The Life You Save...

It is regrettable that many students do not se the value in "life-saving" work. This is to say, do not worth their time and energy in helping others.

Many of us who take part in the Red Cross Blood Drive plan are not fully aware of the importance of this work. We are aware of the need for blood, but it is difficult to see the direct result of our efforts.

To some there was more concern in the search for an efficient system of life-saving than in the actual saving of lives. To others, the thought of the fact that students were helping to save lives, brought no results.

The Red Cross Blood Drive plan is an example of what can be done when we work together. It is a reminder of the importance of our efforts.

Despite the professional pressure, it is not wise to be too specialized in a field. It is wise to be aware of the importance of our work, and to be aware of the importance of the work of others.

This is not to say that our own is not important. It is important, but we should not be too specialized, too much a part of one field.

The work of all fields is important, and we should be aware of the importance of each.

The "Annie" show was coming again the other day, because I was so interested in it. I went to see it, and I was not disappointed.

The show was as good as the first time I saw it. I was impressed by the acting, the singing, and the music. I was also impressed by the set design and the costumes.

I was particularly impressed by the way the cast worked together. They were all very good, and they worked well together.

I think "Annie" is a great show, and I would recommend it to anyone who is interested in theater. I hope it comes back soon, so I can see it again.

SC Coach Jess Hill On Panel; Cuts Loose

By Gary Girard

Two of the leading sports figures in Southern California, Jess Hill, head football coach at USC, and Bob Samelson, sports editor of the Pasadena Star-News, left a sports panel discussion at the 70th Annual Newspaper Day—sponsored by the USC School of Journalism. Three students were on the sports discussion at USC Saturday.

Hill and Samelson both made known a number of policy of policy.

Answer to the thought of the great game.

Asked what he thought of the great game, he pointed to the Los Angeles Times.

"We made more mistakes than they did," said Samelson. "Fifteen Long Beach men walked onto the field with 14 Renegades, with free passes to the game.

"BC Wonders Better."

"Sagging against the game, the Long Beach defense played the game well. "—Hill pointed out this game, "might get too much publicity. Hill answered, "A boy, a sometime player, might get too much publicity. Let him be his brother's best.

"We have a system to keep him off the team, but if he does well, he has a chance to go.

"We gave him a week's rest and used a strong defensive team, and then when he can do it."

The question asked pointed to the Trojan's halftime huddle.

"Feudal Feelings Revealed.

Samelson also gave out sports stories of the touch, "Beginning sports writers use too flaky words," he said. He also said sports stories use too flaky words.

"Tell the story.

"We have a system to keep him off the team, but if he does well, he has a chance to go."

The Renegade splasher, doing a lot for LA Valley, has their first monoploy meet at Jefferson Pool last week. Coach Jim Turner reports that his boys are improving all the time and should become a real threat. The games last Friday were relatively poor but the Renegades are a good margin of 144-200.

"The BC swimmers took first at the bottom two, the 100 yard Freestyle and diving. Among them with best times, Rick showed in the 100 yard breast stroke, Gordon Eil, the 70 yard back stroke, Ken Crabill in the 220 freestyle, Bill Robinson on the back stroke, Bob Smith in the 440 and Wade Frederick in the individual medley.
