

Renegades Play For Valley Title Today

"Mr. Pim Passes By" Will Be Presented Here Tomorrow

RIPPING RENEGADE ROGUES

Bottom row—Nicely, Watts, J. Girard, E. Girard, Smith, Schamblin, Tatsuno, Stanley, Wilton and Dougherty.

This afternoon the Renegades will play the Fresno State Freshmen for the Valley Junior College football championship on the local field. A hard, well-played game is predicted for the tilt, the two teams being evenly matched in playing ability.

The Renegades have a slight edge over the Frosh as to comparative scores in the games with Taft. Two weeks ago the Frosh took the Taft Jaysee for a 19 to 0 defeat. The first tally was practically donated to the Frosh as a result of two 15-yard penalties which placed the ball on Taft's six-yard line and gave Fresno first down. The following week the locals cleaned Taft 26 to 0, playing superior ball during the entire game. As to scoring power, the comparative scores give the Renegades a record better than Fresno's; still it might be well to remember that Taft may have been somewhat weak in last Friday's game because they had played Fresno on Armistice Day, just four days prior to the game here.

There is no doubt but that the Frosh played excellent defensive football in holding the Drillers to a 0 to 0 tie in the early part of the season. The Renegades and the Drillers play an entirely different type of football, so it is possible that the Fresno defense may not hold against the Renegade plays.

week against Taft and the Renegades have good hopes of winning the valley title this afternoon by playing the same type of a game against the teachers. Fresno is reported to have an attack similar to the one employed by Taft, and the locals were able to hold Taft to one first down in the first half.

Although it is uncertain whether the winner of the valley title will play the southern and northern champions for a state Jaysee title, arrangements are being made whereby the Renegades will play a post season game of some sort, providing they make a good showing against Fresno. Efforts are being made to secure the game away from home, probably with Menlo Junior College or Modesto Jaysee, both schools having high ranking teams.

Budding Geologists Travel to Red Rock

Professor VanderEike, purveyor of geological enlightenment, led his class over the hills to Red Rock Canyon last Sunday to study the volcanic formation of the country thereabouts.

The little band of one automobile and three machines halted at the mouth of the canyon and poured forth a mob of eager youths and lassies, who listened with awe to Mr. VanderEike's words of wisdom. Among the learned words of pleioscene, miocene and other ages, Ed Stanley remarks that "this must be the obscene age."

After a time of eating gritty sandwiches and looking about in the lava for rare crystals, the journey to the petrified forest was resumed. At the forest a guide led the amazed youngsters about through the petrified trees. The petrified worm holes drew much attention and a search for petrified worms was started—but in vain.

The forest management presented the class with several fossilized teeth and other objects of great practical interest.

Dramatic Honor Fraternity Gives First Production

Buchner, Moore, Marshall and Rencher in Important Roles

Saturday evening, November 23, and Monday evening, November 25, at 8:15, "Mr. Pim Passes By," a three-act comedy by A. A. Milne, will be presented by Delta Psi Omega, the Jaysee dramatics honor fraternity.

With the exception of two—Millys Thorpe and Bernice Braddon—all the players are members of the fraternity. Miss Thorpe and Miss Braddon are guest players. The former is new to Bakersfield audiences, but has had several years of acting experience.

The title role of Mr. Pim is played by Leslie Buchner. The part of Olivia Marden by Charlotte Anne Moore, and the part of George Marden by Gerald Rencher.

Other parts are played as follows: Aunt Julia, Jewell Permenter; Dinah, Millys Thorpe; Brian, Charles Marshall; and the maid, Bernice Braddon.

"Mr. Pim Passes By" is a delightful, amusing comedy. The story revolves around Olivia and George Marden, aunt and uncle of Dinah, who is in love with Brian. Before Dinah and Brian can be married, the opposition of Mr. Marden and the havoc in the Marden household caused by "balmy" Mr. Pim must be removed.

The play will be given under the auspices of the American Association of University Women, Bakersfield branch. One-half of the proceeds will go to the Junior College, and one-half to the association for its fellowship fund.

