Guests will be entertained by a variety of musical acts, including a live band and a dance troupe.

The ball will be open to all students and guests, and tickets are available for purchase at the college office.

The event will feature a variety of activities, including games, contests, and food and drink offerings.

The event will conclude with a grand finale, featuring a fireworks display and a fireworks show.

The event will be sponsored by the college's Student Activities Committee and is open to all students and their guests.
Grapevine Gab...

Of course we are all well aware that those early Thanksgiving sales have come back into vogue. Many stores now advertise these sales, with the result that our shopping centers are quite crowded.

In the case of the old-time department stores, the sales are usually advertised in the newspapers a week or so before the holiday. These sales are designed to attract customers who are looking for holiday gifts. The stores offer a variety of discounts on their regular prices, and they often have special sales on items that are in high demand, such as clothing, electronics, and home goods.

In addition to the early Thanksgiving sales, many stores also offer late-night shopping hours on Black Friday, the day after Thanksgiving. This is a popular option for customers who prefer to shop later in the day.

Finally, many stores offer online sales during the holiday season. These sales are usually advertised on their websites and social media accounts, and they often include free shipping and other perks for customers who make purchases online.

Lounge A Disgrace To BJC

It seems pretty hard to believe that those sophomores who campaigned so fervently and last year for the inclusion of lounge, and those freshmen who should be thankful for a place to relax during free periods could let the place get in the condition it is in now. Paper waste strewn all over the floor and magazine scattered all over the furniture hardly makes it a place that faculty members would want to point out to visitors. It is, in a way, representative of our campus life, and it screams one word—CARRY BOTTLES. As long as we seem to feel entitled to enjoy the lounge every free minute, it seems as though we should feel obligated to clean it up once in a while.

The criticisms which we hear voiced about the lounge are not directed at any one organization. The clubs did good jobs when they assigned the "clean-up" task; the fault lies in the fact that such assignments are necessary.

The worst thing about this whole matter is that there is a very real danger that the lounge might be turned back into a classroom as it was previous to last year. "Classrooms are at a premium and this room could be used to a much better advantage in that capacity than it is now.

All that is being asked of those who use the lounge habitually, is that the material they see be put where it belongs. This does not mean giving a desk of cards a toss and hoping that, they fall in the right place; it means stacking them up and leaving them on the table or in the drawer. It does not mean stuffing the magazine under the cushions; it means putting them in the magazine rack provided.

Members of the executive council have voted to spend both time and money to repair the furniture and in general clean up the lounge. We are starting with a clean slate when we come back from Christmas vacation. We will have an opportunity then to keep the lounge something to be proud of, and not something that will cause painful embarrassment every time a stranger appears on the campus.

RANDOM RUSTLES

Sardines

Have you started your Christmas shopping yet? Shopping you say? Show a street through a mass of people all intent on buying something that hasn't been on the market for three years is a very new experience.

At least it explains the strain by which "progressive." Congratulation -

To the BJC Drifters on their hard won football title. The game last Friday was-fun-fun-fun-the kick-off to the best points of play.

Criticism - The flag-rising "rencontre" held every morning demands the attention and respect of every one. It is not something that any students are supposed to merely notice as we rush

If we are in sight of the flag pole to our second period classes. We are supposed to stand and remain quiet until the last ruck has saluted and left the scene. Respect for the flag in a basic part of patriotism.

Enjoyed recently -

One of the most amusing things is for my brother John and using up all the bubble solution before he ever saw the thing.

Cheers - To the general confusion between classes is now added the thinking in those Christmas bols the high school girls tie on their shoe strings. I wonder how the librarian is surviving the school?

It was really a thrill to see our Florence Easter crowned Miss Kern County Tuesday night. We might be prejudiced, but her chances of winning that contrast in Hollywood seem pretty great.

Balancing Scales-

Every club "school" seems to be conducting some sort of money raising campaign. One club will sell, another sells a turkey, the French club plans to sell oranges, etc.

A brown coat has been left in the 3G library for a number of weeks, and the librarian wishes that the owner would claim it. It is possible to make up for it if the coat is not claimed, it will shortly appear in the form of a new floor covering.

Fortune Magazine Publishes Survey

Surveys seem to be very popular in a country such as ours where freedom of speech is a cherished thing. Surveys show all in the Joneses, the Hansons, the O'Haras and the Pavlov of America are thinking. Since the results of the Survey, the O'Haras and the Pavlov of America largely determine what shall be done about current problems. Future trends can only be judged by determining what they are thinking.

One of the most complete surveys on public thought to be published recently is the one in the current issue of Fortune Magazine. Everyone has his own opinions, but surveys tabulate these opinions and their trends of thought better than does any other instrument except the ballot box.

According to this survey, a very small majority (54%) of those sur- veied seemed to think that a third major war can be avoided but those pessimists who were of the opposite point of view named Russia as the most likely aggressor. It is very in- teresting to note that 95% were of the belief that the U.S. would start the atomic war.

"Everyone thought that everyone ap- peared to be a back seat director of the operations of the defeated enemy. To avoid the conclusion of" the reader of "Fortune," thoughtful enough, the population decided that our general attacks are proving quite well but that a number of the people who thought it possible in their methods.

Although it was generally conceded that Japan is over-populated, the "even-" division of opinion was in the favor of the interviewer decided that we should not make arrangements to have a war but to do things to make war as a possibility on the territory which they already have. As to the atomic bomb, feeling is that it has decreased the possibility of wars and that Russia will develop

Lance And Shield List New Members

At a meeting of the Lance and Shield held Tuesday, December 4, the members voted to purchase a Christmas tree to be placed in the lounge. The tree will be decorated with strings of popcorn and a large box of pop- cures will also be provided for stu- dents to eat.

It was also decided to buy a half page in the Recentour and cost was divided among the members.

Keys will be ordered and members wishing—B..om—.......—......—....—....—.....—..—.—. available, and costs varied.

New members were welcomed into the organization. They were Helen Corey, Emma Gibson and Dawn Stott. Two others, Ruthmary Hegarty and Elizabeth Lohman, previously voted in, were not present.

The results of this survey are, in part, contrary to the opinions of our beloved columnists, but they may be taken as true indications of what Americans are thinking about the world, problems we face.
