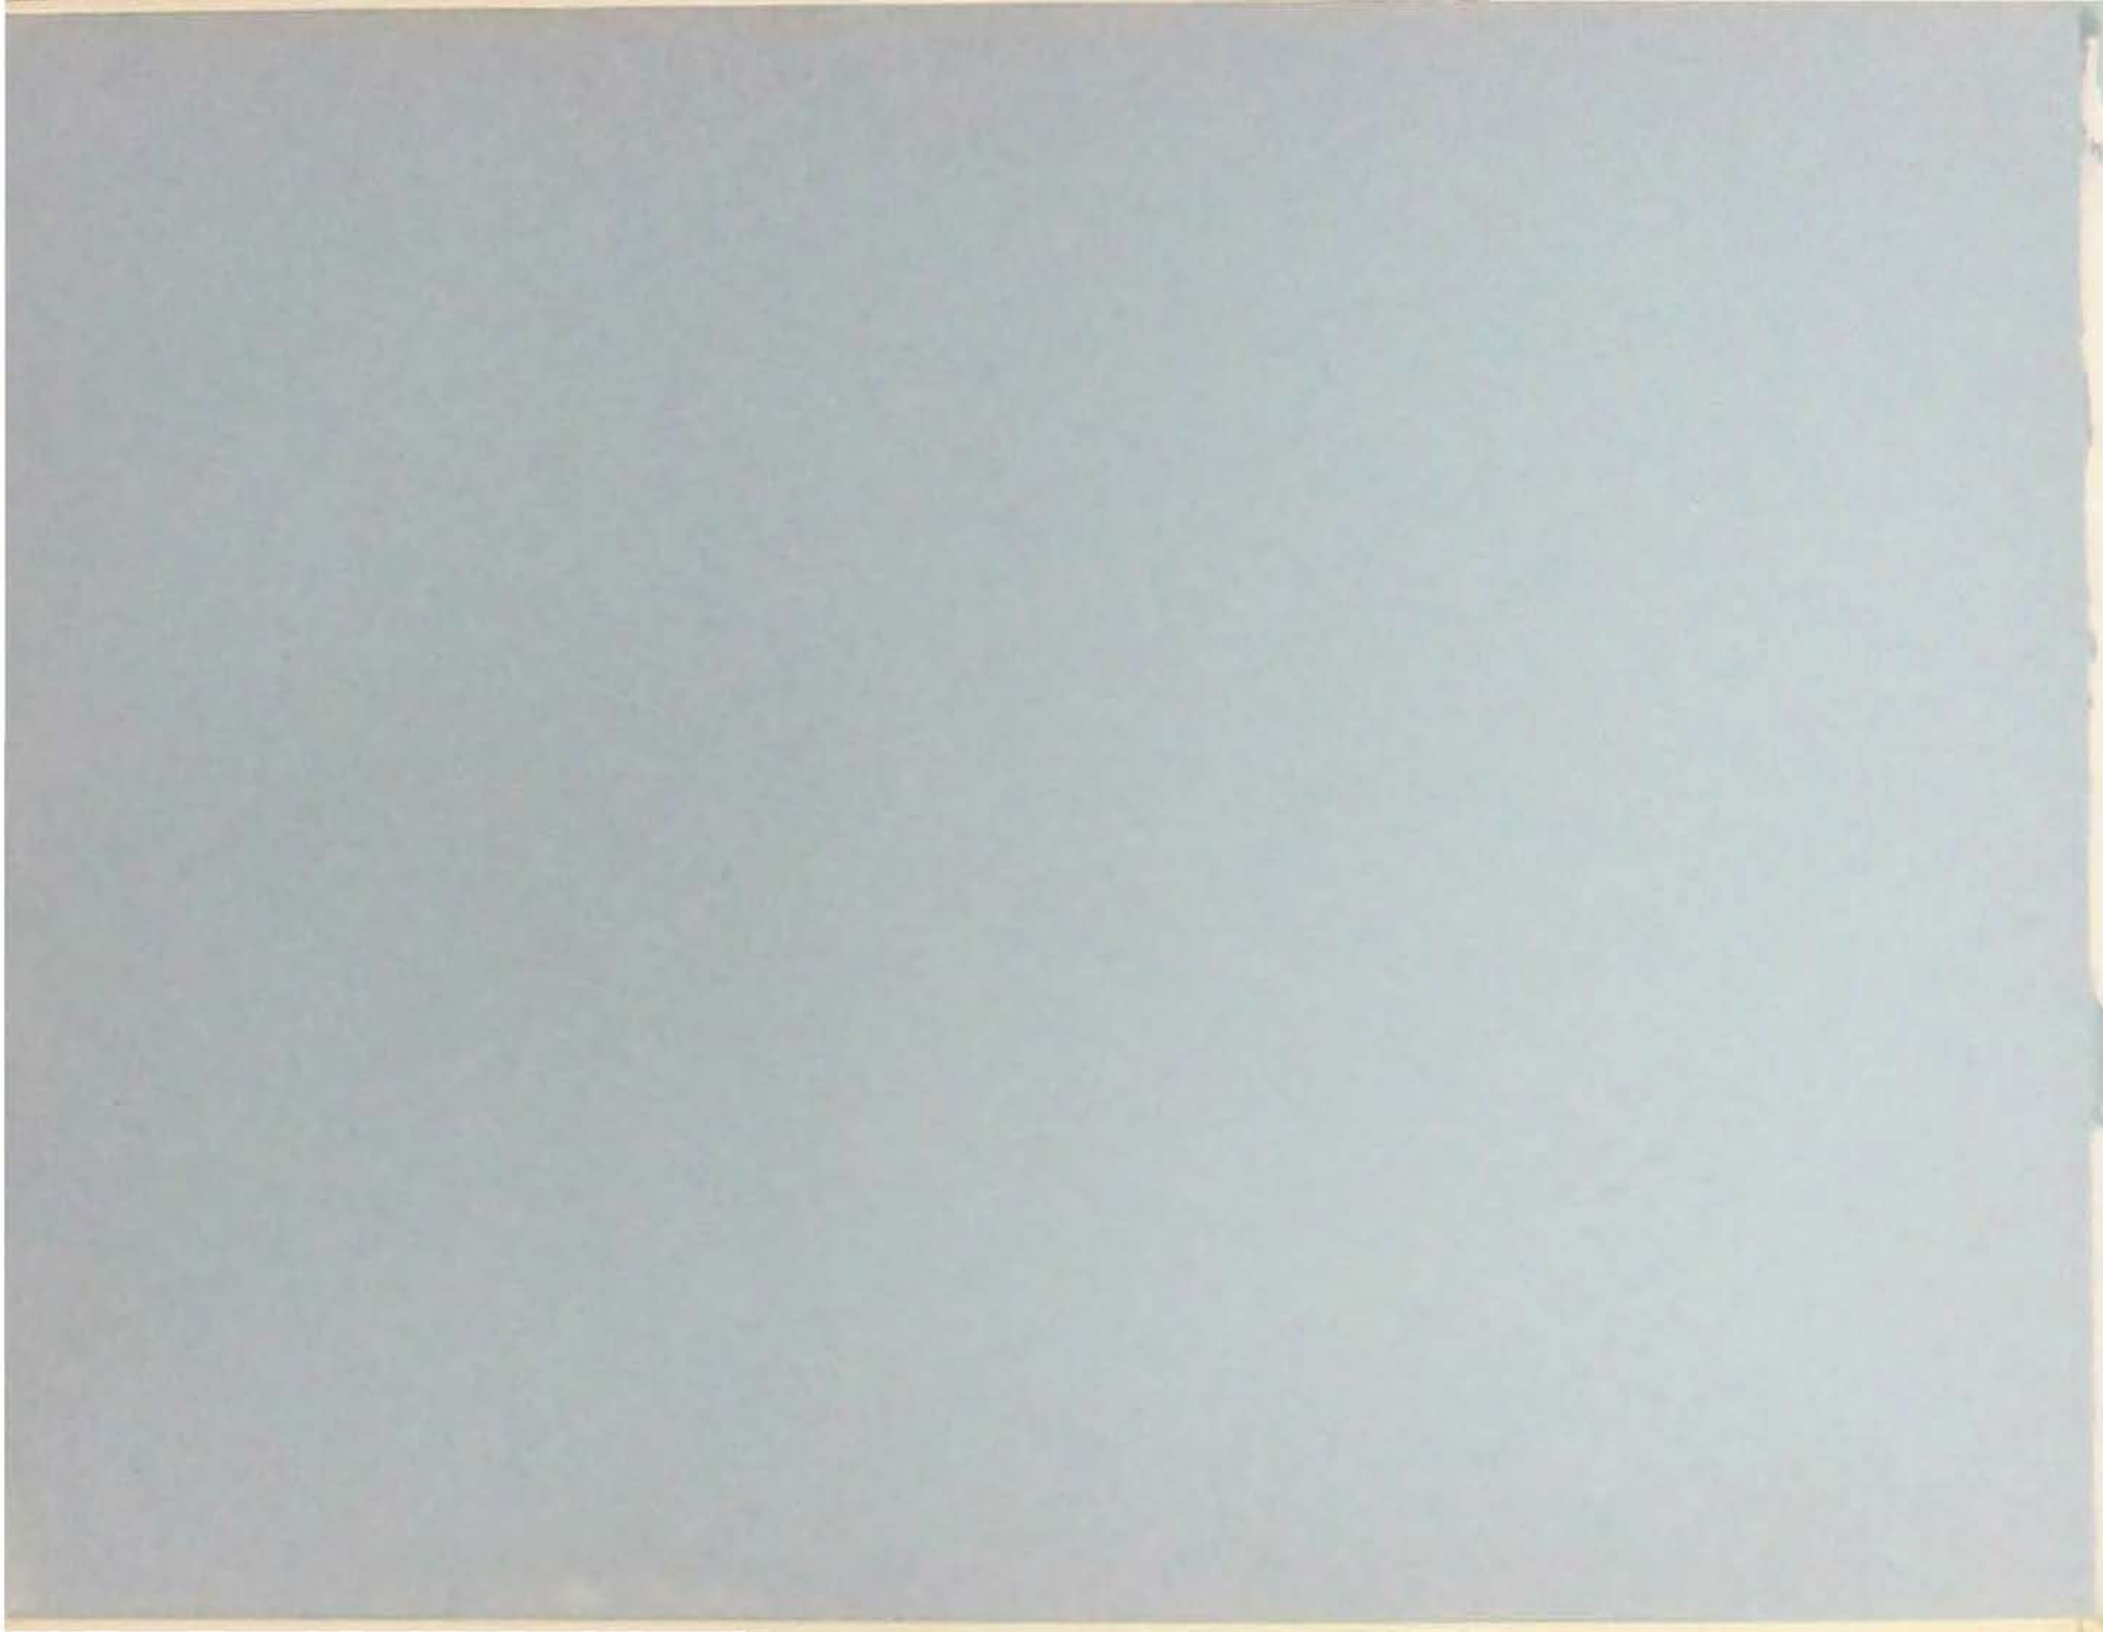

The need for a redefinition or reaffirmation of American values begins gushing savagely into the national consciousness through the mass media of communication with soul-searching charges of decadence in the nation's moral fibre, softness in its military forces, and inadequacy in its education. Motivational research, subliminal advertising, and payola modernize the significance of the "sucker born every minute" cliché; and, while elsewhere a godless religion expands its control over nearly half the world's population, the American conscience undergoes an indecisive public scrutiny of television quiz ethics.

These examples of 1959-60 American values in action make clear the need for a firmer foundation of beliefs, for a more clearly understood frame of reference, for a subscribed-to philosophy of national behavior. Responsibility for this falls to the family, home, church, school, community, press, and government; indeed, it is everyone's responsibility! The task must begin where there are active minds and intellectual freedoms, where minds mature through disciplined study and self-examination. Clearly, the initiative for defining the national identity is a part — a singularly significant part — of a college's function. The national identity in a democracy necessarily is the identity of the individual generalized. It is inter-active. Each man must gain self-awareness and an understanding of the relationship of this self to the Self that is the nation as a whole. The mind that passes from adolescence to adulthood is the mind that finds its identity.