Arrangements have also been made with Taft Jaysee to produce the play in Taft on Saturday evening, December 7. The Taft players will present a play here the following week.

FORMER STUDENT TO WED

The engagement of Miss Lois Dumble, a former student of Bakersfield Junior College, to Keith Gunn, also a former Renegade, was recently announced. Mr. Gunn graduated from Santa Barbara State Teachers' College in 1928, where in his senior year he was president of the student body. The wedding will take place in the latter part of December.

R-E-N-E-G-A-D-E-S, WOW!

The Renegades' chances of becoming valley champions look good after the game with Taft last Friday, which placed the county title in our hands. We are extremely proud of Coach Harder and Acting Captain Zaul for their success in putting the team through its stuff. The "full house" in the grandstand helped a great deal toward the victory, so let's all turn out and hope for the biggest victory of all this afternoon.

VACATION AHOY!

For one whole week now we can relax and enjoy life again! Vacations have been rather few and far between, so when one comes on such a large scale, we really can DO something! And to think—while we're making merry, our dear teachers are actually going to school! To turn the tables more completely, we Jaysees should be permitted to give our assignments to all of these teachers—assignments that "will be due the Monday following vacation!" However, it appears that the Institute Week will keep them busy enough, so the only thing left for us to do is to settle back and forget the way over here to Jaysee until the "Monday following vacation!"

BY THE WAY—

Where was everybody during the Taft rally for Jaysee and high school studies? The Jaysees even had to ask the high school to help in the yelling for the Renegades — weren't enough from Jaysee to hold its own!

How about asking our teachers to mention something in every class about the announcements they receive for Jaysee students exclusively so that those of us who don't have second period classes will know once in a while just what is going on?

There is a possibility of closing the school library in the evenings unless more students take advantage of the opportunity and appear for reference work between 7:30 and 9:30.

We still hear the cry for more equipment in the study hall. A pencil-sharpener, for instance, and silencers for the chairs. Exam time is not so VERY far away, and what happens during exam time without a well-equipped, quiet place to study?

COAST ADDS TWO JAYSEES TO LIST

It might be of interest to the students of Jaysee here to know that recently two new junior colleges were organized in the southland, one J. C. at Los Angeles and the other at Santa Monica.

These two new junior colleges have already organized classes in journalism and wish to exchange papers with Bakersfield Junior College.

With the organization of these two junior colleges the total number in California has been raised to thirty-three. These junior colleges are located at Bakersfield, Brawley, Chaffee, Citrus, Compton, El Centro, Fullerton, Glendale, Hollister, Lancaster, Long Beach, Los Angeles, Marin, Marysville, Menlo, Modesto, Pasadena, Pomona, Porterville, Reedley, Riverside, Sacramento, Salinas, San Bernardino, San Mateo, Santa Ana, Santa Maria, Santa Monica, Santa Rosa, Susanville, Taft, Ventura and Visalia.

California now has 11,716 students enrolled in the 33 junior colleges throughout the state; according to an announcement of the state department of education.

French Club Meets

Miss Vida St. Clair was elected president of "Les Hiboux Francais," Junior College French Club, at the first meeting of the year, held at the home of Miss Franz on the evening of November 7. Other officers chosen were: Ann Derby, vice-president; Mrs. Lloyd Ingles, secretary, and Carl Thornton, treasurer.

After a business discussion at which plans were made for a program at the next Junior College meeting, bridge became the main diversion of the evening. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening by Miss Franz, assisted by Miss Robin Rapp.

The next social meeting will be held at Miss Bird's residence on Thursday evening, December 5.

Jaysee Journalists Meet in Long Beach

Big things happened down in Long Beach on November 2, when the California Junior College Press Association met at the Breakers Hotel. As far as Bakersfield is concerned, the biggest thing was the fact that Kern County Junior College was formally voted a member of the association.

The day began with conference sessions of the various departments of the paper and year book. Following that was a luncheon at the Pacific Coast Club, at which Mr. Frank Goss of the Long Beach Press-Telegram and Mr. John McGroarty of the Los Angeles Times spoke on qualifications and experiences in the newspaper career.

