Joyce Carol Thomas highlights celebration

Joyce Carol Thomas, well known literary historian and critic, was recently appointed to the BAFER series. It is her first appearance in the series, and she will be joined by several other notable authors.

Thomas has been a professor at Stanford University, and her previous works include "Reading and Writing," and "The Modern American Novel." She is known for her insights into contemporary literature and her ability to engage readers with complex ideas.

Thomas will be in conversation with novelist Joy Williams and poet Yvor Winters, and their discussion will center on the themes of identity and the power of language in contemporary society.

The event is scheduled for Thursday, February 7th, at 7 PM in the Packard Auditorium. Tickets are limited, and reservations are recommended.

---

CTA, KCCD still at impasse

CSEA, District reach tentative agreement

By Jeff Goldstein

After months of deadlock, the California Teachers Association (CTA) and the Klamath County Community College District (KCCD) have reached a tentative agreement that was successful in sliding through the District's Board of Trustees.

When the trustees met in December, both sides were locked in an impasse over the contract negotiations. The CTA was seeking significant improvements in pay and benefits, while the District was offering a modest increase in pay and some minor concessions.

According to CSEA President Mary Ann Capobianco, the District had offered a "take-it-or-leave-it" proposal, which the CTA rejected.

"This contract is a win for our members," CSEA President Capobianco said. "We fought hard and got results. This is a significant victory for our members and for the community."
"The Winds of War" marvellous history

BY SAU YING CHU

In recent years, "The Winds of War," a novel by Tom Clancy, has been turned into a hit television mini-series. The story, which centers on the strategic decisions made during World War II, offers a fascinating insight into the mind of a great leader. The book has received widespread acclaim, with many readers praising its accuracy and depth.

The novel is set during the early years of World War II, specifically during the war in Europe and the Pacific. It follows the story of a young officer, Captain Robert E. Lee, who is tasked with leading a mission to bring down a high-ranking Nazi official. Through his intelligence and strategic thinking, Lee is able to successfully execute his mission, which becomes a turning point in the war.

This mini-series, directed by John Badham and produced by Larry Gelbart, features an ensemble cast that includes Tom Hanks, Gary Oldman, and Meryl Streep. The performances are highly praised, with critics commending the actors for their ability to bring depth and nuance to their characters.

In terms of historical accuracy, the mini-series is noted for its attention to detail. It features accurate depictions of military equipment and tactics, as well as a nuanced portrayal of the political and social landscape of the time.

Overall, "The Winds of War" mini-series is a compelling and engaging drama that offers a unique perspective on one of the most significant events in history. It is highly recommended for anyone interested in World War II or historical fiction.
Helen Gordon to attend administrators workshop

Chinese New Year celebration begins

Phil Feldman takes one year leave

Opinion

Letters to editor

Weekly Calendar

Money found on campus

Renegade Rip

Women's History series planned

Sponsored by Arts and Humanities

Job Opportunities
March Meet races into record book

BY MELISSA MILLER

The March Meet is a voracious horse, it has pack in its sights at 287 miles per hour—a speed that would be achieved only once in a million years. The March Meet is a high-speed, wide-open race track that has been in operation since 1914. The March Meet is a major event in the motorsports world, attracting thousands of spectators each year. The March Meet is a record-breaking event that has set new standards for speed and performance. The March Meet is a major event in the motorsports world, attracting thousands of spectators each year. The March Meet is a record-breaking event that has set new standards for speed and performance.

48 HRS studio hype misleading

BY STEPHEN WHITE

The March Meet is a high-speed, wide-open race track that has been in operation since 1914. The March Meet is a major event in the motorsports world, attracting thousands of spectators each year. The March Meet is a record-breaking event that has set new standards for speed and performance. The March Meet is a major event in the motorsports world, attracting thousands of spectators each year. The March Meet is a record-breaking event that has set new standards for speed and performance.

