Prop. 2 Concerned with Education

On November 5, the voters of the United States will be faced with an important question: should the federal government provide almost $2 billion to help the nation's schools? If you agree with the proposal, the federal government will have to shell out $9 billion for education over the next ten years. If you disagree, the federal government will have to pay only $1 billion for education over the next ten years. Opponents of the proposal say that the federal government should not provide funds for education, because it is a state responsibility. Supporters say that the federal government should help to provide funds for education, because it is a national responsibility. Regardless of your opinion, it is important to vote in this election. The future of our schools depends on it.

Poor Rooter Spirit Prevails at Game

There were very few people in the crowd who knew the game by the score or who even seemed to realize there was a game being played. The Lumberjacks did their best to make a game of it, but there were very few signs that anyone in the crowd was interested in the outcome. The Rattlesnakes, on the other hand, were quite pleased with the result, and the crowd was left to wonder whether there was a game or not.

The art and music concert is set for the evening of October 29th in the Sue R. Beeler Fine Arts Auditorium. The program is projected to be two hours in length.

Publicity!

By Dennis Swenson

As the Homecoming excitement mounts, so is the need to spread the word. And so the publicity committee, led by Steve Rockwood and Mary Thompson, is hard at work. The committee's goal is to make sure that every student, faculty member, and visitor to campus is aware of the Homecoming events.

The committee has been busy with posters, flyers, and other means of advertising. They have set up a tent in the center of campus, where students can pick up information and buy tickets for the various events. They are also working with the local radio and TV stations to get the word out.

The committee is also working on the Homecoming parade, which will be held on October 29th. They are planning floats, bands, and other entertainment to make the parade a success. The parade will start at 2:00 PM and will end with a grandstand performance outside of the Sue R. Beeler Fine Arts Auditorium.

The committee is working hard to make sure that the Homecoming events are a success. They are grateful for the support they have received from the student body and the faculty, and they are looking forward to seeing everyone at the Homecoming events.
