All experience is an arch to build upon.—

Henry Brooks Adams
The Agriculture Club forms a representative body of students who are interested in agriculture and who work cooperatively with other agriculture organizations in community activities. During the school year of 1964 and 1965 the agriculture club sponsored Susan Walker for Homecoming Queen in conjunction with the Homecoming football game. On December 3, the club collected canned food for unfortunate families. The club also polished the "3C" block for Homecoming.

SUSAN WALKER
Homecoming Queen Candidate
alpha gamma sigma

Recognizing and encouraging high scholarship among students of Bakersfield College is the aim of the Lambda chapter of Alpha Gamma Sigma, Bakersfield's affiliate in the California Junior College Honor Scholarship Society. Composed of a temporary membership whose grade points averaged 3.0 or above, and whose total grade points exceeded 42, the club this year welcomed into associate membership students whose high school record qualified them for the Honors-at-Entrance Program. Realizing its duty to the school, Alpha Gamma Sigma has participated in various school activities such as support of Proposition 2, Club Day, an Activities Board Dance, and the C/CSGA conference. Joint sponsorship of a float with the sophomore class and Grades International won them second place in the Homecoming Parade. Intra-club activities included a get-acquainted coffee and the regional convention in Barstow. Faculty and outside speakers presented various topics to the members. Culminating the semester's activities was the club banquet, held on December 1, at which membership cards and silver pins were presented.

OFFICERS: Terry Nelson; Social Coordinator; Watanabe Koizumi, Secretary; Suzanne Lacy, President; and Richard Bonelli, Vice-President.

ASSOCIATED MEN RESIDENTS

The Men's Residence Hall was established so that men students from out of town may live on campus in order to have easier access to classes offered at Bakersfield College. The Residence Hall also provides them with recreational and social opportunities.

During the year the Hall participated in and sponsored many activities. They sponsored a queen candidate in Homecoming, entered a float in the Homecoming parade, participated in Intramurals, sponsored an after-game dance, held a steak bake, a Father and Son Banquet, had a booth at the Spring Carnival, and participated with the Women's Residence Hall in having a Valentine's Dance.

"The Chosen Road" was the theme selected by the Men's Residence for their Homecoming Float.

Terry Buhn was the Men's Residence choice for Homecoming Queen Candidate.
associated men students

This year has been one of the most active in the history of the Associated Men Students. A full list of school service projects were completed by this organization. As in the past, AMS sponsored the Homecoming queen contest and in conjunction with AWS constructed the queen's float. Aside from donations to various causes such as the Campus Arts magazine and the BC Choir's trip to Europe, AMS presented the Student Court with a new gavel to replace the old worn one.

Fall Semester President, Jeff Ogilvie, presents the AMS gavel to Spring Semester President, Bob Brassman.
Associated Women Students

Associated Women's Students, open to all girls, is devoted to promoting activities for women students. Projects this year have included: a Welcome Tea for freshman women, an after-game dance with AMS, participation in a Club Day, an AWS-AMS picnic, decoration of goal posts for all home football games, decoration of the Homecoming queen's float with AMS participation in the Spring Carnival, the Fine Arts Festival and a Spring Fashion Show.

OFFICERS—SITTING: Janet Hedgecock, President; Kris Olsen, Secretary. STANDING: Charlotte Ulrich, Treasurer; Kathy Disney, Historian.
ASSOCIATED VETERAN STUDENTS

The purpose of the Associated Veteran Students on campus is to join ex-servicemen in an effort to help readjust to civilian life and the new environment college provides. The club also is a means by which members can participate in campus activities and become more responsible citizens in the future. The Vets started a series of activities by participation in Homecoming, 1964. A queen candidate was sponsored and a float entry were two important projects. The club was also a participant in the annual Veteran's Day Parade. The float placed second in its division and also received the special entry award. A turkey shoot was also sponsored by the club to raise money for additional club activities. Thirty turkeys were given away. The famous cannon and ox were two familiar evidences of the Vets club at all home football games. A unique project is the adoption of a Japanese orphan this year by the Vets. She is a thirteen year old girl. The club will contribute to her support and send her Christmas gifts. The members hope to continue this project throughout the coming years at Bakersfield College.

association for exceptional children

The Association for Exceptional Children is a club interested in enriching the lives of the retarded children with whom they work. Two of the activities proposed and carried out by the club to help these children are bowling every week at Westchester Bowl and dances once a month at Peter Pan School. Other activities in which club members have participated in were trips to Porterville State Hospital and a float for the Homecoming Parade. A special Hoopla and a rummage sale were projects used to raise money for campships for the summer camp for the retarded and other necessary expenses.

