Wright looks to community for funding aid

By S. AU-YING CHU
Editor-in-Chief

A little note from the president to the president in her ap- proach to the presidency and student activities in two years of paper work, "President Richard Wright feels "the only thing that fixes up our head over our hair is funding problems." I don't know how much money we're going to have to work with," says Bill Johnson. "But some positive things happen," says Wright, who has been active in the BC Foundation, has been reaching out to the businesses and individuals of the community.

"BC is able to meet the demands of the businesses and individual contributors because this is the incentive for them to learn up BC," he emphasized the 39-year-old coach for the BC Women's basketball team.

Wright has plans to offer management training to the County and having local companies to help in community and fund community. The Foundation raised a total of $600,000 over the past year, he said. Wright, father of two children.

"We're starting small and building up," he said. Wright, we're in the process of getting our community companies to help expand the BC Art Gallery with $10,000 to $15,000.

"I do not understand the benefit of the office," he stressed. Wright, he stressed that this will not happen.

This is the first of a two-part series discussing BC president Richard Wright's approach to the problems of funding. The conclusion of the series will be presented next week.

- The Mayor's Committee to Empower the Handicapped and BC are collaborating to set up the second annual Bakersfield College Business and Industry Day which will be from 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., Wednesday, at the south side of the library building.

- Approximately 30-35 local businesses will be set up to discuss and share information and services for students and the community.

- The Career Planning Placement Center Coordinator, Manuel Gonzales, will also be present.

- Several of the businesses will include Continental Telephone Company, Hall Ambulance Service, and the BC Foundation.

- A part of the activities will be a panel discussion at 12:30 p.m. in the Firebird Rooms on "Employment Options in County, State, and Federal Government." The panel will be Emile Ferin from the Kern County Department and Elmo Chown from the California State Personnel Department. The discussion will be relative to job openings in criminal justice, said Gonzales. The panel will also speak of job opportunities for job positions, added Gonzales.

- "In previous years we've had good feedback from employers and students," said Gonzales of former Business and Industry Days. They (the businesses) are enthusiastic about coming back," he added. "If students want information on what to expect, you should really check with the Velvetine," commented Gonzales. Mayor Mary K. Shell will also be on campus to help with the activities.

High school Day set

At least 150 high school students will be on campus on Friday as part of a special day to participate in the High School Journal- ization Program, coordinated with workshops. The events are sponsored by the Bakersfield Californ- ina and The Renegade Rip.

Eight men were honored in the annual ceremonies of the BC Renegade Track and Field Hall of Fame on April 25. Bruce Teach, the club's coach of the ex- clusively men's BC 1981 track and field team, bequeathed the hat and blad sword to Bob Williams. This is the sword he used to win the 1876 BC vs. Harvard baseball game 14 years ago. Below the sword, Williams, Vyper coach John Lee, and Bruce Teach, the head coach of the BC Renegades, accept the 1981 BC track and field championship trophy. The trophy was awarded to the team with the highest number of points in the BC Conference.

BY SHELLIE MUNRO

A fun parade came to campus last week as the Kappa Chi, Pi Kappa Phi, Sigma Chi, Phi Mu Psi, Alpha Phi, Kappa Epsilon Pi, Kappa Epsilon, Eta Sigma, Delta Omicron, Delta Chi, and Sigma Nu students paraded through the UC to show their support for the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. The parade began at the north end of the UC and ended at the south end, where the sorority has its chapter house. The parade included floats, music, and a variety of costumes. The sorority members were very happy with the support they received from the fraternity members.
Night Ranger, Hagar give five-star performance

By CHARLES ZIMMERMAN

Even by the standards of the hard rock world, the show at the West Hollywood's Roxy bar last night was a blockbuster. Night Ranger's performance, which followed a trifle erratic opener by the German band Bruce Springsteen, was a commanding one, and Michael Anthony's presence as the band's rhythm section was a true highlight. Anthony's bass playing was precise and aggressive. The music was light and airy, with a touch of the classic rock of the 1970s. The concert was a success for all involved.

For what Hagat and Night Ranger opened in a night of special performers. Hagat's music was set on fire by a group of Texas Rangers, making it a memorable display with a touch of Texas flair. Hagat's music was filled with guitars and energy, making it an exciting concert.

Health Fair '83 sets record

By J. L. STOOPS
Staff Writer

With the cooperation of the weatherman and the yeoman performance of coordinators and volunteer workers, the BC segment of the Kern County Health Fair '83 was a resounding success.

While attendance tabulations are not yet finalized, participants in the inaugural BC portion of the Fair as well as other 18 sites in the county were roughly double those of last year, according to Robin Hunter, Fair coordinator.

And what is the reason for the surge in popularity of this annual medical event? "I think it is mainly the word-of-mouth publicity," says Hunter. "And, of course, the excellent job accomplished by the coordinators and workers is responsible for this favorable publicity," she continues.

Susan Lloyd, Lyna Hale and Laura Robie served as coordinators of the two-day BC event, assisted by approximately 70 volunteer workers. "It was a challenging but enjoyable project," says Hale. "Everyone was so cooperative." Hale made particular mention of the BC Food Services section which provided meals for the volunteer workers and furnished other equipment used in the Fair.

Lloyd and Hale went on to help coordinate the Valley Plaza rendition of the Health Fair following the BC presentation. "I plan to take all the tests and screenings at Valley Plaza," says Hale. "I just didn't have the time when it was at BC."