In the afternoon the delegates were guests at the Long Beach-Glendale football game and saw Glendale get beaten in the last 40 seconds of play by a score of 13 to 6.

At the general business session in the morning 33 junior colleges were represented. Sacramento was voted host of the spring conference and automatically became president of the association. Pasadena was elected vice-president. The spring meeting will be mainly conference sessions on the year book. An attempt is also being made to secure membership in the National Journalistic Honor Fraternity.

FOOTBALL SIGNAL CODE EXPLAINED

A new "penalty code" has been adopted and is being used this season by all football umpires, referees and linemen. Made with the arms, these new signals give the impression that the official is waving at the grandstand, when in reality he is calling attention to some infraction of football rules.

These new signals are as follows:

1. Safety. Right arm raised, first two fingers opened.
2. Offside. One arm extended, index finger pointing to offender.
3. Dead ball. Right arm raised over head, palm forward.
4. Holding. Both arms extended shoulder high, right hand grasping left wrist.
5. Clipping, roughing, piling on. Right arm extended to side and upward from elbow, fist clenched.
6. Incomplete pass or missed goal. Arms crossed before body, palm down.
7. Touchdown or goal. Both arms raised over head, palms forward.
8. Touchback. Arms raised over head crossed at wrists.
9. Penalty deadline. Right arm raised in saluting position.
10. Foul on both sides. Both arms raised over head, finger tips touching, palms down.
11. Interference. Both arms extended in posture suggesting warding off.

Wilson Talks at Kappa Meeting

A "get together" meeting was held Monday, November 18, by the Kappa Rho Sigma to give the new members a chance to orient themselves with respect to the club's activities.

Mr. Leslie Wilson, club adviser, gave an interesting talk on the mining, transportation and milling of copper ore as handled by the Britannia Mining Company of British Columbia. He said that the mine produces 10,000 tons of ore daily. This ore is transported over an electric railway owned by the company, to the mills, where it is refined. The company has extensive deposits of ore, one mountain being virtually wholly copper.

He spoke also of a tunnel the company is driving through a mountain, saying that the tunnel is to be seven miles long and modeled after the Moffat tunnel above Denver, Colorado. Mr. Wilson says if the price of copper stays at its present level the mine will operate indefinitely.

Charles Pratt made a notable contribution to the club's fossil collection. No one knows yet just what classification the fossil comes under, but it appears to be the jaw bones of some prehistoric creature. It is about two feet long and contains what seems to be long, cone-pointed teeth imbedded in rock.

Science Club Takes Six New Members

A group of about twenty-five fellows, Kappa Sigmas and their guests, sauntered up to the Fior D'Italia one evening last month, and before they left the Italian chef was a little weakened by his efforts to supply that gang with food. If those boys can handle science as they handle their knives and forks, the world will be blessed with another genius or two ere long.

November 4 saw prominent Jaysee men sneaking around the campus bearing wooden paddles. What for? Aha! Initiation—and they were initiated! From 7:30 till 10:30 that evening that seven were very, very busy dodging paddle wielders and other things—plenty of other things!

At last, ceremonies over, a short rest was enjoyed by all, but really appreciated by the newly initiated. Then upon the scene of recent conflict appeared cats! And then they disappeared! Oh, my!

At any rate, every one enjoyed himself at the fun fest. Ask Edwin Stanley, Ray Courtney, Norton Jaggard, Charles Dumble, Kenneth Krammes, or Harry Tatsuno about it. They can tell you. They were the six guests of honor.

How do some of these "cars" driven by our collegiates hold together? What cars? Joe McNamara's, Chef Colby's, Pop Gabriel's, Jack Stockton's for instance.

RED'S RIPS

"Study hall." Named by some bird with a sense of humor. What a mistake. Sounds more like a ladies' aid society.

Why do the football boys turn sorta green around the gills at the mere mention of eggs? Ask Tiny; he knows.