The transitional group moving into adulthood, crossing the line from uncritically acquired values and behavior patterns to those reflectively acquired is commonly the college age group. Particularly, though not exclusively, on a college campus is it important for each person, each FACE IN THE CROWD, to gain self-awareness.

The 1960 RACONTEUR commemorates this FACE IN THE CROWD, this student who as a responsible citizen must find his identity as an individual and who must also find his place in the scheme of an interactive society by exercising his understanding of the foundations of that society.

"It is the common wonder of all men
how, among so many millions of faces, there should be none alike."

... Sir Thomas Browne

YOU BELONGED!

You Had Help on the Way from the Faculty and Administration

The duties of Dr. Edward Simonsen, President of Bakersfield College for the past two and one half years, are so great in number that his free times are few and far between.

Dr. Simonsen received his A.B. Degree at the College of the Pacific where he was Student Body President. Studying at the University of California, Berkeley, he earned his Master of Arts and Doctor of Education degrees in educational administration.

Dr. Simonsen first came to the Kern County Union High School and Junior College District as a member of the initial faculty at East Bakersfield High School in 1938. Upon returning from further university training, Dr. Simonsen accepted the position of Dean of Men and Director of Athletics at Bakersfield College. Later, during his term as Dean of Administration, Dr. Simonsen was the liaison between the college, the district administration, and the architects in the planning and construction of the new college campus.

In addition to his obligations on the campus, he is chairman of the State Athletic Committee of the California Junior College Association, a member of the Association's Committee on Junior College Plant Planning, and he is on the Personnel Practices Committee of the California Association of Secondary School Administrators. He is also a member of Phi Delta Kappa, international men's honorary educational fraternity.

The President

As I attempt to greet you in keeping with your Raconteur theme, "A Face in the Crowd," may I begin with the sincere hope that each of you has developed his interests and his enthusiasms to the point of achieving great value from the year we have just spent together. We trust that you have found this a friendly place in which to study and to understand better your hopes and aspirations.

We believe that our type of college, with a student body of broad interests and abilities, with a staff devoted to teaching, and a campus conducive to learning, affords an excellent opportunity for individual growth and personal insight.

Recently in a daily newspaper of national circulation there appeared an editorial which told of the advantages of small colleges. With apologies to the writer of that editorial, I should like to paraphrase it as I feel it relates to our college and your place in our student body.

A student imbued with a desire not only to learn but to wonder can find at Bakersfield College the way to understanding and fulfillment. He can take advantage of smaller lecture halls and more intimate recitation classes to ask the questions that in large groups are unanswered because they are unasked. And he need take no less pride in his alma mater than does the alumnus of an Ivy League college. He will have placed his faith in himself and his devotion to learning ahead of other considerations, and by his very presence on our campus he will have helped our college mold itself while it molded him.

Edward Simonsen

And the Vice President

Dr. Simonsen makes it a point to keep communication lines open with the students.

Mr. Burns Finlinson, Vice President of Bakersfield College, has identified himself thoroughly with the educational and cultural interests of the community during his 14 years here.

When he came to Bakersfield College, Mr. Finlinson was Director of the Veterans Guidance Center, and in 1949 he assumed the new post of Dean of Records. He was appointed to the office of Vice President in 1958.

With his wife and three children, Mr. Finlinson lives on a small Garnsey Road ranch, which is reminiscent of his boyhood home in Utah. There, in his spare time, he enjoys listening to good music and reading.

From Brigham Young University he received his Bachelor and Master of Science degrees. Also, he travelled throughout the major countries of the world aboard the University Afloat, which proved to be a most enjoyable and instructive period of travel and study. Mr. Finlinson gained his first experience in college work as the Dean of Men and as Chairman of the Social Science Department at the College of Southern Utah in Cedar City.