OFFICERS: Christine Peterson, Treasurer; Mitch Jinks, Vice-President; Gail Freewell, President; Linda Ogden, Secretary.
Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Student Union is a religious club on campus for the deepening of the religious faith and the fellowship of students. This year the BSU was a participant in the Homecoming activities with the entrance of their own float. Many talks and discussions were presented at the weekly meetings by local pastors and citizens. The BSU wishes to express their appreciation to Mr. Rodney Wesman, faculty advisor, and Rev. Al Greenvall.

A religious theme was carried out in the Baptist Student Union's Homecoming float.
BC CHORUS

The Bakersfield College Choir, under the direction of Joseph B. Hustle, has risen to a position of prominence in California choral circles. The choir's activities of the past year include many appearances in Kern County, a trip to the 1968 Junior College Choral Festival and participation in the annual Christmas Tree lighting ceremony. The choir also cut a record of traditional Renegade football songs, which was released in September.

The most outstanding ambition, however, of this year's choir is the European Tour which has long been in planning. The group will leave Bakersfield in August for a one month tour which will see them through eleven countries. Several money-raising activities have added to the financial support for this trip. Activities included the International Bazaar, the collection of trading stamps, and several record sales. Civic organizations as well as many individuals have also made this trip possible through their generous contributions.

Choir officers are, ROW 1: Ramona Forquero, Secretary; Janet Plummer, Treasurer; ROW 2: Laurel Miller, Representative; Marilyn Bauer, Social Hostess; ROW 3: Charlie Walker, President; Ray Petty, Vice President.

BC Medics

The stated purpose of BC Medics is to better enable the pre-professional student in medicine and related fields to realize the possibilities of a career in his chosen field. To realize this purpose, BC Medics has built its program around three major objectives: communication with persons in the medical field; visitation of medical schools and acquaintance with their admission requirements; contact with facilities and organizations dedicated to medicine and public health. This year Medics presented Dr. Thomas V. Reese, prominent local physician, concerning "Medicare." Dr. Ronald Allman, of the college, spoke of the latest advances in birth control, an explosive problem. A trip to the UCLA Medical School culminated a year's discussion of professional education. Public health associations presented several programs which involved Medics. Two foreign students, Rune Hupines and Ebbo Jerssen, members of Medics, presented a discussion of socialized medicine in Scandinavia and the difficulty of professional education there.

Dr. Reese speaks to Medics.
The Bakersfield Republican Club sponsored two speakers for the benefit of the student body: Mr. Ken Koehler—Republican candidate for the 29th Assembly District, and Mr. Leonard Thomson—Republican candidate for the 29th Assembly District. The club was responsible for the Goldwater booth at the fair, and engaged in the taking care of the precinct work in the two precincts assigned them by the Republican Central Committee. The club also took active part in the Homecoming activities by building a float and running a queen candidate jointly with the Democrat Club. The club arranged a showcase to stimulate political interest and increase its membership. The club also participated in Club Day, contributed to Proposition 21, and sent a representative to the CJCSGA conference.

The year of the Election 1964-1965 has marked the completion of the Campus Democrat Club's first full year as a chartered organization. The November 2nd event provided a natural backdrop for the fall semester's political activities. SC Democrats' active participation was exemplified by their cooperation with the Democratic Headquarters, for whom they painted signs and welcomed Humphrey and Sanders, rallies, dinners, and an on-campus Mock Election, co-sponsored by the Republican Club, were among their many endeavors. They also presented many speakers for all students, such distinguished statesmen as Senator Stien and Congressman Williamson. Films and tapes on topics such as the United Nations and peace were introduced to keep the students well informed on world situations. In the spring semester they promoted the Fine Arts Festival and SC Day, the yearly project to welcome college-bound freshmen.

CANTERBURY CLUB

Monthly Masses, followed by corporate breakfasts at St. Paul's Episcopal Parish, Bakersfield, were some of the activities of the Canterbury Club. A few members attended the Regional Canterbury Conference with northern and central California Colleges at Assumption Conference Grounds in Pacific Grove. The dates of the conference were November 6, 7, and 8. Guest speakers included Mr. Tom Hoson of St. Paul's Episcopal Parish, who showed slides of his trip through Mexico; Rev. Robert Slocum (chaplain) of St. Paul's Episcopal Parish, who gave a talk on his life as a priest; Rev. Gordon C. Ashbee of St. Luke's Episcopal Parish who showed slides of his missionary work in the Yukon; and Rev. James Maguire of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church. In addition to these, there were group discussions of religion and of the problems of the college student. The aim of the Canterbury Club is to deepen Christian fellowship and faith and make religion vital and relevant to student life and activity.

June has brought to a close another productive year for the Circle K Renegade Knights. Beginning the month of September, Circle K opened the door for inspection of themselves and the campus of which they are a part. Through a number of varied and far-reaching projects, these men were able to contact the campus, community and portions of the United States.