We wonder what Spud would do if by some miraculous happenstance his whole team were to be eligible at one and the same time.

The young ladies of the high school seem to be changing the color of their hair. We have also noticed a few cases among the women of our dearly beloved college. Wassa idea, girls?

The Hon. Johnny Loustalot got quite a workout after the assembly last week chasing the high school infants back to class. He also approached several J. C. students who were studying (?) in automobile row. We wonder what kind of answers he got from them when he so insulted their dignity.

We notice that Jerry still sports the little adornment on his upper lip in spite of the jibes of opposing players and teammates alike. Atta ol' fight, boy.

We wonder why Dub always picks on the red-headed ones.

Some of you birds who complain about having to take x's here should go to Oxford, where they take six-hour x's over three years of work. Not only that, but the very mode of dress of the student is prescribed by the powers that be. Said dress consists of dark suit, brown shoes, white string tie, and believe it or not, mortar boards and gowns.

Spud says that to make a quarterback they take a good lineman and beat his brains out.

We wonder why so many J. C. men can be found in automobile row during their free periods. Ask Tiny, he knows.

HEAR! HEAR!

Delta Psi Omega is offering a $5 prize for the ambitious salesman who can talk the greatest number of unsuspecting victims into buying tickets for "Mr. Pim Passes By."

If some of our J. C. boys keep on the way they've been going recently, there will soon be some new sheiks in movieland.

Wot's this we hear about two of our co-eds turning Apache dancers for a certain evening recently? Wot? We ask you!

Thoughts of a student in J. C. 204 trying to study: "Why is an orchestra?" and "Can a tenor be cured?"

Valley Girls' League Convenes In Taft

Discussions on working one's way through college, the spirit of the junior college, and the place of the junior college in the present educational system were the main features of the junior college section at the eighth annual convention of the Girls' League of the San Joaquin Valley held at Taft, November 8 and 9. That the junior college is a permanent institution was a definite conclusion of the junior college delegates. It is rapidly emerging from the experimental stage and its success thus far insures a further development of the future. The spirit of the junior college has not, thus far, kept pace with its development along scholastic lines. However, within the past few years the great number of activities sponsored by the junior college have greatly increased the spirit.

It is possible but not advisable for a woman to be entirely self-supporting while attending college. Health, scholarship and social activities are the three phases of the well balanced college life. Self support usually makes it necessary to sacrifice one of these factors. If possible, the girl faced with self support should work during vacation and do part time work while attending college.

The two outstanding speakers of the convention were Dean Jessie Fission of Pomona College and Dr. Woellner of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Local representatives from the junior college were Miss DeMots, Marion Harmon, Mary Holman and Jewell Permenter.

THE LIME LINE SPEAKS

Recently we read an article in one of our well-known magazines concerning college spirit. It set us to thinking about this momentous question and we wonder after all if there is such a thing as "school spirit" as such. Are not most of the things that are generally accepted as manifestations of "school spirit" merely the products of ulterior motives?

Take for example the athlete. Does he go out on the field to "do or die for dear old Alma Mater," or does he go out to make a name for himself and see his name in the papers? Or perhaps he plays for the personal enjoyment he derives from the game, or to make the letter of his school and be recognized both on the campus and in the world at large as a "letter man." And the students that "support" the athletic teams. Are they prompted by any overwhelming desire to turn out and root for the school, or do they attend the games for the general enjoyment that they derive from watching an athletic encounter? Who knows?

We are wondering why everything is so rose-colored for Frank lately.

We wonder how soon the cold, cruel, wet rain will come to break up that popular class in loafology that many of our prominent fellows enjoy so heartily on the adm. lawn.

Joe Goodwin, secretary of the Varsity Club, is now taking orders for pins. If you have not placed your order with him, do so immediately.

I wonder who was the funny duck who conceived the idea of calling that J. C. room a study hall. He should be watched!

Attendance in School Library Too Low the Past Week

Scarcely more than the number of students required to keep the library open evenings have been taking advantage of this privilege. According to figures secured from Miss Eskridge the librarian, the average number of patrons for the past five weeks is as follows: First week, 11; second week, 11; third, 15; fourth, 10; fifth, 4.

