Bakersfield's Renegades put their solid second place national ranking on the line against Central's 15th annual Potato Bowl tomorrow night at eight in Memorial Stadium.

The Kern County Shrine Club's benefit classic is rated by BC coach Ray Newman as the most important postseason game faced this year. It is Newman's opinion that the national college championships will be decided tomorrow night in Memorial Stadium.

Bakersfield and Central, nationally ranked second and seventh respectively, have compiled win records for the season of 8-3. Both lost to UCLA on Saturday, the High-Bird Vikings from Long Beach; BC in 27-7, Central, 25-16.

Quarterback Dick Monday and varsity coach Dick Monday, Jr. will be on hand nightly and in full contact Wednesday before taking a three day-Thanksgiving holiday. They have made last minute plans to tape their side every night, taping off yesterday and today to complete the presentation.

Principal target of the Renegades' defense will be the Falcon triple threat - quarterback Bob Alvarado, left half Mario Mendez, and JC 60 American fullback Bob Baggwell.

Bakersfield has put up its best season in years as far as offensive and defensive records are concerned. The Gauchos piled up an impressive total of 3,050 yards on the ground while allowing only 1,169, and scored 31 points against their opponents 86.

The Falcons from Norwalk gained 2,050 yards rushing to 1,270 for their opponents. Central points total came to 320, they allowed 124. This will be the Bakersfield's seventh appearance in the Spud Classic. They dropped the first two games and will be trying to bring their record to five straight bowl victories tomorrow night.

And It Was Only a Short Flight

The other night, a friend of mine who had just returned from a trip to Europe mentioned that he had taken a short flight to get there. "It was only a short flight," he said, "and I didn't even notice it." I was curious and asked him to explain. He explained that he had flown on a small plane, and that the flight was only about an hour long. I was impressed and asked him what the plane looked like. He described it as a small, single-engine plane with a blue and white livery.

Four Metro Gridders Star in All-Star Game

BC Cagers Play in Two Tournaments

Gade Lines

Renegades Retain Solid Second Place

by Vic Pallone

These big, bad Apache from Texas Tech discovered something last Saturday in the Junior Rose Bowl that the Renegades and all other college basketball teams feared they had never encountered. The Red Raiders were a terrific football team.

Long Beach, whom the publishers had ranked a one-point underdog, mainly because of the Texas’ slight weight advantage, soundly whipped the Indians, 38-16, to place themselves undeniably in first place in all the national ratings.

But with the convincing win, the Renegades remained in all the top five in the nation, except against Long Beach, of course. BC has firmly established itself as one of the top two grid groups in the U.S., according to the All-American Basketball Year Book.

The Gade quartet went to Santa Ana JC last Tuesday to compete in the threethree-day Santa Ana Invitational Tournament, and journeys to Glendale on Dec. 26 to play in the annual Stom Yort Tourney which runs for four days.

BC coach Jim Nair stated that the Santa Anaaggies should be the strongest tournament in the state, since the host must be considered the strongest team in California; and most of the other teams, Humboldt, Orange Coast, Fullerton, are not too far be

The Sam Barry event will present a valuable glimpse at eight “Metrojournalistic prospective teams,” which the Nair men start meeting in regular season play Jan. 6.

BC Five Wins in Double Headers

If the Renegade basketball team continues to roll as it has this past week, it could very well be as good as last year’s quintet which went to the state junior tournament.

The Gade quartet pushed their season record to 4-2 with wins over Football College (56-50) and Monterey Peninsula (56-55), in a change partners double header both College of the Sequoias. The first game was at BC Friday night, with the second to Venus on Sat.

Guard Mark Hansen was the big man in both games, scoring 49 points in the two sets. His 20 points were backed up by 10 from guard Art Keller and nine from senior Mike Abbass. The BC-56 victory over Football. Howard Thomas slipped in 12 points-Satur day; while BC’s Mike Abbass scored 21 for the Metro championship, 25 for the Metro championship. Keller had 11 points the second night.

Wrestling Accepted as Varsity Sport at BC; 22 Out for First Practice

"Wrestling is now an official varsity sport at Bakersfield College, and there will be 22 men out for the first regular practice Monday with four more expected to come out after the Christmas holidays."

"A basis for lettering in wrestling will be found in the BC varsity schedule starting with the Cal Poly Invitational in San Luis Obispo on Jan. 11, our only meet on the rustic schedule.

The decision was prompted pending receptions of the sport on a varsity level by the Board of Representa tives Tuesday. BC Director of Athletics, T. C. C. Raw, stated that participation in 30 per cent of the matches will probably be the system of rewards.

The Renegade wrestlers have a team policy of having a dual schedule starting with the Cal Poly Invitational in San Luis Obispo on Jan. 11, our only meet on the rustic schedule.

Wrestling is not organized in the junior college conference, but Coach Harry Knepper expects to enter Metro competition next year.

Newby, Burke, Bonilla, Buchanan Pace West Win

Bakersfield College and the Metropolitan Conference captured practically all the honors available in the east-west junior college all-stitch football game played last Saturday at Albuquerque, N.M. West.

The western gridders triumphed in the overall contest, 27-16, a victory that was sparked by BC’s Iowa Dean Newby, Joe Bonilla, Vern Burke and San Diego JC slab Ed Buchanan.

Burke, in a close-up, Newby made one touchdown each, Bonilla was named outstanding lineman of the game, and Buchanan, the other cover-up for the West, made two touchdowns to capture the outstanding back title.

Newby, who couldn’t even make the first all-Metropolitan Conference team, ranked the starting QBs. "Burke and Bonilla, as well as his own halfbacking, was one of the decisive factors in the West’s victory."

The slippery Newby capped his junior college football career by throwing 22 passes for two touchdowns and two touchdown stuns during the contest. He gained 210 yards passing and 43 on the ground. The West did not complete 11 passes and caught 57 for 114 yards.

Failing tempos, fumbles, and miscalculated passes were committed throughout the game, probably caused by the hard, cold and the condition of the field which had to be scraped free of snow just before the contest.

The West lost the lead three times, largely because of fumbles and pass interceptions, but the erstwhile领先 had to bow to the superior line strength of the west squad.

Newby opened the scoring in the first quarter when he snatched the end left end for 20 yards with his famous boot play. The TD was set up by Buchanan who had advanced the ball 34 yards in two carries.

BC Combo

The East bounded back with a 28-yard pass from Byron Beas of Camarillo, Oklahoma, to teammate Mike Wallace. Beas, van the PA Tech, was the at.8 at the East’s favor.

Bakersfield College’s senior duo made it 13-7 in the third quarter when Newby, Steve Kasper, and the taller NC who kicked a field goal catch between two defenders.

Tommy Bratton, the East’s strongest runner, put his team ahead again, but Newby’s 44 yard TD scored to Buchanan, line in the third period put the West ahead to 9-7.

Buchanan pulled the final TD from the 3 after he and Newby had trained up on a tip play that scored for 35 yards.

Anderson, who also went to the All-Stars, shone in a fine performance. Anderson played in the game at both offensive and defensive positions.

The players who participated in the contest received jackets and watches; Bonilla and Buchanan were awarded trophies for their performances.