Contact with the campus came in many ways. Circle K entered readily into competition with other clubs for service and honor. Service by these gentlemen yielded many happy moments at home football games, smooth flowing activities, and an added interest in the BC way of life.

Stepping from the college, Circle K promoted a better understanding of the college life and its interest in the community by entering and winning the float competition for organizations in the Annual Christmas Parade. This interest was further shown by attendance of members of Circle K at downtown Kiwanis Club meetings and luncheons.

Circle K took campus and community to the notion when it sponsored the annual Cal-Nav-Ha District Convention in Bakersfield. The convention, aimed at promoting better leaders for tomorrow and an understanding of the future, displayed the ability and interest of our local group while hosting fellow members.

The College Players, Delta Psi Omega, is the club which spearheads dramatic activities at Bakersfield College. Advised by Dr. Frank Watton, the group presented four plays to the student body and community which were: Tartuffe by Moliere, All My Sons by Arthur Miller, The Playboy of the Western World by J. M. Synge, and Hippolytus by Euripides. Two experimental theatres were held and the College Players also sponsored a High school one act play contest in February.

Dave Dial's, John Maynard, and Ben Johnson are shown rehearsing for the first production of the Bakersfield College Players' Tartuffe. The play, which was directed by Dr. Frank Watton, Humanities Division Chairman, is a comedy that revolves around Tartuffe's control of Orgon and his ability to run the whole Orgon family. Dial played Orgon, the father; Maynard played Damis, the son; and Johnson played Tartuffe, the religious hypocrite. Many hours of rehearsal have to go into each production.

Months of hard work are climaxed in just a few hours as a play is finally presented. Three members of the cast of Tartuffe are shown in one scene of the College Player's first production. They are Dave Dial, Ben Johnson, and Susan Childs. The actors received their chance to please the audience after two months of rehearsal and many trying moments.
MaYds, formerly Crimson Crest, is a new club on campus and is Bakersfield College’s women’s division of the YMCA. The purposes of this service organization are to promote active participation within the club, to contribute to the social needs of Bakersfield College, and to search out the needs of both the College and the community.

The projects that the club has engaged in include donating food baskets to families for Christmas, accompanying under-privileged children to cultural events in the community, ushering, and acting as guides on the campus.

The Engineers Club of Bakersfield College is designed to incorporate those interested students who are majoring in any field of engineering into a unified organization. Most significant of their projects in line with college activities was their participation in Homecoming. As a fund raising project, the engineers held their annual Turkey Drawing just before the Thanksgiving Holidays. Recreation was afforded by means of a snow party; an important educational excursion was taken to San Jose, where they received information concerning the complex IBM systems. The group also sponsored a car rally, in which the skill and knowledge of BC drivers was measured with their vehicles, according to class, for trophy competition.

Freshman Class

Fresh Class President Bill Jones listens to a discussion among members of the Freshman Class Council as to the formulation of plans for Homecoming activities.
The Freshman Class had to get organized quickly in order to construct this entry in the Homecoming Parade.

This year's Freshman Class was very active under the leadership of the class president, Bill Jones.

One of the main activities of the Freshman Class was setting up a program of representation through Orientation classes. The class participated in Homecoming by constructing a float and sponsoring Dotty Trotter as its Homecoming Queen candidate. The class also sponsored an aftergame dance entitled "The Election," took part in the Intramural program, and provided aid in the Columbia Box Drive, the Muscular Dystrophy Drive, and the Proposition Two Campaign. Freshman delegates John Collins and Bill Jones took part in the State Student Government Convention.

In the spring semester, the Freshman Class participated in the student-faculty discussions, the Spring Carnival, BC Day, and Spring Club Day. The class also helped organize and finance the Sophomore Honor Brunch.

Dotty Trotter was the Freshman Class Homecoming Queen Candidate.
The purpose of GaYds is to promote active organizational and individual participation in college, community, state, and national affairs through scholarship, leadership and service. Their entire program is designed to complement and supplement the academic choices of the individual members.

The activities of GaYds this year consisted of sponsoring the first annual Freshman Camp and participating in Homecoming by pulling their first place Special Entry chariot. Their Homecoming Queen candidate, Margaret Actis, was selected as a Princess. The GaYds also painted the benches on the football field, sponsored an after-game dance (Safari), participated in the Asilomar Conference, and parked cars at the Kern County Fair.

In the spring semester the GaYds took an active part in the Spring Carnival, BC Day tours, the Fine Arts Festival and sponsored the 1963 Annual Chinese New Year's Dance. The club also sponsored a Hill Y Tri-Hill Y Conference, received National YMCA Affiliation, participated in the Intramurals and co-ordinated the Columbia Book Drive. The GaYds sponsored Professor Clarence P. Shedd of Yale University, whose field is Religion in Higher Education. The club gave $50 to the Jim Burton Fund and $175 in scholarships to high school seniors in the Bakersfield area. The GaYds presented trophies to the clubs having the highest grade point averages and gave $200 to World Service. They sponsored a new program in the Student-Faculty Firesides and participated actively in Student Government.