Kern rugby has high hopes and plenty of BC influence

BY MICHAEL PARKER

Kern rugby has high hopes and plenty of BC influence. The Kern Rugby Club, which has been around since 1930, is now seeing a surge in membership as the club returns to the city after a long hiatus. The club has been successful in attracting players from the local community, as well as from the larger BC area. The club has also been able to attract players from other countries, including Australia, New Zealand, and England. The Kern Rugby Club is now seeing a surge in membership and is looking to continue its success in the future.

Softballers have desire and defense

The Kern Rugby Club is a powerful force in the local sports scene. The club has been successful in attracting players from the local community, as well as from the larger BC area. The club has also been able to attract players from other countries, including Australia, New Zealand, and England. The Kern Rugby Club is now seeing a surge in membership and is looking to continue its success in the future.

Hard work spurs harriers

The Kern Rugby Club is a powerful force in the local sports scene. The club has been successful in attracting players from the local community, as well as from the larger BC area. The club has also been able to attract players from other countries, including Australia, New Zealand, and England. The Kern Rugby Club is now seeing a surge in membership and is looking to continue its success in the future.
Program for 'whole' child

By MARIA LUNGO

Staff Manager, 100 Black Students

"We are preparing for the future of the whole child—physically, mentally, emotionally, and socially," says Carol Clemons, director of the Women’s Center at 100 Black Students. "Our program, which is designed to help the child develop in all areas, is called 'Whole Child.'" Each child will receive individual attention and care, as well as opportunities to participate in a variety of activities that will help him or her reach his or her full potential.

The program includes

- Physical Development:
  - Exercise and sports
  - Dance and gymnastics
  - Swimming and water activities

- Mental Development:
  - Reading and writing
  - Mathematics and science
  - Problem-solving and critical thinking

- Emotional Development:
  - Expressing feelings
  - Developing self-esteem and confidence
  - Building social skills

- Social Development:
  - Interacting with peers
  - Participating in group activities
  - Developing leadership skills

The children will also have the opportunity to participate in community service projects, which will help them understand the importance of giving back to their community.

The program is open to children ages 3 to 12. Parents are encouraged to register their children early to ensure their spots in the program. For more information, contact Carol Clemons at 100 Black Students, 100 Main Street, Anytown, USA, 12345, or call 555-1234.
What are your feelings about mandatory tuition proposed for community colleges?

Mandatory tuition for community colleges has been proposed in some states as a way to increase funding for these institutions. Some people believe that students should be responsible for paying a portion of the costs of their education. Others argue that this could make higher education less accessible to low-income students. How do you feel about this proposal? Do you think it will have a significant impact on the quality of education at community colleges?

Three from California, two out-of-staters complete roster

Dr. Donald Leventhal
Dean, Bakersfield College
19th Ave. & Almond, Bakersfield, CA 93304
916-466-5000
Fax: 916-466-5000
DLeventhal@bacc.cc.ca.us

Dr. Richard Brightman
President, Bakersfield College
19th Ave. & Almond, Bakersfield, CA 93304
916-466-5000
Fax: 916-466-5000
RBrightman@bacc.cc.ca.us

Dr. John P. Gormley
Interim President, Bakersfield College
19th Ave. & Almond, Bakersfield, CA 93304
916-466-5000
Fax: 916-466-5000
JGormley@bacc.cc.ca.us

The Renegade Rip
Volume XVI
Number 13
Tuesday, February 12, 1973
Bakersfield, California

Five in final race campus for presidency

Two BC deans, vice chancellor vie for top spot

By LADY CORSO
Editor-in-Chief
Dr. Richard Brightman, Dr. John P. Gormley and Dr. Philip Saieh Baldwin will be president of the University of California.

The new president will be chosen by the campus faculty.

The final three candidates are:

1. Dr. Richard Brightman, president of Bakersfield College.
2. Dr. John P. Gormley, president of the State University of New York at Binghamton.
3. Dr. Philip Saieh Baldwin, of the University of California at Berkeley.

Dr. Richard Brightman, president of Bakersfield College, will be announced as the new president of the University of California.

Dr. John P. Gormley, president of the State University of New York at Binghamton, will be announced as the new president of the University of California.

And Dr. Philip Saieh Baldwin, of the University of California at Berkeley, will be announced as the new president of the University of California.

