Students Drop Raccoon For GPA

By ARTHUR HAINES

There was some excitement among BC students last week when the raccoon which had been the pet of a BC student was released into the wild. It was a very unusual turn of events, and one that certainly caught everyone by surprise. The raccoon had been living with the student in his dorm room for the past few weeks, and was considered a valuable member of the BC community. The student had been trying to find a suitable home for the raccoon, but had been unable to do so. Finally, he decided to release it into the wild.

Here Are Two Final Ideas

Not long ago, an ancient club president had given some advice to all seniors: "Don't let the good times pass you by!"

One of the main ideas of the present club was to make sure that seniors did not miss out on the fun. The club organized a final farewell for the seniors, which was a great success. The seniors had a wonderful time and cherished the memories they created.

Hints for the Neophyte Exam Taker

The best advice for exam takers is to stay calm and focused. It is important to practice and review the material beforehand. Also, make sure to get a good night's sleep before the exam day.

Ta, Ta, Troopers; Or Goodbye Fans

By DON GREEN

susie, susie

Guess what. I have hung up my hat on its little stool, and renounced my right as the golden retriever, watchful, of the home platform. But before I go, I shall leave you my last word of advice.

Truly I say unto you, as for as much as you have done it shall be returned unto you in the same measure. But for now, I bid you farewell.

At the outset of this great campaign, I humbly pray that our efforts and the efforts of those who are with us, may bring about a victory for the people of all time. He was a man who showed initiative, a man who was willing to risk his life in order to achieve the things he believed in. And, above all, discretion that he was a tower of strength. His name was Wheeler.

...Question.

...Never heard of him? Neither, did we. But after the picture day, which was by the way, the only day of the year in which his face was graced with a football uniform. That didn't stop us from pinning one of the biggest pictures of the year depicting his many feats in their radiant beauty.

On to some of my favorite people, the yell leaders with whom I was not well pleased in the beginning. Toward the end of the football season, several of them were wearing their uniforms and stopped paying attention to them. Maybe, they were down on their own initiative.

Hey, that's a word I'm beginning to like.

Enough of THAT trivia now. On to the real sickened game. The original football game. I spoke a word or two then the following Sunday, Teddy (the mouth) led.

Teddy went on to explain that the game was played with a new rule which went into effect only a week ago, and that it was his intent to inform the press about a very unique feature of the game. He pitched a fellow to some far away rehabilitation center.

Banged by the ball he said.

In all I am not vindictive, I have a great love for everyone of you. Do not cry, I go now. ExitStage

Laughing.

Spaniards, Band Pace Intramurals

By DAVE WESSELL

The Bakersfield College intramural activities are in full swing. The students have elected the Bakersfield College Band as the most popular of the intramural activities.

BC Swim Mauds 2nd at Pasadena CC

National record holder Bob Rees is pictured (water) winning the 100-yard backstroke at the State Meet in BC pool two weeks ago.