Wearing a prospective member sign, as shown above, is one in a series of steps for a person to become a member of GaYds.

Gades International

Gades International is a service club for students who are interested in travel. Activities began by decorating for the Sophomore dance, "Stoked," and by entering a float in the Homecoming parade which took second place.

Gades International has given service to Bakersfield College in the form of work on the Activities Board for projects such as typing part of the Voter's Guide and decorating for the Jim Burton benefit dance, "Pennies From Heaven."

The club has given service to the community in the form of adopting a twenty-two-year-old young man of the Friendship Club at the Porterville State Institution for the mentally retarded. Other services included a drive to secure a wheel chair and an iron lung for a needy person. A little girl in Taft is now the owner of a new wheel chair by the help of Gades from a previous drive.

Activities for the spring semester included a dance and car wash to raise funds for future travel.

INTER-RACIAL CLUB

Campus Democrats and Inter-Racial Club combined efforts to construct this Homecoming float.

This is a new campus club, composed of students interested in promoting better relations among the many races on campus. Under the direction of President Albert Hopkins and Adviser Mr. Cliff Garrett, activities consist of speakers during meetings and sponsorship of after-game dances. Members help with tutoring students at the Friendship House. The group also sent a delegate to the Inter-National Convention.

OFFICERS: Kathy Disney, Activities Board Representative; Albert Hopkins, President; and Terry Proctor, Secretary.

Inter - Varsity Christian Fellowship

ASB President Larry Minter signs the long-awaited club charter for Trent Hyatt, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship’s President.

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship is a new organization formed by a group of students for the purpose of discussing fundamental Christian beliefs and their relations to the modern college. It is like several other clubs in that it was organized for religious purposes; yet it is different in that it is completely non-denominational, with its membership open to all students. The club presented films and several outstanding speakers of national stature to its members and the general student body. As the opportunity arose, the club joined other religious clubs on campus in presenting special programs to the student body. The club also had a booth in the Spring Carnival.

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship is affiliated with a national organization by the same name. There are similar organizations on eight hundred college and university campuses across the nation. Mr. Dale Scales is the faculty advisor.

The Kraftsmen's Klub had a float in the Homecoming Parade on October 31, 1964, and also sponsored, with the Activities Board, the Spring Carnival. A custom-made stereo set was given away at this May affair. Paper distribution stands were made for the Renegade Rip in November, and the club also made chairs which were placed in front of the Library and Indoor Theater. The Kraftsmen's Klub gave three $50 scholarships to returning sophomores for the fall semester, and two $100 scholarships to a freshman and a sophomore for the spring semester.

Kraftsmen's Klub officers were Mike Pounds, President, and Don Schwartz, Vice President.
Lambda Alpha

Lambda Alpha, whose purpose is to better acquaint individuals with the Latin culture, is a service club to both the school and community. The club helps Mexican organizations to become better educated and to establish contact with the community.

Club activities included ushering during the Fine Arts Festival, giving a party for many underprivileged children of Kern County, participating in the Spring Carnival, participating in intramurals and entering a float in the Homecoming parade.

Lance and Shield

Lance and Shield is a women's honorary service organization on campus with the main purpose of service not only to the school but to the community as well. Throughout the fall and spring semesters, Lance and Shield participates in numerous activities. Some of the activities for the fall semester included assisting at Validation Day, serving at the Student-Faculty Barbecue, making aprons for serving, Welcome Tea for all freshman girls, awarding a scholarship, Homecoming dance, sponsoring a queen candidate for Homecoming, Nominating Convention, fashion show, Intramural bowling with the Renegade Knights and the making of bluebird vests. December was a time of merriment for the members of Lance and Shield. Starting the month off by entering a float in the Christmas Parade (co-sponsored with the Renegade Knights), Lance and Shield took the first place award as they did in the Homecoming parade. The group also sent Christmas cards to all campus clubs and to counselors. They concluded the month by voting in fifteen freshman girls and then held a Christmas party for all members. The activities for the spring semester included: helping with the Heart Fund Drive, 20-30 Club relay, Spring Carnival Garter Booth, BC Associates Banquet, BC Day, Fine Arts Festival, Student Government Banquet, fashion show, Sophomore Honor Brunch, Baccalaureate, and Graduation.

Jennifer Black was chosen to represent Lance and Shield as Homecoming Queen candidate.

