Rally Squad Changes To Be Voted On
By BRIAN COLEMAN

The Rally Squad of Bakersfield College and a matter of faculty lasted twelve were discussed in Tuesday’s-earnings’ Board of Representative meeting.

Dr. Roderico Acuna, professor of Chicano studies at California State University, Northridge, discussed the matter of the student activities. Acuna said that Bakersfield has a reputation of being at the forefront of the Chicano Movement and that the situation should continue to be handled with care.

Professor Feels Unity Of BC Chicanos
By FRANCISCO PILOTO

At this time, many other people are “to support the struggle against racism of the oppressed, the poor.”

It is believed by Acuna that no one has become a “chicanos” of the student activities. But that many people have felt the “injustice” among themselves not only in language, but in traditional customs. He feels that it has been a long time for the people to get the feeling of “injustice.” This feeling being that “I am going to be saved, you can’t save me.” And if the people are looking for a way to gain the feelings of “injustice.” This feeling being that “I am going to be saved, you can’t save me.”

Refusing to the CBA of May 15th celebration, Acuna said that he hopes that the people during this time will think of the student activities, the prices increase, and the struggles that are facing. And that the only way we can meet these struggles is if we are united and that is the only way for this theory to become real and the only way for…

Our Town
Final BC Production

Thursday’s play “Our Town” will bring the cultural theater to BC’s campus, as performed by the BC theater department. The show will be presented at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center, with general admission $2.00 and $1.00 for students.

Mary Lou Chambers directs the play, which is set in Grover’s Corners between 1912 and 1935. According to the playbill, the play is "a look at the times when colors were not separated in the memories of the old folks."

The supporting cast includes: Dona Munoz, Carl Bogdani, Charley Gray, Don Todoroff, Chickie Stander, Steve Juran, and John Keleher.

"Women in the Arts' Conference May 10-11

Women in the Arts’ Conference at Bakersfield College will be held May 10-11, 1974. This conference will feature women artists locally and nationally, women’s social consciousness and women’s issues. A special emphasis will be placed on the role of arts in the urban environment.

The registration fee for the conference is $20 per person. For more information, please contact: Women in the Arts, Bakersfield College, 1701 Lakeshore Avenue, Bakersfield, CA 93301.

CC May Contract With Private Schools

California’s 93 Community Colleges will be able to contract with private schools and colleges to provide special vocational training under regulations adopted by the California Office of Postsecondary Education.

The Board, meeting in San Diego, also approved $20 million for the CBA of May 15th celebration. The Board, meeting in San Diego, was held at the Board’s annual meeting.

With Chairman King Douglas of San Diego presiding, the Board approved to delay the registration of the CBA of May 15th celebration.

Approval of $50,000 in state funds for Community Education, Training and Technical Programs (CETT) was approved for the academic year ended June 30, 1974.

The authors also report that the CBA of May 15th celebration is expected to include a variety of events, including concerts, film screenings, and other cultural activities.

Ouster of Nixon by Impeachment Demanded

How many times have you heard the cliche "What we need is a constitutional convention!" thanks to the Watergate scandal? The stress from the Watergate scandal was too much for President Richard Nixon. He resigned on August 9, 1974, to end the Watergate scandal.

The Watergate scandal began when a group of five men were caught burgling the Democratic National Committee headquarters at the Watergate complex in Washington, D.C. The burglars were members of the Committee to Reelect the President, known as the "CREEP." Nixon's involvement in the Watergate scandal was proven through the "smoking gun" tape recorded in the Oval Office.

The House of Representatives voted to impeach Nixon on August 7, 1974, after he had yet to resign. On August 8, 1974, Nixon resigned, becoming the first president of the United States to resign from office.

ASB Revisions still need student body vote

As the school year draws to a close, the Allegheny Student Body (ASB) is working on revisions to its constitution. A vote on these revisions must be held, and the voting will take place during the last regular ASB meeting of the year on May 26. The ASB will also be holding a special meeting on May 26 to discuss the revisions.

Robbins Flips With Marx's Humour

By SALLY ROBBINS

Fittingly, students are still laughing at "Man in the Wilderness" Tonight.

"Man in the Wilderness" is a film directed by Jack Nicholson, starring the actor himself as a man stranded in the wilderness. The film is known for its dark humor and Nicholson's iconic performance.

Sports Staff Criticized

The sports staff of the RENEGADE has been under criticism during this spring, due to lack of coverage, according to a few spring sports coaches.

"The criticism hasn't bothered us because we're trying to build a business that practically throws us off the pitcher's mound," said one student.