The Board of Trustees

H. E. WOODWORTH
President

Bakersfield College is but one of the many campuses governed by the Board of Trustees of the Kern County Union High School and Junior College District. They also establish policies for the operation of the nine high schools and the extensive evening adult education program of the district.

It is through the efforts of the Board of Trustees that adequate facilities are provided for the education of citizens within the district. The board members, elected by voters of the district, pass final approval on the employment of teachers, courses of study for the schools, annual budgets, and other matters of policy and finance.

To the FACE IN THE CROWD at Bakersfield College, the Board of Trustees may at first seem far removed, but the results of their devotion to the college's program are evident in the excellent educational program and facilities on this campus.

Faces After Study Hours

"Reviews and Previews of Renegade Decades" was the theme of the Third Annual Bakersfield College Homecoming. Graduates of the 1919, 1939, 1949, 1959 classes were especially saluted along with a preview of the 1969 class.

Parading before the largest home crowd of the 1959 football season, the sixteen float entries were judged on the following points: conformity to the theme; contribution to school spirit; creativeness, and unique characteristics; craftsmanship in construction; arrangement of components; and effectiveness of color combinations.

The float which took first place honors was constructed by the Engineers Club with the theme of "Renegade Progress and Expansion." With the use of a rainbow, the float depicted the growth of the college from Griffith Stadium to the Present Memorial Stadium. On the sides of the float were inscribed the words, "Let's Grow Out Of This One Too."

Riding upon the queen's float, constructed by the Associated Men Students, was Queen Claudean Moreland and her two princesses Sue LeMaster and Marcia Livesay.

Making the homecoming event a complete success, the Renegades ripped over the Santa Monica Corsairs 55-8.

Reviews and Previews of Renegade Decades

Honors were awarded to the Engineers Club for the best float in the parade.

Her Majesty, Claudean Moreland reigned over the 3rd annual Bakersfield College Homecoming. Sharing the honors with Claudean were the two princesses Sue LeMasters and Marcia Livesay.

Listening and a Hollering!

In combined efforts, the Rallies and Assemblies Directors provided the students with spirit, entertainment, and knowledge during the 1959-60 year.

Skits, songs, and yells injected college spirit and enthusiasm into the rallies presented to the student body.

Beginning with the football season's official kickoff rally, Fall Rally Director Don Gregory introduced Coach Ray Newman and each member of the Renegades. The climax of the football season, as far as rallies were concerned, came with the post-game rally at the Junior Rose Bowl game.

Don Waller, the Spring Rally Director, highlighted his term by holding a sports rally which honored baseball, golf, gymnastics, swimming, tennis, and track.

Throughout the academic year, the Associated Student Body of Bakersfield College enjoyed many informative assemblies. Under the supervision of the Director of Assemblies, Donna Donegan, each FACE IN THE CROWD witnessed musical concerts; films, foreign and domestic; speeches and lectures by experts in various fields; as well as a talent show.

MUSICAL ARTISTS . . . Frederic Stabiorn was one of many who presented presentec assembly programs.

RENEGADES . . . Rose Bowl Bound!

FINE ARTS FESTIVAL . . . If a math student were to analyze the 1960 Fine Arts Festival, he would say, " $A + B + C = E^2$," and a home-economics student might say, "Combine one pound of A with three quarts of B. Add the mixture to C and simmer in a cool place — results should be E in two layers." But the run-of-the-mill students simply say, "Art exhibits + Band music + College choir = Enjoyment!"

New Traditions from 1959-60

NOMINATING CONVENTION . . . With the newly organized Nominating Convention to draw attention to Student Body elections, interest in campus politics increased. This convention, copied after the national nominating conventions, was composed of delegates from each of the campus clubs. The convention nominates two candidates whose names appear first on the election ballot for each office. The names of other office seekers appear on the ballot following those nominated by the convention.

As an affiliation of Kiwanis, the Renegade Knights performs its services for both the school and the community. One example of the services performed by the club is bringing crippled children to the home ball games so that they may watch the Renegades in action.

Lance and Shield is a girls' organization that performs services similar to those of the Renegade Knights. Members of the club serve as ushers at faculty discussions while others are in charge of making sure the Campus Center bulletin board is always up to date. Then at Christmas, all of the club members join in providing a needy family with a basket of food.