Le Cercle Français brings together students who are interested in the French language, people, and culture. Bi-monthly meetings are held on campus to plan for activities, such as the nightly meetings in the members' homes. The purpose of these nightly meetings is to give the French students experiences with French cuisine, games, popular records, and other items not presented in the classroom situation.

In late November Le Cercle Français held a raffle at which time tickets were sold at ten cents a piece. The winning ticket received a $7 gift certificate from Booth's Record Shop, second place received a $3 gift certificate. Proceeds were used to enrich the library's stock of French albums. Some of these works included such things as classical dramas, famous novels, and poetry. French Club also participated in the Spring Carnival. The club's advisor is Mrs. Eva Lefevre.

newman club

The Bakersfield College Newman Club is a Catholic organization with the aim of uniting Catholic and non-Catholic students together for religious, intellectual, and social activities. In fulfilling its religious function, the Newmanites entertained a variety of speakers and question and answer sessions on topics about new changes in the Catholic religion, which result from the Ecumenical council. The club held a number of church breakfasts and participated in a program which made church services available to residents of the Bakersfield Juvenile department. Intellectually, lectures and correspondence with other religious groups as well as conventions added motivation. The club partook in a caroling party and was active in intramural, student government, Homecoming, and in the Spring Carnival. The Newman Club's candidate for Homecoming queen became a princess.

Renchagac Rip

The Renegade Rip is published once weekly by a staff of twenty-eight and their advisor Mr. James Flanary. It is their purpose and policy to give superior news coverage to all events and special news features on the Bakersfield College campus.

Amid the frenzy of seeing people for stories, pictures, ads, ads, and more ads, finding rulers, copy pencils, and various other journalistic materials, the staff members managed to present an outstanding paper to the student body each Friday morning.

A few selected members of the staff also attended the Journalism Association of Junior Colleges Conference at the Hotel Riviera in Palm Springs in March and the San Joaquin Valley Scholastic Press Association Conference at Fresno State College in April. At this final conference the Renegade Rip received a rating of "Outstanding."

The stadium lights dim. The audience, undecorated, pauses momentarily from across the field; in a precision flash, march the black-clad forms—two hundred beats per minute. The music begins, a silence once again engulfs the stands, to remain until the last note. Under the guidance of a new director, Charles Wood, this year’s Renegade Band has increased in size, and has enjoyed a distinctive year. During the football season the band displayed superb marching form in their intricate drill maneuvers and dance steps. Classic concert music such as ‘The Light Cavalry Overture’ added to the sparkling originality of the pre-game and half-time shows. Their final number of the Shrine Potato Bowl, ‘St. Louis Blues Special,’ further projected their image as did their performance in the Junior Rose Bowl. No matter what the occasion, rallies, basketball or football games, the band raised the spirit of the fans. In the spring they presented their annual concert and also sent a record number of twenty-two participants to the MENC Junior College Honor Band, where they walked off with top honors in all fields.

The Roger Williams Club is made up of BC students who are members of the American Baptist Churches or interested in the program of the club. While the members sip tea and munch on donuts, questions are tossed out to the group for discussion. The club welcomes any newcomers who are interested in participating in the program. Mr. Wallace Cary advises this religious club.

speech and debate

Under the direction of advisors Dr. Phyllis Dabbs and Mr. Wallace Cory, the Speech and Debate Team has been very active this year. It has captured many trophies and awards through debate, oral interpretation, original oratory, extemporaneous and impromptu speaking. Venturing to Fresno City College, the team participated in the Pacific Southwest Collegiate Forensic Tournament, capturing the Second Forensic Sweepstakes Award and receiving a third place Junior College Sweepstakes Trophy.

The Speech and Debate Team has participated in the fall tournaments of the Pacific States Collegiate Forensic Association held at UCLA. (Spring tournaments were held at Long Beach Junior College.) Toward the end of the year the team participated in the National Junior College Tournament held at Centralia, Washington.

With outstanding achievement, the speakers and debaters captured many superior and excellent ratings for Bakersfield College.

Speech and Debate officers include Rick Bianchi, Vice President; and Larry Hart, President. Co-advisors are Dr. Phyllis Dabbs and Mr. Wallace Cory.

To start the fall semester the Sophomore Class led off the school activities by co-sponsoring the annual Icebreaker Dance. Their main fund-raising project, however, was a surfer dance entitled "Stoked." The sophomores fielded a strong team in the intramural football competition, taking first place. Nancy Redford was the Sophomore Class candidate for Homecoming Queen, and "The Rough Road to Success" was the theme of the Homecoming Float which took a second place. The club made a donation to the "Yes on Proposition Two" campaign fund and sent members of the class to the CJCSCGA (California Junior College Student Government Conference Association) Area No. 5 Conference. The club participated in the Fall Nominating Convention. The Sophomore Class officers served actively on the Board of Representatives. Mr. Walter McGahan was the club advisor.