Dr. Richard Brightman, president of Bakersfield College, will be announced as the new president of the University of California.

Dr. John P. Gormley, president of the State University of New York at Binghamton, will be announced as the new president of the University of California.

And Dr. Philip Saieh Baldwin, of the University of California at Berkeley, will be announced as the new president of the University of California.

Committee sets precedent

Board of Trustees

The BC Admissions Committee has set a precedent by accepting 50 applications from out-of-state students for the 1973-74 academic year.

The committee, which is responsible for selecting the students, has traditionally accepted only five applications from out-of-state students.

This year, however, the committee has decided to accept 50 applications because it believes that this number is necessary to ensure a diverse student body.

The committee's decision to accept 50 applications is significant because it sets a precedent for future years.

The committee has also decided to accept 50 applications from out-of-state students because it believes that this number is necessary to ensure a diverse student body.

The committee's decision to accept 50 applications is significant because it sets a precedent for future years.

The committee has also decided to accept 50 applications from out-of-state students because it believes that this number is necessary to ensure a diverse student body.

Dr. John P. Gormley
President, Bakersfield College
19th Ave. & Almond, Bakersfield, CA 93304
916-466-5000
Fax: 916-466-5000
JGormley@bacc.cc.ca.us

Dr. Philip Saieh Baldwin
President, Bakersfield College
19th Ave. & Almond, Bakersfield, CA 93304
916-466-5000
Fax: 916-466-5000
PSBaldwin@bacc.cc.ca.us

Sponsorship deadline March 1

All students interested in participating in the sponsorship program are encouraged to contact the Bakersfield College Student Services Office by March 1, 1973.

The sponsorship program provides financial assistance to students who need it.

Students who are interested in participating in the sponsorship program should contact the Bakersfield College Student Services Office by March 1, 1973.
Opinion

The kid loved it!

By JEFF GORENIT

When I asked the word "drug" the first thing that came to mind was "heroin" because that's what people are most likely to think about when they hear the word. But when you look at the facts, you'll see that there is more to drugs than just heroin. Some people think that the easiest way to stop using drugs is to go to a detox center or a rehab program. But what about the people who suffer from drug addiction? They need help too. And that's where the Drug Free America Foundation comes in. They offer support and resources to those who are struggling with drug addiction. So if you or someone you know is struggling with drug addiction, please reach out to the Drug Free America Foundation. They can help you and your loved ones.

Home is where the heart isn't

By JEFF GORENIT

I recently had a conversation with a friend about the importance of family. We both agreed that family is the most important thing in life. But what if we live far away from our families? How do we keep that connection? One way is by staying connected through technology. Video calls, text messages, and social media can all help us stay in touch with our loved ones. Another way is by visiting them as often as possible. It might not be easy, but it's important to make an effort to see each other. And when we do see them, we should take the time to really listen and be present. It's easy to get distracted by our own thoughts, but when we're with someone we love, we should give them our full attention. That way, we can really enjoy each other's company and not just pass the time.
Forensics team recruits, prepares for competition

By DAVID THRELLICK

Forensics team recruiting for fall.

The BC Forensics team is getting ready for its season as the club aims to continue its tradition of success. The team, under the guidance of coach Maria Brognard, has set high expectations for itself this year. "We want to do as well as we possibly can," Brognard said. "Our goal is to prepare ourselves for competition and succeed in our matches." The team has been training hard, focusing on improving their skills and strategies. They have already begun to develop their teamwork and communication skills, which are essential for success in forensics.

Gandhi nominated for 10 top Academy awards

By ROBERT TAYLOR

Gandhi nominated for 10 top Academy awards.

Gandhi, the powerful film about the life of Mahatma Gandhi, has been nominated for 10 Academy Awards. The film, directed by Richard Attenborough, is a critically acclaimed work that has received widespread praise for its powerful performances and its portrayal of Gandhi's life. The film has been nominated in a number of categories, including Best Actor, Best Director, Best Original Screenplay, and Best Original Score. The Academy Awards ceremony will take place on March 28, and the winners will be announced then. The film has been well-received by critics and audiences alike, and it is sure to be a highlight of the awards season.

