State Board of Governors

Durkee is new chairman

Governor is Roger E. Durkee, Los Angeles deputy police chief. He will serve one the reorganization of the board when publisher Dean Leder of Oxnard's Press-Enterprise appointed a director of the California State University and Colleges.

The CC Board was created by legislation of Senate Bill 610 in 1957, authored by Senate White Stone Sis (D), a graduate of Bakersfield College. California's network of 99 community colleges, with two more under construction, is the largest public, 2-year educational system west of the Mississippi with an enrollment of more than 950,000 students.

Journalism Career Day

An all-day program of workshops, seminars, and interviews is in the planning stages for Journalism Career Day at Bakersfield College on Saturday, March 20.

Featured guests will include journalists, editors, and media from all Kern County High Schools. Following the program, there will be a panel discussion moderated by a faculty member. The panel will include representatives from local media and independent media.

Highlights of the program will be a lecture by Tom Lusinchi, editor of the Times-Advocate. The program will include an interview with a professional journalist. The event will be open to students interested in journalism.

The theme of Career Day will be focused on the job opportunities available in all aspects of communication including sports, media, books, and public relations.

Thomas vs. Gonzales for 33rd Assembly seat

A possible November election campaign between two Kern Bakersfield College faculty colleagues for the 33rd Assembly race has been announced.

Bill King, a professor of "American government" at BC since 1981, announced he will seek the Republican nomination for the Assembly seat held by Democrat Richard Gonzales, who won the district's seat in BC in 1980.

On a recent trip to Europe, Gonzales addressed the International Congress of the Assembly.

Gonzales said, "I'm thrilled to have won the nomination. I think the people of the 33rd District are looking for someone who will work hard for them and represent them.

In his official declaration, Thomas said, "I'm a teacher because I believe in education and in the future." He stressed the importance of providing high-quality education to all students.

Thomas claimed he has been a member of the Board of Education for 15 years and is familiar with the issues facing California's schools.

Up With People is coming

Up With People is coming to Bakersfield's Coast Auditorium next Wednesday evening (Feb. 8).

The international company of musical comedy artists recently tripped across a fine string of Spain and Belgium where they played to capacity audiences.

Up With People is many things... a cast of 150 young girls and world performers on stage, before audiences all over the world. It is a musical experience that combines pageantry, imagery, and beauty with the human mind.

The musical production was created in 1972 by Dian Alvanov and his wife, A.L. Avanov, and their group of people-people friends, and colleagues who are kind to them, and those people, the sky, and other people, the earth, and the rest.

The group is an independent, non-profit educational organization, based in Tucson, Arizona and Brussels, Belgium. Traveling professors and musical directors provide stimulating learning experiences that are presented to secondary school audiences, as a means of combining educational and entertainment goals.

In addition to the formal educational program, the "Up With People" global tour schedule exceeds its re-employment of people, and their events are available on page 3.

Churches and hard-sell tactics

Opinion columns are not just about topics that may be controversial. Sometimes they are about the methods used to convince people. A lot of our churches today are turning to hard-sell tactics, which is the topic of this letter. In this case, the letter writer, who seems to have some experience with churches, is writing to discuss whether this is a good approach.

One such church I attended recently was absolutely relentless. One night at prayer meeting the minister announced that the church was facing a financial crisis. With that, he turned to the choir, told them to get off their seats, and then directed them to sing a praise song. During the song, he told everyone that only a small percentage of churchgoers had contributed and that the church needed everyone to give to save it. He then announced that people could donate on the spot.

We live in a society that uses violence to express itself. Whether it's in the movies, video games, or even in the way we interact with each other, violence is a common theme. In this letter, the writer is discussing the impact of violence on society and how we as a society should respond to it.

We all read in the papers of gang shootings, school shootings, and domestic violence. We see it on television, newspaper, movies, and books. Mob violence is as old as civilization. Human life is based upon three things: law, order, and civilization. When one or two of those is missing, there is the potential for mayhem. Newspapers, TV, radio, and magazines such as Life, Rolling Stone, and The New Yorker cover the latest events and crimes.

In a recent episode of Entertainment Weekly, there was a piece on gang violence. The author, in an effort to shed light on the issue, talked about a gang leader's executive's favoritism. In a way, the article was like a movie, but in this case, it was real. There is a line in the movie 'Pulp Fiction' where Vincent Vega, played by John Travolta, says, "The best way to respect a gang leader is to execute his worst enemy." That line is also true in real life.

Abused issues

These issues are not just about the obvious ones like racism or sexism. They are about the way we treat each other. When we abuse others, we are not just hurting them, we are hurting ourselves. In this letter, the writer is discussing the importance of treating others with respect and the consequences of not doing so.

There should be a better way to see anger than sacrificing love at home. Unfortunately, the only thing we do is to sacrifice love.

What's wrong with joining the Reds and stopping the Reds in the game? We are mentally conscious, and our actions are not only our own but also those of the team. In a game, we can be sacrificed for our team, and God supports us. We may not be great in baseball, but we are great in our relationships.

The whole thing is, I believe, misleading everyone. We see)))

Aspects of Retirement

By Arthur Allen

A third look at the many different aspects of retirement is being afforded by the College of Continuing Education through a lecture-series sponsored by the Congregational Church, 7150 College St. The lectures will be presented three times each week from 9:15 to 10:45 a.m. and one from noon to 12:30. The fee is $3 each or $7 for the series for senior citizens.

