NO APOLOGY IS NECESSARY

A letter to the editor in this week's Renegade by Ron Barger, "appearing under the caption of 'Frankly Speaking,'" was thoughtful and well written. Ron Barger is a good writer and I am pleased to see his comments appear in print.

However, when I checked the piece of mockery, I realized that Barger, "one of the most colorful characters on campus" is obviously either in need of the infallibility of the presses or drunk.

In the essay, Barger incorrectly quotes me as saying things I never said. I am not certain whether Barger is drunk or purposely making a mockery of me. Either way, it seems that he is not being an honest citizen.

The issue is not one of 'Frankly Speaking,' but the issue of honesty and integrity in journalism.

I believe that Barger's letter is an example of why I support the free press. I believe that the free press is the best way to ensure that the truth is told and that justice is served.

I hope that Barger will think twice before making such false statements in the future.

I know that I will not be the last to make such a statement.

THE ISSUES & CANDIDATES

By Tom Villars

The election of 1969 was a test of the American political system. The issues of the day were clear:jobs, housing, and civil rights. The candidates were the same: the Republicans and the Democrats.

The Republicans stood for business and the Democrats stood for the people. The Republicans promised jobs and the Democrats promised more jobs. The Republicans promised housing and the Democrats promised more housing. The Republicans promised civil rights and the Democrats promised more civil rights.

The results were clear: the Republicans lost and the Democrats won. The Republicans promised too much and the Democrats promised too little.

Christmas A Big Plot

By Tim Savage

It's that time of year again, when the holiday season takes over and everyone gets into the festive spirit. The shops are decorated with tinsel and lights, and the streets are filled with people enjoying the season. It's a wonderful time to be alive.

Christmas is a time of giving, and there are many ways to give back to the community. We can volunteer at a local shelter, or we can donate food or clothing to those in need.

But no matter how you choose to give, it's important to remember that Christmas is about more than just presents and parties. It's about being kind and thoughtful to others, and spreading joy wherever we can.

So this Christmas, let's all do our part to make sure that the spirit of giving is alive and well. Let's spread the love and make the world a little brighter.
Hornets Drop Gades

by Don Streaves

The 1969 football season came to an end and the Colonial Charter and the baseball of the College Championship was decided by three straight losses by the Polytechnic Institute in a 25-0 meeting in a high-powered offense and defense. In the third quarter, when it counted the most, they fell apart and the Gades went on to score a touchdown. The Polytechnic Institute won 19-0. Hornet fans will remember this game as one of the most memorable in the history of the Polytechnic Institute. The 1969 Metropolitan Championship was won by the Polytechnic Institute.
