Sandy Marcellin, sponsored by the Associated Student Body, was selected from among a field of seven candidates to reign as Homecoming Queen 1975. Close to 500 students went to the polls with first runner up going to Tamara Ginn, sponsored by the Associated Students; second runner up Amy Longacre sponsored by Ski Club.
DISCUSSIONS, READINGS SALUTE WOMEN

"She, the Subject of the Week," BC's salute to women, is held each fall and spring term. It features readings, discussions, and films, including "The School of the West," a play about the education of women, written by Josephine Butler. The series is sponsored by BC's Gender, Women's, and Sexuality Studies department.

The second event of the series is "Women in Shakespeare's Private Life," a reading and discussion about women in Shakespeare's plays. The event features a reading of passages from Shakespeare's works and a discussion led by BC faculty members. The event is open to the public and is free of charge.

Opinion

RIP example of student freedom

The students and the staff for the students. That sums up the opening remarks for the "Women in Shakespeare's Private Life" event. The weekly publication is run entirely by undergraduates, and we are committed to providing a space for the voices of students.

This freedom of the student press which has been earned by the students themselves is something the RIP has earned. The newspaper is supported by the university and the community, and no one has the right to interfere with what the paper's content.

The administration has watched for any sign of interference, and they have not. They have supported the newspaper in all its efforts. What administration has not is to be ruled on, and the administration has not been bullied into silence.

ATHLETICS BENEFICIAL TO CURRICULAR-BUDGET

In the past year, students have been able to participate in a variety of sports such as basketball, volleyball, and soccer, which have been organized by the BC Athletics Department. These programs have been beneficial to the overall curricular budget, as they have provided a source of revenue for the university.

"Women" is a weekly publication and will be on sale in the BC Library on Wednesday, 7-9 p.m. The exhibition also includes "Art of the House," a collection of works by local artists.

Art exhibit opens

The exhibition will open with a reception for the artists on Wednesday, 7-9 p.m. in the library at the BC Library on Wednesday, 7-9 p.m. The exhibition will run until November 30.

There is no admission charge for the opening. The exhibit is open daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday-Friday, and 1-6 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

From the forest

The forest is a haven for nature lovers and those who wish to escape the hustle and bustle of daily life. The exhibits and programs at the forest are designed to educate and inspire visitors to appreciate the beauty and complexity of the natural world.

Festivities generate community spirit

Homecoming is a special time for the students, staff, and alumni of BC. It is a time when the university comes together to celebrate its history, traditions, and accomplishments.

The parade, football game, and other events provide a sense of community and belonging. The spirit of Homecoming is evident in the way people dress up in their school colors and cheer on their teams.

The atmosphere is electric, and everyone is excited to be a part of the celebration. It is a time for students and alumni to reconnect with old friends and make new ones. The Homecoming spirit is a reflection of the unity and pride that is so important to the BC community.
HUSKIES ON TAB FOR HOMECOMING

BC to meet defending state champs:

Turner key man in 'Gade attack

The BC Renegades are set to meet the Huskies of East Los Angeles College in the annual BC Homecoming Classic.

BC will depend heavily on the running prowess of sophomore tailback—David "Deacon" Turner. Turner, after gaining 218 yards in 39 carries against the Long Beach City College Vikings, has run for a total of 1,086 yards this season. His four-year total is 1,235 and with four games left he should easily surpass that mark.

Mike Lifschitz will be calling the signals as he has done all season, throwing for 930 yards and completing a total of 45 passes out of the 95 he has attempted.

Joining the "Deacons" in the backfield will be Wayne product Tony Bollage. Bollage and Mike Gonzalez of Canoga have also played a substantial part in the Renegade offense this year with Turner playing the slot position.

Four "sophomores" and one freshman make up the offensive line this year, with 6'1, 225-pound Jack Considine leading the way. Considine, of North High, will start on the left side while Keith Andrews will be on the right. John Clark and Ken Jones will be the starting tackles and Lyle Dunaway will be the center.

Last Los Angeles boasts the fact they have 18 of last year's 22 starting running backs at 18 of last year's state champions will be on hand for the game.

With Ransom, a sophomore out of South Gate High, will be calling the signals for the Huskies who were rated number six in the most recent Junior College Athletic Bureau rankings. BC was placed at number three.

Alvin Fike, who last year plucked second team to Lynn Cannon of USC, will be the main ball carrier this year for ELAC.

Along side him in the backfield will be Kenneth Young, also a grad of South Gate High.

Ransom's main target will be wide end Tony Amendola, who in ELAC games so far, has caught 15 points for 199 yards. Arnold Caraway is a probable starter at the 'Huskies' position. Gregory Starnesqut should start at tight end.

The Huskies, in the Green and White uniforms, are led by Coach Al Plosha. Plosha was named coach of the year last year by the Southern California College Athletic Conference. The title of his first assistant, Gilbert Royston, Jerry Lopez, Ron Smith, Nancy Vaughan and Richard Baer.

This season sees the BC Renegades and the Huskies meet in the Southern California Conference for the first time. The Renegades lead the series 17-15.