The series, which started on March 1, runs through March 7, and will cover a variety of topics including retirement planning, vacations, recreation, research, and a number of other issues.

The series will be held in the fireplace room of the Congregational Church and will be led by a variety of instructors.

Frank Hunter, chairman of the series, said that the lectures will be a great opportunity for people to learn about retirement planning and the various aspects of retirement life.

Upcoming lectures will cover topics such as financial planning, legal issues, and health care.

The series will be open to anyone interested in learning about retirement and the various aspects of life after retirement.

For more information, contact the Congregational Church at 7150 College St.
Foreman: Quiet man with enormous talent

A popular champion and a former light heavyweight, Joe Frazier is the latest addition to the list of boxers who have been stripped of their titles. Frazier, who has been a professional fighter since 1958, has won several major championships, including the WBA and WBC lightweight titles. He is known for his strong, powerful style of fighting and his capacidad to carry a high percentage of his punches.

Grapplers to Phoenix

In the ring, Joe Frazier is a force to be reckoned with. His powerful punches and his ability to absorb punishment have made him a feared opponent. However, Frazier is also known for his quiet, reserved personality. He is often described as a man of few words who prefers to let his actions speak for themselves.

The price of church

I didn’t help but speak up against the whole idea of a church when I was a student. Church is expensive. In part, unanswerable question is in a church. To me, it’s not a place to go, except for what God tells us to say. It’s a matter of being there. If you have to say a prayer, or a kiss, or a kiss kiss, you can do it anywhere. They are not necessary for people who have money.

I wasn’t sure if the real word was being brought, being that the church was not a generous and1 generous person and that something you know absolutely nothing. You should cut the church and find out if it is a place to go, except for what God tells us to say. They are not necessary for people who have money.

Being a Sunday school teacher, I realized the beginning growth of our church, the strength of growth, dirty and clean words. That would mean a great many church doors. Even then the people go, what they do and what they can do. This isn’t the only way to be clothed, but, instead, Patsy, Jimmy, James, and many more of our church doors, culture, and the church.

To add something, I’m not an old lady anymore. I’m not one of the first to be a part of the change in the “New Church Generation.”

Patsy, you know what they say about these doors. They can be opened and it’s true. My heart is broken and the church doesn’t know what to say. It can be opened.

A stitch in time

A stitch in time saved the Frazzles as a week ago, but I can’t show a single change with it. A stitch in time saved the Frazzles as a week ago, but I can’t show a single change with it. It is a good stitch, a nice stitch. I can think of a better way to do it, but I don’t have the time.

According to my mother, I should have the late 1940s, the late 1940s, but instead, Patsy, Jimmy, James, and many more of our church doors, culture, and the church.

It must be twenty years since the place was painted. But you won’t be able to tell it when the job’s done: And while you’re working, the great taste of Coca-Cola keeps everybody happy.

The death of a language

The television “how-to” series “American English” is popular for teaching English to people who want to know how to speak the language. It consists of 26 half-hour shows, with the first showing the English language. The series was developed by the National Institute of Education and the English Teaching Exchange Program. The first episode, "The Meaning of the English Language" ("out of the bag"), is shown below.

Let’s not pretend any longer, we either need an American English with less grammar, or we should teach our own, new, and different language. The development of a new American language would involve a revolution of a special committee to form a new American English. It would involve a revolution of a special committee to change the existing American English. The committee would be composed of experts in various fields of American English, including the media, education, and business. The purpose of the committee would be to develop a new American English that is more relevant to the needs of today’s society. The new American English would be a more inclusive language, one that recognizes and accommodates the diversity of American society. The committee would work closely with schools and universities to ensure that the new American English is taught and used in classrooms. The new American English would be a living, evolving language that would continue to change and adapt to the needs of society.

The Cow and I

By FRANKINE POLO

The Spring 1974 Foreign Language Department presentation of "The Cow and I" will be "Mitteldeutsch," a German play by Rolf Hochhuth about the story of the Nazi regime told through a cow who tells of her life as a cow being used to carry out the vile orders of Adolf Hitler.

"Mitteldeutsch" is a three-act play which explores the psychological and moral implications of the Nazi regime and its impact on the individual. The cow, "Käse," tells of her life as a cow being used to carry out the vile orders of Adolf Hitler. The play raises questions about the nature of human responsibility and the role of individuals in shaping the course of history.

An oversupply of specialists

Prosperous social workers on the West Coast have been complaining that the government is oversupplying some of its services. This is true in many cases, but it can also be seen in the high cost of living. The government has had to increase its supply of certain services to meet the demands of the population.

Fanaticism and hypocrisy

Allowing television into schools has been controversial, but the debate is far from over. Many people believe that too much television is being shown, and that it has a negative effect on students. However, some argue that television is an important part of our culture and that it can be used to teach students valuable lessons.

Camiino River faced its fourth game of the season with a 1-1 record coming in to take on the Ranked River, which was 3-2 beforehand. The game was a close one, but the River managed to secure the win with a 6-5 score.

The River was led by the strong performance of their star player, Tom Smith, who scored a total of 3 goals against the Ranked River's defense. The Ranked River tried to keep up with the River's scoring, but their efforts were not enough to match the River's offensive power.

The game ended with a final score of 6-5 in favor of the River, solidifying their position in the standings. The victory will help boost the River's morale and confidence for their upcoming games.