Student California Teachers' Association

Student California Teachers' Association brings together a group of students who are considering teaching as a profession. Advised by Dr. Robert Poorman, they are concerned with the problems of teaching. The meetings twice a month have included various films and speakers. Three such speakers were Dr. Lowell Ogden, Fresno State Bakersfield College Center SCTA advisor; Miss Berta Lehmann-Karlofitch, an exchange teacher from Austria; and Mr. Gregory Goodwin, a Bakersfield College teacher. The club president and other officers and interested students attended a state SCTA meeting in October at Los Angeles. They have sponsored a Homecoming float and a pizza booth in the Spring Carnival. A fall raffle was also sponsored. This year as in the past, SCTA presented the club's outstanding graduating sophomore with a scholarship. Club members also offered a tutoring service for interested people in the community.

The purpose of the Wesley Student Fellowship is to unite in Christian fellowship through thought, discussion, worship, and recreation. By these means and by participation with others, they hope to deepen their faith, their understanding and commitment to God.

Under the leadership of Gary Rothwell, President, this year's Wesley Club has attempted to fill each of the club's objectives. During the early part of the fall semester, several programs were given on various religious symbols of the church. Just before the Presidential election, Wesley members became engaged in a controversial discussion on Proposition Fourteen with Mr. Gabriel Solomon, a local attorney, and Mrs. Mary Jones, of the Bakersfield Beauty Board, giving pros and cons of the issue.

As this year's entry in the Homecoming Parade, Wesley presented a float with the theme "Search for Tomorrow," depicting a student at the crossroads of knowledge, science and religion. As the semester progressed the club heard Mr. and Mrs. George Hess speak on their recent weeks as Peace Corps volunteers in Liberia.

Shortly before the Christmas Holidays, Wesley joined with the other religious clubs in an effort to make the campus look more like Christmas. This was achieved by recorded Christmas music, a showcase display, a nativity scene and signs with foreign and English Christmas expressions. The club also held a Spring Planning Retreat and the annual Pizza Dinner.
WILDLIFE AND TIMBER

Wildlife and Timber affiliates the students majoring in forestry and wildlife management with related campus activities. Under the direction of advisor Dr. George Lawrence and Presidents Roger Kurtz and Les Hastings, this organization sponsors many activities throughout the year. The club members participate in weekend woodcuts, having steak bakes afterwards. This club also has forest and wildlife management field trips to supplement their knowledge in these areas. Wildlife and Timber also actively participates in the Bakersfield College Activities Board Program. In addition to the above mentioned activities this organization offers a number of off-campus speakers. Lectures this year were heard from several prominent men in the field of fish and game.

RECREATION ASSOCIATION

The Women's Recreation Association is active on the Bakersfield College Campus through participation in tennis, swimming, volleyball, and gymnastics. WRA took part in Homecoming by sponsoring an old car as a special entry in the Homecoming parade. This athletic association jointly sponsored the annual "Fun Night" with the Bakersfield College Varsity Club during the spring semester. On "Fun Night," the swimming pool and all gym facilities were open for recreational use. Refreshments were supplied and served by members of WRA. Special awards and prizes were given for winners in the various sports. Members of the Women's Recreation Association participated in competition with other colleges. In a volleyball tournament at Fresno State College, members of Bakersfield College's WRA ranked first among six attending colleges. The gymnastics section of the cord club placed in the "good" category at a tournament in Los Angeles.

Women's Residence Hall

The Residence Halls are the only "clubs" on campus that are secure in the knowledge that they will always have participating members and will still be existing on BC campus no matter how the tide of events may run. The Women's Residence Hall in conjunction with the Men's Residence Hall engage in various activities throughout the year. Included on this year's roster of events are the Welcome Weekend, Homecoming activities, Christmas Weekend events, Spring Carnival, and Orientation Week. The Spring Tea and Sig Sister-Little Sister banquet are strictly women's dorm activities. Probably the busiest and most exciting time around the women's dorm is Christmas weekend. Friday, Dec. 18, a dance was held and the star feature of the night was a surprise visit from Santa Claus and distribution of "goodies." Sunday, Dec. 20, the Women's Hall was probably the brightest place on campus. All the girls' rooms were gaily decorated and opened to family and friends beginning at 7:30 P.M. with Open House. Later the dorm was grateful to have for their Fireside speaker Dr. Eisenhower from Northminster Presbyterian Church. The annual affair of breaking the piñata soon followed and the evening was topped off with the traditional singing of carols. As you can see, the Women's Residence Hall aims to provide social and recreational opportunities for its residents as well as experience in leadership through self-government all under the leadership of the House Mother, Miss Dorothy Snell.