Kihm video taunts mind

By CHARLES BERNSTEIN

Kihm video taunts mind.

Kihm, the controversial video artist, has released a new video that has caused a stir amongst the art community. The video, titled "The Mind," is a highly experimental piece that explores the nature of the mind and the concept of consciousness. The video uses a combination of animation, live action, and music to create a surreal and thought-provoking experience. While some have praised the video for its innovative approach and its ability to challenge traditional notions of art, others have criticized it for being too abstract and difficult to understand. The video has been widely discussed and debated, and it is sure to become a topic of conversation in the art world for some time to come.

How to follow Fellini.

By ROBERT TAYLOR

How to follow Fellini.

Fellini, the legendary Italian filmmaker, has left a lasting impact on the world of cinema. His unique style and approach to filmmaking have inspired countless filmmakers and have helped to shape the art of cinema as we know it today. If you are a fan of Fellini and want to learn more about his work, here are a few tips on how to follow in his footsteps:

1. Watch Fellini's films: Start by watching some of Fellini's most famous films, such as "8 1/2" and "La dolce vita." These films are a great introduction to his unique style and approach to filmmaking.

2. Read Fellini's books: Fellini has written several books, including "Il Postino" and "A la recherche du temps perdu." Reading these books can provide a deeper understanding of his work and his perspective on life and art.

3. Visit the Fellini archives: The archivists at the Fellini archives in Rome have a wealth of information and materials related to Fellini's work. Visiting the archives can be a great way to learn more about fellini's life and work.

4. Attend Fellini film festivals: Fellini film festivals are held around the world, and they are a great way to see some of Fellini's films in their original context and to meet other Fellini fans.

5. Follow Fellini's influence: Fellini's influence can be seen in a wide range of films and filmmakers, from the Coen brothers to the Wachowskis. By following their work, you can gain a deeper understanding of the impact that Fellini has had on the world of cinema.

By ROBERT TAYLOR

Music soothes nerves

By DAVID THRELLICK

Music soothes nerves.

Music has the power to soothe the nerves and calm the mind. Whether you are feeling stressed or just need a moment to relax, listening to music can be a great way to unwind. Here are a few tips on how to use music to soothe your nerves:

1. Listen to calming music: Calming music, such as jazz or ambient music, can help to relax the mind and reduce stress.

2. Create a music playlist: Create a music playlist that includes your favorite calming tracks. This can be a great way to create a custom music experience that works for you.

3. Use music therapy: Music therapy is a form of therapy that uses music to help people deal with stress and other emotional issues. If music therapy sounds interesting, you may want to explore it further.

4. Use music to relax: When you are feeling stressed, try to take a few minutes to listen to music and relax.

5. Use music to exercise: Music can make exercise more enjoyable and can help to reduce stress. If you are feeling stressed, try to exercise to music.

By ROBERT TAYLOR

The Lite Beer All-Stars strike again.

By ROBERT TAYLOR

The Lite Beer All-Stars strike again.

The Lite Beer All-Stars are back, and they're better than ever! This year, the Lite Beer All-Stars are back with a new and improved lineup, ready to take on the world of beer and beyond. The Lite Beer All-Stars are known for their innovative approach to beer, and they are sure to be a highlight of the beer world this year. So grab a can of Lite Beer and join the Lite Beer All-Stars on their latest adventure.
Hell fires too hot to handle

By DAVID THAYLLEN

Fire Chief Frank Fagin, head of the Elkton, Ky., Fire Department, said his department (KFD) signed a new three-year contract with the city after protracted negotiations with the technical service department.

The new three-year contract, which includes a $15,000 raises for firefighters and a one-year boost in the insurance rate, takes effect next year.

"The money is getting tight," said Fagin. "We're going to have to do more with less." The new contract also covers medical and dental benefits.

"The contract is a win-win for everyone," said Mayor Bob Taylor. "It will help us keep the firefighters on the job and keep them safe." The new contract was signed on Tuesday by Mayor Taylor and Fagin, who said it would be an "adjustment" to the city's budget.

The new contract also covers medical and dental benefits.