If ever a football team won every honor in sight, it was the 1959 RENEGADES. Under the guidance of new head coach Ray Newman and a revamped staff of assistants, the GADES, considered by many as the greatest team in the history of the college, were recognized for the following laurels.

1. National Junior College Champions.
2. Junior Rose Bowl Champions.
3. Metropolitan Conference Champions.
4. A Perfect 10-0-0 Season Record.
5. California's Only Undefeated JC Team.
6. Extended BC Winning Streak to 14 Straight Games.
7. Only One Loss in Last 26 Games.
8. Extended Record of Last Seven Years to 63-7-2.
9. Recipient of Six All-Metro First-Team Berths.
10. Recipient of Three All-American First-Team Selections.

Just as it did in 1958, the hefty RENEGADE forward wall shut out four opponents. All told, the perennially strong BC defense averaged just a six-point allowance per game. Offensively, Bakersfield averaged just under 33 points each week-end. A record number of 21 players packed the ball during the season and averaged better than five yards per crack.

Attendance-wise, the RENEGADES shattered all previous records. In addition to the estimated 25,000 local fans that followed them to Pasadena, the GADES drew just under 89,000 people in six home appearances to remain supreme over the nation's junior colleges in that respect.

CHAMPIONS

PASADENA, Dec. 12—A terrific display of power carried the Bakersfield College Renegades to a 36-14 victory over Del Mar College of Texas here today before 47,000 fans in the 14th annual Junior Rose Bowl classic.

Two touchdowns by Don Hampton and single tallies by Dean Newby, Vern Burke, Calvin Campbell and Terry Hill wiped out a brief 7-0 Del Mar lead.

Three of the Bakersfield scores were of the spectacular variety. Newby's six-pointer came on a neatly executed 50-yard bootleg. Campbell got his by returning a punt 72 yards. Burke's 82-yard runback of an intercepted pass tied the existing Junior Rose Bowl record.

Head down, Jim Rice charges goalward.

Hail to the champions!

JIM NAU
Head Coach

No basketball team at Bakersfield College has climbed to as great a height as did Jim Nau's 1959-60 RENEGADES. Their representation in the state tournament was a new first for B.C. For the first time in the history of the college, the GADES finished at the top of the Metropolitan Conference with a gallant come-from-behind rally. In pre-season play Nau's warriors missed winning the highly-touted Sam Barry Tournament by a mere two points, losing 69-67 to Los Angeles City College in the finals. The GADES also made off with the top prize in their own Bakersfield College Invitational for the fourth time in five years. All told, the RENEGADES capped a splendid season with a 24-6 record.

In the individual spotlight there were Jim Beck and Mark Hasen. Beck, the club's scoring leader with 493 points, closed out a fine career at BC by winning first-team honors as both All-Metro and All-Southern California selections. Hasen completed his freshman year with 416 points and was picked for the All-Metro second team.

REX GROSSART
Head Coach

Sometimes RENEGADE track coach Rex Grossart admitted that he didn't know how his defending Metropolitan Conference champions were going to last out the season. Injuries and scholastic ineligibilities took a heavy toll of a team which could have been a state champion. But every setback seemed to have its opposite reaction. When the distance men were in a slump, the sprinters turned in performances like Dennis Johnson's 9.6 and 20.6. When the middle-distance runners were down, the pole vaulters, high jumpers, and broad jumpers recorded marks like Richard Williams' 13-10½, Dennis Jones' 6-6¼, and Lloyd McCoy's 23-5.

The RENEGADE had only three home meets on the famed Memorial Stadium track. But a long road schedule was successfully capped in Bakersfield College's second Metro conference dual meet title in a row.

GERRY COLLIS
Head Coach

Many things seemed to go out into left field for Gerry Collis' RENEGADES during the baseball season. If it wasn't one thing it was another. When the pitchers had their "stuff," the batters were in a slump. Then the hitters found the range and the defense slackened. Probably the biggest problem besetting the GADES was an over-worked pitching staff. The rotation involved only four hurlers.