Beginning with the 1964-65 school year, Bakersfield College became a distinct entity. It had separated from the Kern County Union High School District in order to form the Kern Joint Junior College District. The five trustees of the old combined high school-junior college district became the directors of the fortunes of two thriving school systems. This meant new, multiple challenges to meet the needs of a growing, prospering and expansion-minded area. Of immediate concern was the proposed annexation of Porterville College. As a busy board guides Bakersfield College to the best decisions possible, we extend our thanks to these dedicated men who so generously devote their time and effort to the betterment of this institution.
Enthusiasm, initiative, and a professional background in expert training—these are the qualities which make the Deans of Bakersfield College an efficiently functioning group. These five individuals arrange the complete educational program. Furthermore, they serve on the Administrative Committee composed of the Deans, Directors, President and Vice President which initiates the various operations behind the scenes.
Directors are navigators in many student affairs which are conducted by students, but properly channeled by directors. The duties of a director are complex. He must coordinate, guide, and determine the direction in which Batesfield College is moving. By the use of his magnetic mind, a director comprehends the vital importance of "The Road Not Taken" a road faced by each and every student entering college.
Counselors

An important facet of education at Bakersfield College is counseling. Whether a student finds his interests in business education, teaching, engineering, pre-med., English, social science, agriculture, home economics, trades and industries, or any of the other general courses offered, he often encounters problems he cannot solve alone; and the counseling staff at Bakersfield College is well-trained to help the students work out solutions to their problems. Counselors also offer advice pertaining to immediate employment following graduation and they continue to advise transfer students in their planning for future schedules. In addition to their regular duties, most of the counselors instruct, and speak before college and civic groups.

Freedom of expression and freedom of inquiry are symbolic of our society. However, these very freedoms sometimes make it necessary for each of us to sift the good from the bad and recognize the thin line of distinction between white, gray, and black as we seek to separate truth from misinformation and falsehood. The Grace Van Dyke Bird Library at Bakersfield College provides the necessary materials to aid students in this endeavor. In addition, the wealth of information stored in reference books and the college's audiovisual department, which provides periodical films, tapes, and other materials to aid the student in his academic pursuits, is a source of relaxation and enjoyment to the ambitious and intellectually alert.

Today's agriculture is more than production farming. It includes the processing, transportation, distribution and marketing of farm products as well as the sales and services to farmers who need added stimuli to production. The great complex of agriculture is Kern County's largest and most important industry. The care of agriculture in future years will be production, management, and mechanization. There will be a need for more specialization and higher concentration of skills.

Bakersfield College offers students extended commercial subjects to meet the demands of a more complex business world. "Graduates will be competent in business skills and have the breadth of background that will enable them to understand the relationship of their jobs to business and the whole community." The Science-Engineering-Mathematics Division supports the belief that everyone can profit from additional training and enlightenment in the sciences. Advancements in technology and the sciences are occurring at an accelerated rate. Not only is study in this area the foundation or cornerstone for the preparation for many professional careers, but it is along with an understanding of scientific fundamental principles essential to a well-rounded, purposeful life. The S-E-M staff at Bakersfield College teaches the student at whatever level of understanding of background in the scientific areas he has and tries to fulfill his needs, be it for general education, technical skills, or a professional knowledge. These three areas, Math, Science, and Engineering, provide the means by which we organize our lives.

Science is searching and seeking. Each year inquisitive, original thinking young men and women seek a figure in the traditional technique of thought. Such gaps in our knowledge allow us to peer out at the world with rediscovery of insight. Cults of new scars now finding some traditional knowledge incorrect, would throw out the whole structure and start afresh. Then, the human mind being what it is, evaluation, taxonomy, arrangement, and pattern making would follow. Gradually, the new structure grows to completion, and from fresh patterns of knowledge evolve subs, sciences, new disciplines, and even ethics. The new building becomes eternally complete and no one bothers to look beyond until the day when insatiable minds will look through and find a new world. There are good things to see in the world around us, and there are exciting thoughts to be generated from sight.

The profession of nursing has a major responsibility to provide quality in nursing care needed to meet society's demands. In spite of continued shortage of nurses needed to provide the various kinds of nursing care services demanded by our citizens, the commitment of those who assist in the educational preparation of potential nurse practitioners is clear. The persons admitted to nursing programs must be able to meet the demands of the program to prepare them for their career as nurses. Every course in the total program of study for a nursing career is important. Each one makes its unique contribution to the development of the person. Students in nursing programs must be helped to develop their potential as individuals. Each instructor in the program contributes to the student's growth. Not only are nursing programs important, but also their instructors are important.