In action last week, the Gades got their first Metro Conference win by ousting the Long Beach Vikings, 37-28, while ELAC routed the Brahmas of L.A. Pierce 42-13.

Both the Renegades and the Huskies are undefeated in conference play. The Huskies have come back following an upset loss to Antelope Valley in the conference battle earlier this season. They received a 5-1-1 record.

BC has a 2-0-1 record in conference play, while the defending Metro Conference Champions PASADENA, Los Angeles, other side victory has been UVICH, TALL, FRASER, MAYER-WESTERN OF Evans and Long Beach.

Girl volleyballers third in league

By PENNY BERTOLotto
Big Spring's Mildred Wood and the Lady Mustangs' volleyballers are fired up and have big plans for the season. Now standing at a 3-3 league mark and with no more than three games left in the 20 game season, the Lady Mustangs faced number two ranked Big Spring yesterday after Big Spring's 3-0 victory.

Going into the Region I-1A quarter finals against checkers, the Lady Mustangs will have to find a way to beat Big Spring. They believe they can do it as well.

Coach Sandy Bower's junior team is looking for a strong showing in this game, as the Lady Mustangs have not had a victory over Big Spring.

Renege strikers favored in upcoming loop finals

The last time BC was favored to win the Metropolitan Conference title was in 1973. They had to travel to St. Thomas Park, in those days, and they won by a nose and hardly El Campo, Metro's brol. Controversy (who could have foreseen) the contest was won, and only after a hard-fought battle. The players were too young then and the field was a mess, and the tilts had to be turned en masse to stuff the Gods for the benefit of the fans.

This year's Metro Conference title fight is at Stilson Park, El Campo's home of the baseball loop, in action today. The Gods, for the first time in a long time, could again be favored to win it. If they are to win, it will be their first conference championship since 1973.

"It should be a short, maybe four or five game, " says Coach, "LA Valley and Long Beach, although, are having the same kind of competition with El Campo. We'll just have to see what happens."

Rufus tricks and treats audience during Halloween costume party

By JOE McGUIRE

Rufus, the creature with a mischievous grin and mischievous eyes, has been spreading joy and laughter throughout the land with his amusing antics. This year, Rufus decided to make his Halloween appearance even more memorable by dressing up in a unique and entertaining costume.

Rufus's costume this year was a playful take on a classic fairy tale character. He transformed into a mischievous imp, complete with a pointy hat and a mischievous grin. The imp was known for its playful antics and ability to trick and tease those around it. Rufus's costume was a perfect representation of this mischievous spirit, with its playful mischievous grin and impish eyes.

As Rufus paraded through the streets, he attracted the attention of everyone in sight. People were drawn to his infectious mischievous grin and impish eyes, which seemed to light up the whole city. The mischievous imp's playful antics were a hit, and everyone was left laughing and feeling joyous as a result.

Rufus's mischievous grin and mischievous eyes were the perfect way to make this Halloween memorable. His playful antics and impish spirit were a reminder that sometimes it's good to let loose and have a little fun. Rufus's mischievous grin and mischievous eyes will be remembered for years to come, as they brought joy and laughter to everyone who saw them.

SCRUINITY: FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

More Safeguards

There is one, and only one, sure way to safeguard the First Amendment and the press: the public must understand and feel the responsibility to defend it as seriously as it has done in the past. The public must be educated about the importance of the First Amendment and its protection of the press in a democracy. The public must be encouraged to participate in protecting the press by writing letters to the editor and participating in public discussions. The public must be made aware of the dangers to the press and be prepared to act if necessary.

The Pentagon Papers

The Pentagon papers are a series of United States government documents that were leaked to the press in 1971. The papers revealed the Pentagon's secret plans for the Vietnam War, including plans for escalation of the war. The leak was made by Daniel Ellsberg, a former employee of the Defense Department. The leak sparked a controversy over the role of the press in a democracy.

Constitutional Confusion: Search and Seizure in Principle and in Practice

In 1956, Chief Justice Earl Warren wrote the majority opinion in the case of Mapp v. Ohio, which overturned previous decisions that allowed police to search and seize evidence without a warrant. The Warren Court's decision was based on the Fourth Amendment, which guarantees citizens protection against unreasonable searches and seizures. The decision was a landmark in the history of the Bill of Rights.

PRIVACY: FREEDOM FROM SEARCH AND SEIZURE

The Freedom from Search and Seizure protects individuals from unreasonable search and seizure by the government. The amendment guarantees that no person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in the land or naval forces; nor shall any warrant issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

"Reasonable" Search and Seizure

The Search and Seizure Clause requires that searches and seizures be reasonable. The government must have probable cause to believe that a crime has been committed and that the evidence will be found in the search or seizure. The government must also be able to demonstrate that the search or seizure is necessary to the investigation of the crime.

Conclusion

The Freedom of the Press and the Freedom from Search and Seizure are two of the most important amendments to the Bill of Rights. They protect the right of individuals to express their ideas and opinions without fear of government interference. The amendments are necessary to ensure a free and democratic society.