Over their first 18 games, the RENE-GADES won six games and dropped 12. After the end of the first round of Metropolitan Conference play, Bakersfield occupied a solid berth in the second division with a record of 2-5.

SLUGGERS . . . Row I: Joe Bonillo, Charlie Valenzuela, Frank Hoetker, Dennis Husted, Bob Schultz, Carl Fisher, Jim Stiger, Manager Spence Hackney, Manager Mike McManus,

Coach Jack Frost has a fine golf team every year, and 1960 was no different. The RENEGADES boasted only one letterman from the squad of last year, but they were pressing strongly for the leadership position in the conference standings. After eight league meetings, the GADES stood at 6-1-1. Most consistent of the players was freshman Jim Ewing who played within a stroke or two of par golf all season.

AQUAMEN . . . Row I: Bill Cline, Jim Wilson, Dennis Bledsoe, Bob Arthur, Row II: Morris Berens, Gary Steres, Jack Reed, Jim Fraysier.

Water Polo Club Has Best Season

Despite an unimpressive 1-3 record in a conference featuring two of the finest JC water polo teams in the nation, the RENE-GADES still made their best showing. Over all, coach Jim Turner's mermen ended the year with a 3-4 mark. Star forward Jim Wilson led his mates in scoring with 34 points, three more than he garnered the season before. Just as they did in 1958, Metro officials named Wilson as an all-conference honorable mention pick along with Tony Atencio.

Distance Men Once Again Conference Champs

Runners, get on your mark! Get set! . .

Under new coach Art Dalzell, the RENE-GADE endurance runners disposed of all rivals and won the Metropolitan Conference dual meet cross country championship for the second year in a row with an unblemished 5-0 record. They supported this feat with the league meet title. With Neville Shaw setting the pace in early season and Leland Sheppard taking command in the latter part, Bakersfield finished a close second in the state championships.

RACQUETMEN . . . Row I: Jim Welker, Steve Makoff, Lorin Reich, Bob Sears. Row II: Milton Mather, Ron Marchant, Bob Lupinek, Buddy Latham.

With a nucleus of Steve Makoff, Bob Lupinek, Milton Mather and Buddy Latham, Coach Wid Trusler succeeded in building BC's finest net team in several years. During the Metropolitan Conference season, the RENEGADES were solid contenders for second place. Twice they defeated El Camino and Long Beach City College handily.

Wow! What a smash.

Femininity was spotlighted only three years ago in Bakersfield's athletic program, and already the GADETTES have made a name for themselves. Last season the girls, behind Roberta Raiston and Brenda Jackson, captured the Northern California Championships. With both lasses returning, the team was hopeful of similar honors again this season.

Geel! That water looks cold.

Bakersfield College has never had a swimming team that could measure up to the 1960 RENEGADES. During their campaign that resulted in a second-place finish in the Metropolitan Conference, the GADES literally rewrote the school record book. All-around merman Jim Wilson established all sorts of marks and All-American diver Jim Johnson went through the season in unbeaten fashion. Before dropping their final meet to powerhouse Long Beach, the RENEGADES knocked over six opponents. BC climaxed the season by hosting the California State JC Championships as well as the Metro Conference meet.

Gymnastics on the Upgrade

Like sleeping on a cloud.

Lacking both manpower and experience, Coach Herb Loken's gymnasts were unable to compete on the level with the conference's other teams, but they did develop into the best gym team the school has ever had. The RENEGADES climaxed the season with a 1-5 record but that one victory came over El Camino in the first collegiate meet ever held at BC.

As we prepare to say goodbye for another year, many of us are saying hello to a new life. Be it at a university, in marriage, or at a new job, all of us are preparing to take another step in life.

Through the pages of the 1960 Raconteur, we have endeavored to show you the various aspects of the FACE IN THE CROWD. We have shown him as he seeks his identity, and exercises his creative powers in order to realize his potential. We have shown him doing this through reason's discipline, thinking's adventure, and study's discoveries. We stressed the value of individuality and the value of conformity—and the balance between these two.
