KILBURN PREDICTS
2,000 ENROLLMENT

by RICH SQUIRES

Bakersfield College students still have a wide variety of summer jobs to chose from, but an increasing number of them are considering college courses as their summer occupation. This is largely due to the fact that the summer attendance is up 30 percent this year, according to Dr. Ralph Kilburn, former director of the Center for Work Experience at the college.

Dr. Kilburn attributes this increase to the economy, which he said is "decidedly better" this year than in previous years. He also added that the college is offering more courses this year, which he said would be a "welcome change" for many students.

ATTENDANCE FLAT

Ralph Kilburn is the son of the late Ralph Kilburn, former director of the Center for Work Experience at the college. Kilburn said that, "In fact, the attendance here has only gone up 10 percent this year," which he said was due to the fact that the college is offering more courses.

"At the time of this publication, it is not known whether Kilburn's prediction will come true or not. However, if it does, then it would be the first time that the college has ever had a summer enrollment of 2,000 students."

pre-registration for tall semester urged

by John Smith

Appalachian 2,000 students have pre-registrated for the Bakersfield College fall semester, according to Dr. Miles Kilburn, the college's dean of students.

"Students are urged to register immediately," Kilburn said. "We have already seen a 10 percent increase in the number of students registering for the fall semester, and this trend is expected to continue.

MUSICAL COMEDY SLATED FOR JULY PERFORMANCE

by Ralph Kilburn

"I'm sure we'll have a good crowd of Bakersfield College students at the performance," Kilburn said. "We've had a lot of interest in the musical, and I'm sure we'll have a lot of people there."

KILBURN ELECTED E.V. DEAN

by Mike Wall

At a meeting of the student council last week, the college elected Ralph Kilburn as their student council president. Kilburn, who is a senior at the college, said that he is looking forward to working with the other members of the student council to make the college a better place for all students.

"I'm excited to be working with the other members of the student council," Kilburn said. "We have a lot of work to do, and I'm looking forward to making the college a better place for all students."
