The Board of Representatives voted Tuesday to lend $200 to the campaign fund for Proposition IA. A vote on whether the Board should grant the $200 was taken in the context of a motion to allow the Board to solicit campaign funds from a bond issue amounting to $270,122,098. The Board, however, voted 16-5-1 to reject the motion to solicit campaign funds, with 13 in favor of rejecting the motion and 3 abstentions. This decision means that the Board will not be able to solicit campaign funds from the bond issue.

The Board of Representatives voted for announcements in favor of Proposition IA. The Board debated whether to allow the campaign to solicit funds from the bond issue, or to allocate the $200 to the campaign fund directly. The Board decided to allocate the $200 to the campaign fund, with 16 votes in favor, 5 against, and 1 abstention.

The Board also discussed the potential for additional funding from the bond issue, with some members suggesting that the Board should seek additional funding. However, the decision was made to allocate the $200 to the campaign fund as it currently stands.

The Board also discussed the potential impact of the bond issue on the university, with some members expressing concern about the potential for increased debt and reduced funding for other programs. Others argued that the bond issue would provide much-needed funding for the university.

Can't Find That Book?-Look On Overdue List
By Joan Baker

Ever wonder why you just can't find that book in the library? Most people think of a student who steals a book or was a reader who returned a book late. Many more times the book has been overdue and the student has moved on to other books. Sometimes the book is not in the collection, but that doesn't mean there aren't other books on the same subject.

Here are a few strategies:

2.

Library Services. They said that you never overview a book over 90 days, unless you have aFERC on file. Many books are not placed back into the collection, but are lost forever.

The library has over 10,000 books that are not in the collection. This is one area for which a reader can help. If you know of a book that is not in the collection, please let us know. We will try to get it back into the collection.

GADIES FACE WARRIORS SATURDAY

Three straight straight victories over the last three meets have seen the GADIES take the lead in the league. At the 20th annual decathlon meet, the GADIES' women's team finished second overall, behind only the powerful Gator team. With 108 total points, the GADIES proved that they are a force to be reckoned with in track and field.

The GADIES' strong performance was due in part to the impressive showing of their distance runners. Among the standout performers was Joan Dutton, who set new league records in the 800 meters and 1500 meters. Dutton's performance was particularly impressive as she ran both events in consecutive heats, showcasing her exceptional endurance.

Other key contributors included Mary Smith, who set a new personal best in the 100-meter hurdles, and Jane Johnson, who dominated the long jump with a leap of 6.2 meters. The GADIES' strong showing in these events helped propel them to their second-place finish.

The meet was held on a beautiful sunny day, with enthusiastic fans cheering on the athletes from the stands. The GADIES' athletes were well prepared, with dedicated coaches and a supportive team atmosphere.

A special thanks to the hardworking volunteers who made this event possible, and to all the GADIES who gave their all on the track. Keep up the great work, GADIES!}

Jan Crowned ’62 Queen

Jan, a senior at the university, was crowned the 1962 Queen of the Homecoming weekend. The coronation ceremony took place at halftime of the football game against the rival university.

Jan’s selection was based on her leadership, commitment to community service, and outstanding academic performance. She has been an active member of the university’s student council and has volunteered extensively in the local community, including participating in the annual charity run.

Jan’s reign as Queen will include several obligations, such as participating in various Homecoming events and representing the university in public appearances. She is expected to wear a crown and a sash, and will be accompanied by her attendant, who will help her in her duties.

Jan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and is a resident of the university dormitory. She plans to continue her education after graduation and is considering a career in public service.

New Student Council Formed

The university has formed a new student council, which will replace the existing council. The new council is composed of students from various classes and majors, ensuring representation from all corners of the student body.

The council’s first order of business will be to develop a comprehensive plan for the upcoming Homecoming weekend. The council will also be responsible for organizing events throughout the academic year, such as the annual spring festival and the winter carnival.

The student council is an important part of the university community, providing a platform for students to voice their opinions and participate in the decision-making process.

New Facilities Opened

The university has opened several new facilities on campus, including a state-of-the-art fitness center and a modern student center. The fitness center features a variety of equipment and classes, and is open to all students.

The student center is a hub of activity, with a large auditorium for events and a cafeteria with a menu of healthy options. The center also houses several student organizations, providing a space for students to gather and socialize.

These new facilities are part of the university’s ongoing efforts to provide a modern and engaging campus experience for its students.

New Faculty Members Added

The university has welcomed several new faculty members to its ranks, bringing fresh perspectives and expertise to its teaching and research programs.

These new faculty members are from a variety of fields, including science, humanities, and business. They bring a wealth of experience to their new roles and are expected to contribute significantly to the university’s academic mission.

The university is committed to providing a diverse and inclusive faculty, reflecting the broad range of interests and backgrounds of its student body.

New Student Organizations Formed

The university has formed several new student organizations, including a music club and a photography group. The music club will host regular concerts and events, while the photography group will organize workshops and excursions.

These new organizations are part of the university’s ongoing efforts to provide a vibrant and active campus community for its students.
Big-Timers May Compete In National Alligator Races

"My Analyst"

"My Analyst" is a humor essay in the form of a letter to the editor. It is a satirical piece about the use of analyst tools in the stock market. The essay criticizes the overuse of these tools and the misinterpretation of the data they provide. It also highlights the limitations of such tools and the importance of critical thinking in making investment decisions.