"We're going to have to do more with less," said Fagin. "The money is getting tight." The new contract also covers medical and dental benefits.

"The contract is a win-win for everyone," said Mayor Bob Taylor. "It will help us keep the firefighters on the job and keep them safe." The new contract was signed on Tuesday by Mayor Taylor and Fagin, who said it would be an "adjustment" to the city's budget.

The new contract also covers medical and dental benefits.

"We're going to have to do more with less," said Fagin. "The money is getting tight." The new contract also covers medical and dental benefits.

"The contract is a win-win for everyone," said Mayor Bob Taylor. "It will help us keep the firefighters on the job and keep them safe." The new contract was signed on Tuesday by Mayor Taylor and Fagin, who said it would be an "adjustment" to the city's budget.

The new contract also covers medical and dental benefits.

"We're going to have to do more with less," said Fagin. "The money is getting tight." The new contract also covers medical and dental benefits.
Good grazing in Renegade Room

By J.L. Stoops
Staff Writer

"We find 'em from the south to the tomb," proclaims William "Pat" Coyle, director of food services in the Family and Consumer Education (FACE) Department, referring to the wide diversity of age among its approximately 3,000 daily customers.

Obviously, the fact FACEminds fall in between those extremes, but not by much. Unique among community colleges in its variety of food service training and facilities, BC prepares meals for 350 children daily as well as the "Meals on Wheels" program which delivers food to the elderly, according to Coyle.

Sandwiched between these extremes, the table is set for the down-to-earth, for the cafeteria patron and the laconic, frequently boisterous, spread in the Renegade Room where, in this writer's opinion, the FACEm culinary art achieves its gastronomical aims.

Coyle, a 1969 graduate of the BC program, derives great satisfaction from the program's alumni working in restaurants all over town. And he has high praise for the capability and dedication of the Food Service supervisory and staff.

In addition to the hands-on training, History "is built integral and mandatory toward successful completion of the courses, explains Marilyn Worthington, FACE instructor and supervisor of Food Services Instruction. Noting the recent evolution of a more serious and responsible student which will mean an increasingly improved standards for succeeding classes, Worthington is surprised by her appreciation of local private industry support of the BC program.

Under the direction of Manager Nita Choa, the Renegade Room serves as a training ground for apprentice cooks, waiters and waitresses. Coyle finds her work exciting and challenging, training and observing an ever-changing group of students from diverse backgrounds, blossoms and develop into confident and capable candidates for jobs in the private sector.

Three qualified students are directed to the BC instruction facility following applications and screening by the Nationally Certified CETA agency, now in the process of phasing out the CETA label in favor of a modified Job Training Program subsidy. This agency also monitors the job market toward placement of the successful graduates, explains Coyle.

In the program, cooks undergo 16 weeks of concentrated, supervised training in all culinary arts including duties in the cafeteria, Renegade Room, bake shop and service area. The waiters-maitres training period in the Renegade Room lasts nine weeks and covers catering, record keeping, cash register operation and business duties in addition to the traditional waitstaff service instruction, Coyle continues.

Coyle, Choa and Worthington all participate in the lectures which deal not only with food service methodology but dress codes, record maintenance, customer service, employee relations, etc.

Except for special group events, breakfast is not served in the Renegade Room. The lunchroom menu offers a diverse selection of tasty meals, including the soup conch and salad bar, appropriate for the "swallow and get back to work or class" gang.

But it is during the 5:30 p.m. dinner hour Monday through Friday, that the Renegade Room blossoms forth as in specifying food-traditionally with raw fish, dainty folded cloth napkins, candlelight reflecting in long-socketed white glass (not "cigar . . . only"") and plenty of attention and courteous service.

Complementing the table setting, the menu features a dinner special each night: roast prime beef, barbecued ribs, chicken à la king and broiled red snapper or choice of special featured entrees. Served by staff or dial and followed by a dessert solution designed to drive a clogging stomach up the wall, nobody leaves the Renegade Room hungry.

