New Duties, Rules Up For Thursday Voting

by Jim Dreman, Rip Editor

The ASCB will try again, next Thursday, to get a vote on one institutional revision, after the last election was fouled up by ballots that didn't permit the voters to indicate their choices. The ballot was taken out of the ballot boxes at the last meeting, leaving the office of councilors of faculty only unvoted for. It is understood that two or three of the students present Thursday will run in the election, and have the office of councilors of faculty, and that the two or three who run will receive the necessary signatures.

Bookstore Plans Increased Stock On New Campus

Paul Grant, manager of the Bakersfield College bookstore, has announced that the bookstore will open to the public for the first time on the new campus.

Campus News Notes

Richard R. Smith, supervisor of student publications, said that the Bakersfield College newspaper will be published on the new campus.

Tuesday, Big Day For Norrn Harries

It was a big day Tuesday for Mr. Norrn Harries. The Harries greeted their new son, John Stuart Harries, and their first grandson, John Stuart Harries. The Harries also had the pleasure of meeting the new baby, and the new baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Harries.

Adoptive Abc

The American Bookstore Association have adopted a plan to aid polio fighters. The plan involves a donation of 10% of all sales to the Polio Research Foundation.

At Last it's For Real

It's now certain that these boxes containing furniture for the rooms at the new Bakersfield College campus will be opened. This is due to the fact that the furniture is of high quality and is guaranteed for one year.

Four University of California seniors were no match for their BC counterparts, as they took both rounds of Thursday night's contest in Harvey Auditorium.

Questions were received from all parties involved. The BC representatives, however, did their best to help the students understand the situation. The questions included those regarding the qualifications of the long and short leaders.

Easier is to Get Office

The other amendment to be voted on Thursday is one making minor changes in the qualifications for office. The rule being changed is that a candidate must carry at least a B average in all units. In its present form it will call for two averages of 85 and 75 in all units; i.e., previously one had to pass certain units at certain grades, now he has to pass certain units at 85 and 75 in all units.

Going Away Present

The new campus included a discussion on what BC would like as a gift. For this purpose, a "going away present" for the "end of High A. "Bedecked" was suggested, but that matter was delayed for further study. There is a possibility that a book may be purchased that could be a gift for the students of the new campus.
Bishops Remain in Contention; Second Round of Play Begins

Still much is the Mestie news, according to Coach Gil Bishop, the Rancho basketball team will be decked with a perfectly high feeding from Montana County for tonight in the showdown. The game will mark the beginning of the second round of play in the conference. The Gods have finished the first half with a round of four wins, but two for.

The Red and White team is currently tied with the week's opponent, Notre Dame, after dropping their opening game last Friday night. John Potter, the star of the team, and now our representative of the conference, has come from previously undisclosed sources to the Rancho's coaching staff.

The Ranchoes have been quite a picture this season and have shown they are capable of holding their own against the stronger teams. They beat to El Dorado and Beat the plate in the conference.

Let's Resurrect 'Dead'!

During the recent finals, a list of discussion groups went around on "Dead Week." The goal of "Dead Week" was to have a final discussion before exams that would be more meaningful than the average classroom discussion and that would help students prepare for the upcoming exams."Dead Week" also allowed students to vent their frustrations on everything from parking to administration.

The idea of "Dead Week" is not new. In 1976, the last time the Olympics were held in California, the students at California State University, Los Angeles, held a similar "Dead Week." The idea was to give students a chance to express their feelings about issues that were important to them.

"Dead Week" was sanctioned by the ASB and the Academic Senate. The ASB was responsible for organizing the events and the Academic Senate was responsible for overseeing the events.

The ASB and the Academic Senate are planning to hold "Dead Week" again next year. They are also planning to expand the events to include discussions on campus life, such as student issues, faculty issues, and administration issues.

BC Student Relates Experiences As KBAK-TV Program Announcer

By Linda Pethok

Kerri White, BC market research associate for KBAK-TV, appeared on the program yesterday afternoon. She related her experiences in working on the show, as well as the fun and challenges associated with it.

Kerri White, who will be attending UC Berkeley next fall, was excited to share her experiences with the audience. She spoke about the different aspects of working on the program, such as preparing scripts, conducting interviews, and handling last-minute changes. Kerri also shared some humorous stories about behind-the-scenes moments.

Kerri's experience with KBAK-TV has been both educational and enjoyable. She appreciated the opportunity to learn more about the production process and the importance of effective communication.

Record Book Opened To Show Basketball Halfway Statistics

The Record Book, opened for the first time in the history of the basketball team, will be unveiled today at the halftime ceremony in the halftime show. The Gophers are heavily favored in their second game and are tied for first place in the men's basketball division.

The Record Book contains records and statistics from the entire season, as well as TV ratings for the halftime shows. It is hoped that the Record Book will serve as a valuable resource for future generations.

by Marilyn Valentine

Religious and cultural groups over the province are now engaged in the process of moving eight new religious and cultural groups into the province, including: a Roman Catholic diocesan news service, a new publishing company, and a new religious radio station. These new groups will be housed in the new provincial capital building, which is under construction in Bluffs, the new religious and cultural capital of the province.

3-D'S INVADE BC CAMPUS

Huge Scholarship

Even though the 3-D film industry is struggling, there is a significant amount of money available for students interested in the field. The requirement for a scholarship is that the student must have a strong interest in the field of 3-D film and a minimum GPA of 3.5. The scholarship amount is $10,000 per year.

Piling Up

An interesting aspect of the 3-D film industry is the growing number of 3-D films being produced. This year, there are at least 12 new 3-D films being produced, and this number is expected to continue to grow in the coming years.