The library was opened evenings in order to supply the students and faculty with a convenient source of reference material that is not available in the county library, on the condition that an average of ten persons be present each evening.

THE GRIDLEAK

Coach Harder is beginning to figure on next year's football team. He has already been working with several linemen in efforts to make backs for next year.

Why do the football men call Red Wharton "One-punch?" Maybe some San Diego fellow can explain!

Athletic managers of Santa Monica J. C. have to compete for the position in order to pick the most efficient men. They will be picked according to these three qualities: (1) kind of work done as manager; (2) scholarship; (3) the time put on the work. The managers are subject to the same eligibility rules as the athletes.

Santa Monica J. C. defeated Los Angeles Pacific College by a score of 45 to 15 in a recent basketball game. The southern men are playing basketball early in the season.

Ground for the new physical education and recreation building of the University of Southern California was broken Tuesday, November 12. The new building will be used to house both the men and women students. It is estimated that the cost will be $750,000.

Renegades Are County Champions

RENEGADES WIN COUNTY TITLE

Deceptive Offense Scores Four Times For Locals

Just as the chickens were going home to roost last Friday evening, the Kern county championship came home to roost on the capable shoulders of the Renegade football eleven. The 26 to 0 beating handed the Taft Jaysee team by "Spud" Harder's Stanford-patterned outfit on that same eventful evening may have had some effect on the championship's choice of a resting place.

After being held to one touchdown through three quarters, the Renegades' slashing attack in the last fifteen minutes of play at last cut through to the Taft goal line—once, twice, three times.

Baffled by the deceptive Renegade offense, the Taft line yielded long gains time and again, through all stages of the game, only to tighten up and hold firm as they were forced back towards their goal posts. In the final quarter, however, their splendid defense crumpled before the persistent Bakersfield drive.

Gabriel scored the Renegades' first touchdown in the opening quarter after a beautifully executed pass from Tyack to Zaul, good for a gain of 50 yards, had left the ball on Taft's three-yard line. Tyack scored the next two, the first on a 40-yard run and the second after he had sprinted 70 yards down the field. Girard made the last one possible when he intercepted a Taft pass and ran to the Taft two-yard line. Watts took the ball over.

Tyack played outstanding football throughout, his long passes being constant threats, while he ate up yardage by the 20-yard strip. Wilton and Tatsuno brought the grandstand to its feet at regular intervals with their dodging, spinning end runs. Whenever it was a case of having to have that extra yard to make first down, Gabriel was the boy who put his head down and bored his way through. Jules Girard took an active part in the Renegade's offense.

In only one instance did the Renegade line weaken, in the third quarter, when Taft started a drive from the Bakersfield 42-yard line and reached the 15-yard line before being halted. To retaliate, the Renegades then took the ball, after Emile Girard had intercepted what was to have been Taft's scoring pass, and advanced it

Peterson's Record O. K. as Ball Tosser

Former California Star To Coach Renegades

To say that Basil Peterson, the new Renegade basketball coach, has a basketball record as long as he is might be termed by some an exaggeration—the moroso inasmuch as Mr. Peterson is approximately 6 feet and 6 inches tall. Well, one needn't take our word for it. Look for yourself.

Mr. Peterson started playing basketball when he was just a little boy (probably not much over 6 feet tall) in high school. That year the Berkeley High School quintette, of which Peterson was center, won the state championship. Newspapers called him an all-state center, whatever that means.

Then Mr. Peterson entered the University of California and, possibly because of his pleasing personality, he was elected captain of the Frosh five. Two years as center and sometimes forward on the U. C. Varsity rounded out his college basketball career. It is an interesting coincidence that during both of these seasons U. C. won the Pacific Coast Conference title.

Last year, as a graduate student at Berkeley, he played with the Athens Athletic Club of Oakland, which was runner-up in the Pacific Athletic Association to which it belonged.