And the three palatable parts of the gastronomical experience are the bar. Staff employees are supervised by the Federal agency, let him be deferred from the meal cost. In addition, a coat is required in lining the bar to protect the fair food products through vengeful purchase. The rail is shown in chairman emeritus for the Renegade Room, designed as a non-profit operation, according to Coyle.

For anyone waiting in staff "mug shot" in grand style, try the Renegade Room buffet tonight, usually on Friday. A variety of tasty goodies is prepared and served with skillful, imaginative and descriptive service, a liberal selection of occasional ice sculptures and live music. The palatable menu is the same engaging you back for seconds, if not compulsory.

The writer-maitre program lasts for nine weeks. Among the 15 trainees currently employed are Flora Chevenger (left), Marylndam (center), Crystal Enttery (top right), and Brenda Dean (lower right). Training includes hostesses duties, record keeping and cash register operation, in addition to food service procedures.

Richard Phelan, now in his third week of training as a cook, prepares a salad for a lunchtime customer.

Located at the east end of the Family and Consumer Education building, the Renegade Room serves lunches and dinner while providing a training ground for cooks, waiters and waitresses.

Suggested by looks of the mate, Joseph Herrera will master the proper use of knife and many times during his 16 weeks of training as a cook. Bake shop and catering instruction is included.

The writer-maitre program lasts for nine weeks. Among the 15 trainees currently employed are Flora Chevenger (left), Marylndam (center), Crystal Enttery (top right), and Brenda Dean (lower right). Training includes hostesses duties, record keeping and cash register operation, in addition to food service procedures.

Staff photos: J.L. Stoops

Renegade Room manager Nita Choa and Food Services director Pat Coyle conduct one of the several lectures designed to emphasize the hands-on training in the dining room and kitchen.

Lavish setup shows the traditional chef's background for his training.

In an important place of bar hosting on it, brought the injuries of the modern cash register, Renegade Room, bake shop and service area. The writer-maitres training period in the Renegade Room lasts nine weeks and covers catering, record keeping, cash register operation and business duties in addition to the traditional waitstaff service instruction, Coyle continues.

Coyle, Choa and Worthington all participate in the lectures which deal not only with food service methodology but dress codes, record maintenance, customer service, employee relations, etc.

Except for special group events, breakfast is not served in the Renegade Room. The lunchroom menu offers a diverse selection of tasty meals, including the soup conch and salad bar, appropriate for the "swallow and get back to work or class" gang.

But it is during the 5:30 p.m. dinner hour Monday through Friday, that the Renegade Room blossoms forth as in specifying food-traditionally with raw fish, dainty folded cloth napkins, candlelight reflecting in long-socketed white glass (not "cigar . . . only"") and plenty of attention and courteous service.

Complementing the table setting, the menu features a dinner special each night: roast prime beef, barbecued ribs, chicken à la king and broiled red snapper or choice of special featured entrees. Served by staff or dial and followed by a dessert solution designed to drive a clogging stomach up the wall, nobody leaves the Renegade Room hungry.

And the three palatable parts of the gastronomical experience are the bar. Staff employees are supervised by the Federal agency, let him be deferred from the meal cost. In addition, a coat is required in lining the bar to protect the fair food products through vengeful purchase. The rail is shown in chairman emeritus for the Renegade Room, designed as a non-profit operation, according to Coyle.

For anyone waiting in staff "mug shot" in grand style, try the Renegade Room buffet tonight, usually on Friday. A variety of tasty goodies is prepared and served with skillful, imaginative and descriptive service, a liberal selection of occasional ice sculptures and live music. The palatable menu is the same engaging you back for seconds, if not compulsory.

The writer-maitre program lasts for nine weeks. Among the 15 trainees currently employed are Flora Chevenger (left), Marylndam (center), Crystal Enttery (top right), and Brenda Dean (lower right). Training includes hostesses duties, record keeping and cash register operation, in addition to food service procedures.

Staff photos: J.L. Stoops

Renegade Room manager Nita Choa and Food Services director Pat Coyle conduct one of the several lectures designed to emphasize the hands-on training in the dining room and kitchen.

Lavish setup shows the traditional chef's background for his training.

In an important place of bar hosting on it, brought the injuries of the modern cash register.