The Lamps learn valuable nursing skills through actual on-the-job training.
Physical Education Division

Modern education is concerned not only with developing "heads" but also with developing bodies to match those heads. The Division of Health and Physical Education is primarily concerned with satisfying this particular need. To quote the old axiom of a "sound mind and a sound body," physical fitness is now a national concern and it is the goal of this Division to do its part in keeping BC students in top physical shape. Also, they are trained to be mentally alert to the problems of their self-education in today's world. The Bakersfield College program is designed to offer competitive sports, recreational education and instruction by carry-over activities. Emphasis is placed upon participation by all students.

The Trades and Industries department provides training in the industrial activities common to this community. In the day program, this division provides the instruction for the student that he will need for entrance into the various positions offered in this area. The Desert Division of Ridgecrest, one of the two evening divisions of the Bakersfield campus, might be called "a day program conducted at night," since courses are offered at night but parallel those given in the day program on the main campus. Nine full-time and about thirty part-time instructors comprise the faculty, which works under the supervision of Dean Omar H. Schieb. Courses are offered for almost all majors for the first year, although the division's program is more limited in the second year. Now in its fourth year of full-time operation, the Ridgecrest division has grown to an enrollment this year of more than 800 and has so far graduated 80 students. In 1962 a student government program was instituted and since then has presented an active program of student activities, including touring plays, a local campus choir, the Bakersfield College Choir, local dramatic productions by playwrights from Shakespeare to Arthur Miller and Christmas socials. The student body differs from that on the Bakersfield campus, since the majority is adult with relatively few full-time students. Many of the 800 are enrolled at the nearby Naval Ordnance Test Station. Others are adults seeking the A.A. degree, working toward a high school diploma, or taking courses for their own advancement. The college program is conducted on the campus of Burroughs High School, and serves the areas of Trona, Randsburg, Johannesburg and Hyeckem, besides Ridgecrest and the community at China Lake. In addition, the division cooperates with the Naval Station in providing classes for students in the Navy's Apprentice Program, which trains technicians in electronics, electricity, sheet metal and plumber-pipefitter.
The second of the two evening divisions is the one here on our own campus. The Bakersfield College Evening Division is directed by Dr. H. Parley Kilmori, who is assisted by Mr. Richard Harkins.

The evening division, which has an enrollment of approximately 4,000 students, offers many courses which are, for a large part, the same courses offered during the day. Adults enrolled in the evening division are working toward one of two goals: they are interested in attaining an AA degree, or they are taking courses to further the education they have received in earlier years.

The evening division has recently attained separate status from the Associated Student Body of Bakersfield College. It now has its own student government program, and has presented several dramatic productions apart from the dramatic work of BC.

It's noon. A typical day at Bakersfield College. Hungry bellies are walking into the snack bar. They're elbowing their way for a "burger, shake and fries." Behind the counter are several women dressed in white. They aren't nurses. But they work at about the same speed, or faster. Some of them are saved because of the "mechanized milkshake," but others are frantically creating tuna sandwiches, taking dimes and nickles, and just being polite. Somehow, around 2 p.m., they have time to pause. Another day—the rush is over. The BC Cafeteria staff can relax. Now there's cleaning to be done. Mopping tile tops, cleaning the floors of the napkins, paper cups and general debris. Betty Starks, Cafeteria manager, breathes a customary sigh of relief and then plunges into her afternoon activities. There is ordering to be done; something must be done about that milk-dispenser which is on the blink. It's the daily battle. In the back of her mind is tonight's menu for the residence hall students, tomorrow's and a week from now. But it's all worthwhile. The student who just bought that hamburger thanked you.
You see them day and night, often moving inconspicuously—the Bakersfield College custodians. They are the men and women who help this institution put its best "face" forward. Their job is not easy—open a door, deliver some paper, fix a cabinet. Seven days a week, the BC custodians are on the job. On the weekends, it's the lonely job of the night watchman, who cruises the campus in his jeep, checking unlocked doors, maintaining, preserving.

Virgil White, head custodian, is the BC "man on the go." "Virgil's over in Humanities: can I take a message?" "Virgil's helping some fellow in the Math-Science Building. He'll be back at 3." Such is a typical day in maintenance headquarters—a regular bee hive.

The Racoonette staff wishes to express its particular thanks to the custodial crew. Many a weekend and many a night, Rac. staffers chased down a custodian to open a door, help someone locked in a building, locate some equipment, and a myriad of other chores. A hearty thanks to Mr. White and his men whom we feel played an important role in the production of this yearbook.
There never came ill of good advertising.

True glory consists in doing what deserves to be written; in writing what deserves to be read; and in so living as to make the world a better place.

We feel that the students of Bakersfield College have progressed and excelled in the fields of scholarship and activity. Because of this achievement we feel that in the 1965 Raconteur we have written what deserves to be read. It is our hope that the education and understanding gained at Bakersfield College will play its part in making the world a better place to live.