Mr. Peterson has come to Bakersfield this year as a science teacher in the high school. He has been assisting Jack Frost in coaching the lightweight football squad. Soon he will take over the Jaysee basketball squad.

And may his name continue to be associated with such cheerful things as championships!

80 yards down the field without once losing possession.

With the mighty "Tiny" Martin for its bulwark, the line held perfectly while the backfield was going through its steps.

The linups:

Renegades	Position	Taft J. C.
Zaul	E	Ward
Rencher	E	Buchanan
McNamara	T	F. Gribben
Dumble	T	Bowman
Dougherty	G	C. Grady
Dupes	G	J. Grady
Martin	C	Boucher
Gabriel	G	Goldstein
Wilton	LH	McCormick
Tyack	F	Lighthall

Au Revoir to Coach Harder

"Thank you" is occasionally a most inadequate term. Can it convey to the man who has coached the Renegade football team to county championship and a position as one of the strongest junior college teams in the state, Theo "Spud" Harder, an idea of our appreciation of his work?

Mr. Harder has been donating his services to the eleven. It became known a month ago that he would have to complete several more units of work at Stanford before he could obtain his teacher's license, and that until then his name could not appear on the school payroll.

Rather than give up the work he had started, however, he chose to remain as unofficial coach to the Renegade squad.

He has accomplished that which he started out to do—taught those intricate Stanford plays to a junior college eleven, and turned out a winning team.

Immediately following the close of the football season, Mr. Harder will return to Stanford for a short period in order to complete his university work. He expects to return to Kern County Junior College with the coming of the new year.

JAYSEE TENNIS MEN ORGANIZE

Organizing Tuesday, October 28, tennis players of the Kern County Junior College voted to hold weekly practice sessions on Thursday afternoons to augment the gym periods. Mr. Lynn, who is now busy with after school classes but who will be free later in the year, has agreed to coach the Jaysee teams, and it is hoped to schedule games with other junior colleges of the San Joaquin valley after New Years.

Among those who are now follow-

Basketball Hopes High This Year

With only one member missing from last year's quintette and a variety of new material in prospect, the success of Kern County Junior College's basketball season bids fair to equal that of its football season. While practice will not begin until football is definitely out of the way, that will probably be soon after the Thanksgiving holidays, according to Coach Peterson.

Bobby Wardwell and Harry Tatsuno, last year's forwards, are again available, and though light, are as slippery a pair as a guard would care to meet. Jerry Rencher played center in 1928-29 and is on deck again this season.

For the defense there is Joe Goodwin, a regular last year, Ed Stanley and Leslie Buckner. It is held probable that practice will bring to light a large number of new players.

Women's Team Tie in Soccer Tourney

The last soccer game of the season, played Tuesday, ended with sprained toes, kicked shins, and a 0 to 0 score. The Sophomore women's determination to annihilate the younger co-eds met with an equally destructive aim of the Freshmen, and no goals were gained by either side during four games.

Soccer, a much rougher and faster game than Association, is rather wearing on the more tender portions of the players' shins, toes and dispositions.

The women who played on the teams were: Freshmen—Marian Harmon, captain; Marie Pieper, Helen Rawley, Ralpa Sanders, Peggy Elrod, Eva Mae Stinson, Katherine Goode, Margaret, Baptie, Alwortha Hall, Lillian Reynolds, Evelyn Hite, Helen Jarman, Betty Peterson, Edna Kelly, Hazel Belsit, Ruth Donat.

Sophomores — Kathlyn Krammes, captain; Jewell Permenter, Helen Olson, Virginia Bristol, Evelyn Palmer, Jeannelle Eskridge, Mariana Lorenz, Carol Buchner, Lucie Gegarian, Gertrude Williams, Ruth Kim.

ing the game are Marion Smith, Cornelius Siemens, Herbert Enns, Harold Tabor and Jack Teale.

Siemens is the owner of the Wasco High School interclass cup, having made good his title by winning it three times straight. Smith, Enns and Tabor are all experienced players. Teale's is a beginner, but is making progress.
