

BC OPENS DOORS; GADES SET TO PLAY

Stockton to Invade BC

by Richard Rhodes

Saturday night the Renegade football team will meet the Stockton College Mustangs in the opening game of the season at Griffith stadium at 8 p.m. The Gades will play a tough 11 games during the coming season. 6 of these games will be played at home.

The Stockton Mustangs will field one of their best teams in the history of the college. Coach Earl Klapstein has only six returning men from last year's squad. Only three of these are expected to make the first squad. Lloyd Serpa, a second stringer from last year is expected to do great things in the halfback spot. Ortho Drew, a first string line backer from last year, will be the backbone of the defensive squad.

Jerry Gillespie, second string Q.B. of last year's squad is expected to stay in that position. Mel Naiden who played on the College of Pacific freshman team, will likely be the first string Q.B. Hal Spencer, who also played for C.O.P. last year is a 165 lb. half back who holds the inter-scholastic low hurdles record in the city of Chicago.

Nine players will move up from the junior varsity squad to give the Mustangs strength in the forward wall. Rotus Harvey, All-Northern-California tackle has been moved to guard. Buzz Lally All-Conference center and last year's leading scorer George Graham, will also see action with the Mustangs. Ossie Gooden, with only one year experience as a H.B., runs the 100 yard dash in 9.9.

The Mustangs have a fine full-back in Ernie Maguire. He looks terrific, all 225 lb. of him.

In summing things up, the Mustangs are weak at the tackles, not sure of their ends, offensive and defensive, strong at the halfbacks, as in the center and line-backer positions.

Stockton is playing their toughest schedule in the history of the school. On their schedule are such teams as Compton and L.A.C.C.

QUAKE DAMAGE—The Junior college building on the corner of California Avenue and F Street suffered considerable damage during the "killer" quakes of July 21 and Aug. 22. The west wall of the building developed a definite bulge from the force of the initial quake and was further weakened by aftershocks. Following close inspection by structural engineers, the south wing of the J.C. building was closed for repairs and strengthening.

Quakes Slow Starting Date

by Don Righetti

Well, baste my summertime sun-tan and call me medium-rare; it's time to start back to school. Yes, with our little faces shining and our pints of earthquake-nerve soother sloshing merrily in our back pockets, we've once more wended our way back to the little shaken-down school house.

Oh, for my goodness sake! Will you look where the top brass is hanging out now days? The Bakersfield college offices are now located in the Hayward Lumber Co. building and we learn from the faculty members themselves that Burns Finlinson, dean of records, is now officially in charge of nuts and bolts, Edward Simonsen, dean of men, and Margaret Levinson, dean of women, are formally introduced as members of the hardware department, while Dr. Ralph Prator, president, is in charge of title one loans only. The counseling cubicle is now referred to as the "Scrap Heap."

The student lounge has been moved to the annex at the east end of the J.C. building. There is actually more room in this new location, and the student body is very fortunate to have retained any lounge at all with the present shortage of office space. Rumor has it, however, that all pinocle decks will have to be checked at the door. The rumor that failing men students will be conscripted into the 19th street work gang instead of being drafted has been denounced by higher sources as "wishful thinking," however.

Pint-Sized Rip

We of the Rip staff wish to apologize for the small size of this first edition. Because of the earthquake damage we were unable to use the Rip office, and this lack of a regular meeting place caused a great deal of confusion. This is the reason that we are unable to bring you a full-size edition at this time.

Bakersfield College Prexy Welcomes New Students

Dear Freshmen:

Welcome to Bakersfield college. Probably at no time in the past have we had the promise of such an exciting year as will be the year 1952-1953. In addition to the unnatural phenomena of the earthquakes we have a promise of several other innovations. For the first time in several years our present freshman class is larger than the freshman class which preceded it at Bakersfield college. This indicates that we are again on the upswing in our enrollment.

We have had more enthusiasm expressed on the part of our student groups who have had an opportunity to assemble before the beginning of school. I was tremendously pleased with the fine attitude of our student leaders at the leadership workshop which we held during the weekend of September 5 to September 7. Our football coaches are pleased with the spirit and quality of our football squad which has been practicing for several weeks.

The damage to our physical plant which came as a result of the recent earthquakes has actually made it possible for us to become more closely associated. Even though we have had to improvise, I think you will not suffer any lack of attention from members of the counseling staff and from members of the faculty.

It is my pleasure to invite you into a company of students who have a long and distinguished record for achievements. Employers of Bakersfield college students repeatedly say that the quality of the training students receive at the college is responsible to a marked degree for the rapid progress which they make on their jobs. Counselors, deans and presidents of collegiate institutions granting the baccalaureate degree have said again and again that transfer students from Bakersfield college are prepared in a superior way for the kind of responsibilities which they meet on the campuses of the four-year institutions.

You will be pleased with the instruction which you receive here. You will be assured to know that we have an excellently qualified counseling staff to give you such counsel as may be required in making your plans for the future. More important than all, I think you will enjoy your associations with the sophomore class. These more experienced students have made Bakersfield college an excellent place for your further education. Again "welcome to Bakersfield college" and may all of you have a most pleasant and profitable school year during 1952-53.

Cordially yours, RALPH PRATOR

Hey! Get Your Student Body Cards

Purchase of a student body card indicates your support of the student body activities including assemblies, rallies, and social affairs, also the maintenance of your student lounge. Dr. Edward Simonsen pointed out today.

Other benefits include a subscription to the Renegade Rip and a copy of the yearbook, the Raconteur.

Student body card holders are also entitled to admission to all conference games, and to all home athletic contests, with the exception of championship and exhibition games, and have the privilege of participating in forensics and the student body play.

Rip, Rac Heads Make Bid For New Staff Members

Editors of the Renegade Rip, college newspaper, and the Raconteur, the college annual, today kicked off an intensive campaign for staff members with the opening of a special booth at the scene of final registration today and tomorrow on the north side of Harvey auditorium.

Other Rip and Rac activities include a tentative ski and snow trip to Badger Pass in Yosemite sometime in January.

Welcome, Frosh Glad You're Here

Welcome, Frosh!

Purpose of the booth, which is event No. 1 in a series of promotional activities, is to inform students of the values to be gained from working on a student publication. Printed and mimeograph material will be handed out to registering students.

Exact theme of the booth is shrouded in secrecy. Editors Wanda Weeks and Norma Polston of the Rac and Rip editor Don Righetti were evasive when approached for a statement.

Righetti did reveal that plans were cancelled for an appearance of child actress Ave Gardner who was to have ridden a purple elephant, when negotiations with the elephant's agent fell through.

Misses Weeks and Polston pointed out that no experience is necessary and that jobs would be open in art and cartooning, business and advertising, photography, sports, student activities, circulation, writing, and the department of general all around handyman.

Righetti echoed the same for the Rip and went on to mention the publication party, open to the student body, which has been scheduled for Oct. 3, the night of the Bakersfield-Ventura game. Advance arrangements for attending the shindig may be made in the Rip or Rac offices.

Probably two years and sixty-four units seem pretty stiff. Halved, however, these proportions shrink. And, considering that this year consists of six home football games, twenty-six issues of the Renegade Rip, several after-game dances, the Christmas and Easter vacations, plus those rest periods before finals, the season seems pretty short.

In fact, you'd better hurry and get your student body card to get full use out of it.

To keep boredom from setting in, there are the woman's pom-pom team, the staffs of the Rip and the Raconteur, and clubs of every type, which you are urged to join.

A word of advice—get your books and student body card early. Text book supplies have a way of running short, and Saturday's football game and dance are free to card holders.

So, when you have filled out umpteen forms, and the remaining stack is taller than you are, and you have waited from dawn to sunset for your books, remember—we are rooting for you and are glad to have you.

Ahoy! Cheer Leaders

Tryouts will be held this Saturday at the Stockton game for cheer and song leaders," stated Linda Beatty, of the rally committee. All interested men and women students are invited to participate.

Elections are to be held September 24 and 25 when the freshman officers also will be voted on.

Girls' Drill Team

A new experiment is in the offing this year at Bakersfield college. It is a girls' pom-pom team comprised of sixteen co-eds. Clad in white sweaters and red skirts the group will make their debut at the Stockton game tomorrow night.

The girls will also travel with the band and make two television appearances at the Glendale and East Los Angeles football games.

735 Register For Fall Term

Student enrollment at Bakersfield college is running at the levels of last year with a reported 735 students having completed preliminary registration, according to Burns Finlinson, college dean of records.

"With enrollment numbers dropping off in many junior colleges, Bakersfield's figures look encouraging," Finlinson said. "We have some Korean veterans returning to school and we have made application for veterans training under the provisions of the new G.I. bill passed by congress several months ago," Finlinson added.

Finlinson urged students to attend the final validation of registration today and tomorrow on the north side of Harvey Auditorium.

Little, Gore Honored As Silvers Edge Reds

With the Stockton game looming as one of the toughest games of the season Saturday night, the Gades got back to double sessions after the sixth annual intra squad game where the Reds rallied to win out over the Silvers 33-26. One of the biggest crowds ever to witness an intra-squad was on hand as over 3500 fans marched through the gates.

Little, Gore Win Plaque

Dean Little, fullback for the Silvers, and guard Gary Gore were awarded the Rue Pollock award at the Friday game. Veterans of last year's Gade squad were ineligible for the award.

Frost claimed the Gades are farther along than at this same time last year. The performance was a bit ragged but was coming along okay. Burnell Jamerson had to leave the game at the half because of a case of boils. Morris Maytubby took Jamerson's place for the Reds, and Larry Pearson took Maytubby's place on the Silvers.

Saturday the powerful Renegades may have their hardest game of the season with Stockton. Stockton College has been a power in Northern California football circles, and reports from Stockton say the Mustangs have one of their best teams in several years, as do the Renegades.

The Renegades have been working out for the last three weeks perfecting offense and defense for this coming season which will be a hard one. Every team in the Metropolitan conference boasts of stronger squads. Long Beach has garnered some footballers from Loyola which has done away with football. Los Angeles Valley and El Camino are getting some likely candidates from the surrounding high schools.

Starring on Television

KHJ-TV (channel 9) is again televising junior college football. Last year Bakersfield college had one of their games televised, making it the first game the Renegades had been televised on. This year Bakersfield will have two of their games on the screen—Glendale and East Los Angeles. Next week the Gades travel to Glendale for the first TV tilt. Maybe in a year or so KHJ-TV may come to Bakersfield to televise a game—never can tell. The radio coverage of the Bakersfield games will be handled by KBIS and KERO.

Sport Tid Bits

Because of the smallness of our college band, a drill team is being trained to march behind the band.

Another innovation—a mascot. Jerry Schneider, chief justice of the student body, has gotten a collie to represent Bakersfield college as its official mascot. The mascot will be present at all the games and functions.

The town is really behind our Renegades, more so than in the past. If the town really turns out for the games along with the students, the Gades may rise to greater heights and possibly a bid for the Junior Rose Bowl.

Have you noticed the Renegade posters in the store windows around town? Rippey was in charge of making it up and Ray Rees, of the Bakersfield Printing Co., was in charge of printing them.

Two hundred Renegade posters have been distributed around greater Bakersfield to advertise the team.