"I am not going to direct this part of my column that might be called a referral, at any particular coach, team or individual," said another.

"First of all, Brian Coleman, Bob Mack, and myself have a lot of respect for the coaches of BC. We would like to cover the multitude of sports. However, this complete coverage is in the hands of the coaching staff. We are the voice of the student body, since this has been an 'offyear' for us with the elimination of the South Yosemite Conference, due to budget cuts.

"Tomorrow night will be 'College Night' at the stadium. We have a chance to show some of our talents in basketball, soccer and baseball. We have been working with this paper, and also with the baseball team. We are trying to make this a better year.

"And in the words of someone famous: 'This was my sporting event, a generation of fun.'"

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: A friend of mine, who was involved in athletics during the summer, was recently asked what was the most difficult thing he had to do as a student-athlete. He said, "It's not easy for me to handle."

"What's it like being a student on the Mound?"

"No, he's not really helped a lot," said a fellow student. "But we try to help him as much as we can."

"Ronnie is really helping us a lot," said another. "We call on him for information, and he calls us for help."

Tied with the El Camino College Bulldogs in a 3-3 draw on Tuesday night, the BC women's volleyball team will face the Ventura College Pirates on Saturday night at 7:30.

"We need to improve our blocking and our serve," said head coach Gary Paterson. "We've been playing well, but we need to focus on these areas."

Rick Tower

"Another reason that BC is so close to the conference is our pitching," said Paterson. "We have a good pitching staff with experienced players."

Ski Club: Fun on Snow and Water

If you’re interested in skiing or snow sports, there’s a club for you. Ski Club meets every Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Center.

The club is not only a social event, but also a good opportunity for winter sports enthusiasts. They have a variety of activities planned throughout the season, including trips to local ski resorts and equipment rentals.

Tom Ahm, President; Randy Day, VP; Elaine Davis, Sec.; Gary Lackey, Treasurer; Scott Rapini, Assistant.

Promotion of skiing and water sports, whether skiing or not, is the club’s main objective.

Wooded skiing trips are a continuing activity of the club. Several one- and two-day trips in the slopes have been taken.

Two of the favorite spots are Mammoth and China Peak.

MECHA: Genuinely Concerned

MECHA, one of the largest organizations on campus, has been active for 17 years. They are generally associated with the cultural and social aspects of being a member of the Asian American community. Their main purpose is to celebrate the diversity and traditions of Asian culture through various events and activities.

MECHA’s major events include the annual Spring Festival and Cultural Night. These events feature traditional music, dance, food, and games from different Asian countries.

Brotherhood Involves BC and Community

Brotherhood, formerly the Black Student Union, was formed during Spring. Brotherhood is mainly an involvement club, ensuring that the objectives of the club are to broaden the community with the college and the school. Members of the club believe that they can make the community aware of what the black community is and what they have to offer. As individuals and as a group, the club can bring about positive change and make a difference in the community.

Officers for the club include: Jake Johnson, President; Greg Williams, Vice President; Cherie Martinez, Secretary; and Jeff Nelson, Treasurer.

A wide selection of music is performed by the 25 students who make up the Lakewood College Orchestra, directed by Dr. James Mason.

The Mozart Symphony, American contemporary music, and “Vivacious Wife” were some of the works performed at the first concert.

Club InformsonIndiCultrue

Last spring brought a new club to the BC campus—the American Indian Club. Founded by female students (one of whom is Native American) and under the guidance of the club’s advisor, the club is made up of students from the Native American community.

The club’s main goal is to promote cultural awareness and education about Native American culture. They organize events such as cultural presentations, workshops, and guest lectures to raise awareness and foster understanding of Native American culture.

They have performed cultural dances, spoken about their culture and traditions, and shared their stories and experiences.

The club’s goal is to educate both the Native American and non-Native American communities about the rich and diverse Native American culture. They encourage members to learn about their own cultural heritage and to respect and celebrate the cultural diversity of all communities.

The club meets on Wednesdays at 5:30 p.m. in the Student Center. If you’re interested in learning more about Native American culture, you can attend their meetings or get involved in their activities.

Recreation: Women is going to help out with the club for an entire membership council can't be too long.

If the club's goals are ever met, they may or may not be able to perform any in future. Volleyball was a challenge against the LGB community. Held at the campus and was a lot of fun for all. The events were open to anyone who wanted to participate. volleyball and other games were played along with other entertainment.

Films have been one of the most common activities of the club. All the films have been on Native American culture, such as Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee, We Were There, and others. Most of the films have been educational and very interesting. These films have been used in cultural classes in high schools and in college. ABC News is continuing their coverage.

Hard Look At Ambulance Services

The area issue of REDGARD brings to light the problems, such as 2,000 people a day are transported by the ambulance service and recent unusual ambulance accidents and recent world events. The hospital emergency cases are our own and they are not exactly what we are used to seeing in the U.S.

A National Research Council report states, "Most major hospitals in the United States serve the public in an emergency capacity. Even the most successful ones can only provide emergency care, because they have no way of replacing their ambulance staffs."

Water Gardner, who owns the Water Fund, points out that the problem is not just the speed of the emergency service, but the lack of emergency services. He says that there are not too many hospitals who have adequate services. He says that it is not easy to get an ambulance, but the hospitals are not prepared for it.

Merle Haggard Reflects on Life and Music

It's a sad day when a musician loses their voice, but Merle Haggard is still going strong. He reflects on his life and music in an interview with Rip.

"I started singing and playing guitar when I was a kid," Haggard says. "I always wanted to be a musician. I was born in Bakersfield, California, and I grew up listening to country music."

"I have been lucky to have had a successful career," he continues. "I have been able to travel the world and meet people. I have been able to do things that I never thought I could do."

"I want to thank everyone who has supported me," Haggard says. "I am grateful for all of the fans who have been with me through the years. I am grateful for the people who have given me the opportunity to sing and play."

"I am looking forward to the future," he concludes. "I am excited to continue making music and sharing it with people. I am excited to see what the future holds."

Capture Seventh Metro Track Title

Not an all-time championship effort, the Oklahoma State track and field team has been overshadowed by expectation, Metropolitan University's sports enthusiasts. The team, led by Head Coach Bob McMillan, has been favored to win the conference title for the past three seasons. The team's performance this season has not been as impressive as in previous years, but the team has managed to hold onto its place in the top five. The team's success has been attributed to the strong leadership of McMillan and the hard work of the athletes. The team's current depth and skill level have contributed to its success, and the team's performance in the upcoming conference meet will be closely watched.
The Year in Review

by Mike Tatos

It was a year of happiness, and a year of heartbreak for some, as far as basketball was concerned at Bakersfield College for the 1973-74 year. The Renegade basketball team started off the season with a bang (on the court of course), and looked like they were going to be Metro contenders, But after earning a 4-6-5 record in the Western Gymnasium Conference, opener against Pierce, the Gades lost three of their last five games with the state playoffs on the line. 1974 looks like it might be the year for the Metro championship to return to Bakersfield. Many outstanding laptopers will return to help the Gade attack, and Gerry Collins and his staff have been busy keeping in touch with the local junior league players.

This is evidenced by the presence of David Turner, who will be returning soon, as he has been away this year. Never one to miss a big game or have his face at the side of the gym, Turner has had a big year so far, and should make an impact in the Metro this year. Few basketball players have had as much experience as Turner, having played on the varsity team for three years.

"A short sentencing order: Duane Williams showed up in the Metro playoffs for his height and weight advantage and his experience. The Gades lost two in a row to finish with a 4-6-5 record, and it’s too bad that Turner had to wear football shirts that have holes in them.

Back to the review: Ralph Kraus took over as head coach of the basketball team and there were some slight changes in the Gade rotation.

BC logged a 24-4 record that set a new winning percentage mark, while ending school record for wins in a season. The Gades captured the second in the Metro.

A sad note to Bakersfield College basketball fans: It was a sad day when Wayne Smith, the other day, and was told that he would not be on BC's list next year. At that time, Smith's points were not known, or at least he wasn't telling.

Last column of the year and thanks for your comments and criticisms, I hope next year this sports staff will be able to do a better job than it has this year. The literary response to this column has been tremendous. I haven't received a single letter, nor was there a death oath. Maybe all you readers, in regard to correspondence, are using the old line that has been used by a multitude of coaches: "We'll start next year."

that wanted particular afternoon. They gave up five while facing against and going up by four points. Mike was visibly unsatisfactory except for the Renegade's one run. That shouldn't have come when BC had the lead with no one and numbered the decision by every Bryn friedman's record.

It was Earl Gann's 16th using single that enabled BC to nip up the Providence, 6-4.

Manny Rodriguez, with 211 minutes of sleep, pulled up the wiggy eyes. Scores 3-3-3, BC came back with single runs in the sixth, seventh and 10th to pull out the win. All the right, whatever the decision was, the Gades bate the Providence by 3-1 and hit the 10th inning of last week's final Metro game. The final score was 6-2, fourth that came.
