Jim Richmond Elected New Student Body Prexy

Jim Richmond, sophomore, student body president, was elected student body president in the recent school election. His con- test was the only one in which there was a town election. His victory was a full explanation of the morale of the student body. He has shown a substantial majority in every civic event since the election.

Other elected officers of the student body are: Mary Kate, vice-president; George Weaber, business manager; Betty Jones, secretary, and Jack O'Neil, director of assemblies. The school's administration is: Dr. J. H. Purdy, president; Dr. E. H. Bell, assistant principal; and George Webber, business manager of the student paper.

Drama Dance Duo To Present Program

The freshly elected dance duo will be presented as the assembly theme this week. The dance is a full-color production featuring the talents of the student body. Let's Get It Settled!

For the past two years now, the disposition and conduct of the lounge has been a major issue in the side of the student executive council. With a history of regulations posted to prohibit smoking, and alcohol playing, the lounge has assumed a role in our student government equivalent to the foreign policy in the national government.

A committee to study the rules for the lounge was set up in the fall of 1953. The committee consisted of five student representatives, three faculty members, and one student body member. The committee met and discussed the problems of the lounge, and made recommendations for its improvement.

The committee's recommendations were adopted by the student body, and the lounge is now open for student use. It is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and is available to students for study and social purposes.

The lounge is a place where students can come to relax and socialize. It is open to all students, and is available to those who need a quiet place to study or to have a meal. It is open during the day and at night, and is available to all students.

The executive council of the student body will continue to monitor the lounge and its activities, and will take action if necessary to ensure its proper operation.
WHAT PRICE KENAYVAKSIAIT?

1. For hundreds of years the Inuit of Jethiva Island in Northern Canada have been an Eskimo tribe and hunting ground. The Inuit Eskimo were born through the North Sea as did the Inuit and Inupiat. They were nomads in the same way that the Inuit are, and while primitive, was a happy one.

2. Eight years ago the Canadian government set up a new town of family advance under which the Inuit island Eskimos were moved out of the Jethiva Island Eskimo settlement. This new town was called "Kenayvaksiait" for the Eskimos, represented more money that ever seen at one time.

3. To the Eskimos, their new found wealth was a blessing in disguise, since they could catch their nets now. Most of them lost their hunting and fishing permits and moved to the trading posts where they received more handouts and could buy the minimum of civilization.

4. The Eskimos' new life was sad and dull—far from what they expected, but because they no longer needed to provide for themselves they didn't care. At first, the government gave them money to buy the minimum of civilization. But this was their worst mistake. The handouts were in excess, but this was to their advantage. For the Eskimos, this was their worst mistake. They had no chance to learn to use the tools of modern industry and education.

5. The important point of the story is that education is the key to proper living in this country. Any system, whether it be a rich or a poor one, will fail if it does not provide education for all that need it. Handouts will not solve the problem, but will only keep the Eskimos in a state of poverty.

Nervous in the Service

By Jackie Silver

I began my duties with a deep sense of anxiety after hearing of the departure of several campus dignitaries. Just before the group of outstanding figures, Bill Williams, Bruce, Dave Wilcox, Bill and Bill and Bill Wilcox, came into the room, I was feeling anxious. I had been told to expect several visitors, but I did not expect any until the end of the week. Take a tip, girls, don't share!

Books for Ducks?

While on your campus, you may encounter various initiatives or contests that involves books and ducks. One such initiative is the "Books for Ducks" program, which encourages students to donate books to ducks in need. This initiative works by asking local libraries or bookstores to drop off boxes for people to contribute books. Ducks, on the other hand, are known for their love of reading, making them perfect recipients of these books.

Gades are Gladiators In Cool Court Capers

Basketball is a fine invitation. It summons them, spring cradled in its bosom battle of will and skill.

In order to play, there must be something to play against. It may be the can't-be-beaten convinced of the opponent. Or, it may be that the players have come to realize that they are not the only team around. In either case, the game will be on a high plane.

Features

Playing while hours piously pass around the courts in the gymnasium is something that can be achieved by the coach. He does an extraordinary job on the court, and it is a wonder that a player of 125 pounds can do so much work and still enjoy himself. The coach has a big bag of tricks to help him get over to the boys. His pep talks and his否-saying have been heard. Plus, there is no shortage of basketballs on the court.

The result: the basketball team is on a winning streak. It has been a good season so far, and the coach is confident that the team can go on to bigger and better things.

Baseball Nine Opens Season Against Sequoias and Fresno

The Renegade baseball nine, primed for its season opener, will travel to Visalia Friday, to encounter the College of Sequoias Giants. Saturday, the diamond team will stick to its home grounds at Second and F streets to play against Fresno JC, in a double header. The first game is scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday, the Giants meet the Gators here.

The Bakerfield nine, composed of the conference this year, being the defending champions, Presley will be on them in every game. But if they can get up to where they were last year, as in the game at Long Beach City College, East Los Angeles College, and San Diego Junior College, another team should win the banner in Dr. Simnon's office.

Besides the conference crown, the Renegades will defend their championship title, of the Pacific -

Northern, which is the best junior college nine in southern California. The tourney is scheduled for April 10th, with the semi-final play, Harold Lynch, another Bakerfield nine player, will be batting for the number two spot on the staff. Besides, the Bakerfield nine will give the Elks a good strong contest.

Starting Lineup

Coach Earl Corbin of the Padres named his starting nine.

Don Dean, senior, will open the game for the Padres. With this strong starting nine, the Padres have a good chance of capturing the conference title.

Gades, El Camino Tied As Season Near's Ends

The Renegade and Giant baseball teams opened the season at Long Beach City College for the second season in a row. The Padres won the first game, 6-2. The Giants won the second game, 10-7.

One Man and Coach

Compose Net Team

In a pre-season interview with the Renegade Rip, Coach Mac, trouble of the Bakerfield nine, disclosed that he had one candidate for the team after weeks of practice, and that candidates were not yet become eligible.

Ben Raven, a versatile athlete who seems to be made up of things at Bakerfield College, has now turned out for the team,

and has taken the position of number one spot due to his experiences, which consist of one season of both period

last year.

"I hope to have five or six men standing for us to hold up the end of the schedule," Phifer said. He urged all Bakerfield players men with any experience whatever to turn out for the team.

This pre-game meeting is similar to the one which was present last year and which won the Padres to a place second place in the conference running.
