Collins to leave; Wright to take charge

By SAU YING CHU

Editor-in-Chief

BC Dean of Students Dr. Richard Wright, Jr., was appointed new BC president yesterday at the Board of Trustees meeting.

"We were out last night (March 11) after I had my meeting with the Board of Trustees, Dr. Young," new president-elect Wright did not even call his secretary, at all the time I was in the room, there," he felt good about the announcement today.

Wright did not know what will happen to his vacant dean of students job. "There definitely will be a dean of students.

The Board meeting was called to order at 4 p.m. and after the approval of the minutes and the issue of the resignation of Dr. John Collins, outgoing BC president, to return to president-elect Richard Wright, former BC dean of students.

By CORRINE JENNINGS

Feature Editor

A proclamation declaring this week National Women's History Week, proclaimed by Mayor Marilyn Shell and the Kern County Board of Supervisors, has been presented to the county building on Truston Avenue.

The week-long celebration will begin tonight and The Women's page will have a month's worth of guest writers.

Highlighting the festivities will be speaker Dr. Ruth Love, general supervisor of Child Development Schools. Love, a native of Bakersfield, will tell her own story of how she succeeded in getting to where she is now Monday, May 12, at 4 p.m. at GC

Monday's morning will be "Sonny Nigh" on May 14. This will be a simulated Los Angeles atmosphere with poker chips used to place money. The loss can be traded for prizes and meals and entertainment will be provided. $5.00 will be the minimum bid for prizes, and meals and entertainment will be provided.

AB's annual semi-formal Spring Dance will take place at Rio Bravo on April 26. The event will be catered and a band will provide entertainment.

Various activities will be sponsored by the above mentioned events, according to Terry Beasley, AB's Student Vice President. Student participation would be appreciated.

"We need some help with the planning and organizing of the upcoming events," said Beasley.

"We have more events than you can count on your fingers," added Collis.

All activities with the exception of the Health Fair will be open to the public. The health fair will be open to all students.

The Renegade Rip

Collins to leave; Wright to take charge

The Renegade Rip

State industrial ed conference here

By CLARE LOREN

Staff Writer

The California Industrial Education Association's annual statewide conference will take place Thursday-Saturday March 12-14.

"The conference will emphasize new and emerging technologies that our students demand and it will focus on industrial education, automation, and it's of vital importance that educators become aware of all the advancements," said Loren.

Gene Bellows, executive Director of the American Vocational Association, will speak at the Thursday morning session. "Automation and In-plant education, a new era." The seminar, was sponsored by the American Vocational Association, industrial education coordinators, industrial education department chairmen and vocational counselors. The seminar will be held at Oasis Royale Hotel.

Tom Haggard, a motivational speaker for the Industrial Education Association of the West, will repeat his popular annual meeting and commercial film." Mr. Haggard's film, "The Society," will be shown.

There will also be a workshop on "Industrial Education: An Overview," with a presentation in the morning and afternoon.

The seminar will be held at Century of Cincinnati Hilton and Continental Hotel.

The speaker will be Dr. John Collins, BC's president for over 10 years, officially begins his retirement Thursday March 13 but plans to remain available to students in the presidential transition if needed.
Opinion

No ‘C’, no play, no dough

By JOHN STOOPS

There is a movement afoot to convert the Southland’s premier school for the performing arts into an athletic campus. This is not the time for such a move. It is the time for us to consider what kind of academy we want New Plymouth Boys’ to be, and how we can move it forward.

For too long, New Plymouth Boys’ has been defined by its sports facilities. The school’s reputation has been built on its success in rugby, cricket, and athletics. But this has come at a cost. The school has become a place where students are expected to excel in sports, rather than in academics.

The school needs to focus on developing a culture of excellence in all areas, not just sports. This means providing opportunities for students to excel in the arts, sciences, and humanities. It means investing in the infrastructure that will allow these students to succeed.

The school also needs to consider the impact of its current facilities. The stadium, for example, is a liability. It is expensive to maintain, and it is a distraction for students. The school should consider selling the stadium and using the proceeds to fund a new, modern facility.

The school needs to be a place where students can excel in all areas, not just sports. This will require a cultural shift, but it is necessary for the school’s long-term success.

Whale watching fascinating sport

BY TERRIE CARMELL

The humpback whale, which can weigh as much as 40 tons and measure up to 50 feet in length, is a fascinating creature to watch. The whales are known for their acrobatic displays, including breaching and tail slapping, which can be observed in their natural habitat.

A trip to watch the whales with Pacific Whale Watch in New Plymouth is a memorable experience. The company offers guided tours on a 22-foot catamaran, which is the perfect size for viewing the whales without disturbing them.

After a three-hour tour off the coast, the catamaran sets sail in search of whales. The crew members are knowledgeable about whale behavior and can provide interesting information about the species. The whales are often seen flipping their flippers in the air, breaching, and swimming in a playful manner.

The whales are not the only attraction on the tour. The surrounding marine life, including dolphins, is also visible. The crew members are always on the lookout for other marine mammals, and they can provide information about the different species they encounter.

The trip is a perfect way to spend a day out in New Plymouth, combining the excitement of wildlife watching with the natural beauty of the area.

USFL bucks flow freely

By ROY NICHOLAS

The USFL, which began in 1983, was a professional football league that operated for six years. While the league struggled financially, it did attract some talented players and had some memorable moments.

The USFL was founded by Harry Lillis Caroll, the same man who founded the National Football League (NFL). The USFL was considered a rival to the NFL, but it was never a real threat.

The league was always in financial trouble, and it struggled to attract fans. The league was always short of cash, and it was always on the verge of collapsing.

The USFL did have its moments, however. The league had some talented players, including quarterback Dan Pastorini, who was voted the NFL’s Most Valuable Player in 1985.

The USFL did have some memorable games, as well. The 1985 Super Bowl between the Carolina Panthers and the Denver Broncos is one of the most memorable games in USFL history.

Young feeling better

By MIKE NICHOLAS

Young people are feeling better about the future. While the economic downturn has had a serious impact on young people, they are starting to feel more optimistic about their future.

The youth unemployment rate has dropped, and the number of young people in full-time education has increased. The government has implemented programs to support young people, and these programs are having a positive impact.

Young people are also feeling more confident. They are more likely to start their own businesses, and they are more likely to pursue their dreams.

This is a positive development, and it bodes well for the future. Young people are the future of the country, and their confidence is a good sign for the future.
Variety of services available for handicapped

by STEPHANIE SHUMWAY

The Handicapped Service Center, located on the second floor of Thompson Hall, offers a variety of services for handicapped students.

The center provides services to handicapped students with the ultimate goal of making all the services on campus accessible to all students. The mobility, learning and communication needs of handicapped students are met by the center.

The center also provides a variety of services to non-handicapped students, including study space, tutoring, and information about handicapped services on campus.

The center is staffed by two full-time counselors, one part-time counselor, and one part-time secretary.

The center is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 am to 5:00 pm.

The success of the center is measured by the number of students who use the services provided by the center.

The center has helped many students improve their mobility, learning, and communication skills. The center has also helped many students become more aware of the services available to them on campus.

The center continues to strive to provide the utmost in service to all students, regardless of their abilities.

Fame features dance, song

by CORINNE ZINGG

A dance and song contest is being held at Bakersfield College in order to promote the school's arts program. The contest is open to all students and will be judged by a panel of judges.

The contest will be held on Wednesday, March 20th in the Student Center. The winners will be announced later that day.

The contest is open to all students, regardless of their age or ability. The judges will be looking for creative and original entries.

The winners will receive prizes and will be featured in the school's arts program.

Kids' album a hit

by DAVID TRUDEL

A children's album has been released by the local music group, "Kid's Album.

The album features a variety of songs for children of all ages. The songs are arranged in a way that is fun and educational.

The album is available at the local record store and can also be purchased online.

Orchestra program set for Friday night

by TERESE CARSTEN

The Bakersfield College Orchestra will be performing a concert on Friday night. The concert will feature a variety of pieces, including a selection of classical music.

The concert will be held in the Student Center and is open to the public.

The concert will start at 7:30 pm and will last approximately one hour.

Forensics to host state meet

The Bakersfield College Forensics team will be hosting the state meet on March 25th. The meet will feature a variety of events, including speech and debate.

The meet will be held in the Student Center and is open to the public.

The meet will start at 9:00 am and will last approximately six hours.
Opinion

How do you feel about the Selective Service System requiring young men to be registered in order to obtain a Federal student loan?

By JEFF GIFFENZ

Last week, the Selective Service System began mailing registration cards to all men between the ages of 18 and 25. These cards are required to be returned within 30 days, and failure to do so will result in a fine of $500.

Not everyone is happy about this "mandatory" registration. In fact, some men believe it's a waste of time and money.

According to a recent survey conducted by the University of California at Berkeley, 52% of all freshmen were required to register with the Selective Service System. However, only 15% of those surveyed said they would be willing to register again if they had the chance.

The Selective Service System was created by Congress in 1940 as a way to ensure that men between the ages of 18 and 45 were eligible for military service. The system has been in effect since 1941, and millions of men have been registered.

The cost to the government for this program is estimated at $3 billion per year. This includes the cost of mailing registration cards, the cost of processing returns, and the cost of enforcing the law.

Some people argue that the Selective Service System is outdated and unnecessary. They point to the fact that the United States has not been at war since 1945, and that the Selective Service System is not needed to ensure that men are eligible for military service.

Others argue that the Selective Service System is necessary to ensure that men are prepared to serve in case of a national emergency. They point to the fact that the Selective Service System has been used to mobilize men for military service in the past, and that it is important to maintain the system in case of a future crisis.

The Selective Service System has been criticized for its bureaucracy and inefficiency. Many men have complained about the time and effort required to register, and the fact that they are required to register again every year.

In conclusion, the Selective Service System is a controversial issue. Some people believe it is outdated and unnecessary, while others believe it is necessary to ensure that men are prepared for military service. The system has been in effect for many years, and it is likely to continue in the future.
BC ‘steals’ victory from Seahawks

By JONATHAN DUMOULIN

The Associated Press

Seahawks quarterback Jim Zorn passed for 170 yards and two touchdowns. The game was tied at 7-7 in the fourth quarter before the Seahawks pulled away for a 14-7 win.

Bakerfield College Wolfpack coach Gerald Whisenhunt was pleased with his team’s performance.

“Overall, we played a great game,” Whisenhunt said. “The offense did a great job and the defense was solid.”

Santa Monica too tall for ‘Gades

By ADRIAN PETERSON

The Associated Press

Santa Monica College quarterback Mike Gallo completed 18 of 31 passes for 242 yards and two touchdowns. The Brahmas defeated the Gators 35-17, improving their record to 5-0.

Renegades squeak past Brahmans on fluke play

By NICK MCGHEE

The Associated Press

In a game that was tight throughout, the Renegades squeaked past the Brahmans with a last-second field goal.

Exhibit to open in BC art gallery

By WENDY REYNOLDS

The Associated Press

The exhibit, featuring works by local artists, will run from March 1 to March 31. The opening reception is scheduled for March 2.

Ruth Love: Capitalize on strengths

By BOBBIE HEINTZ

The Associated Press

Ruth Love, a long-time resident of the city, has been recognized for her contributions to the community. Love has been involved in various organizations and has volunteered her time to help others.

Quilling retreat Friday

By JENNIFER WILSON

The Associated Press

A quilling retreat will be held for a limited time only. Participants will learn the art of quilling, a craft that involves rolling paper strips into small, intricate shapes.

MECA officers named

By CAROLYN MILLER

The Associated Press

The newly elected officers of the MECA organization were announced at the recent meeting. The officers will serve one-year terms.

Umpires and scorekeepers needed

By KIMBERLEY JOHNSON

The Associated Press

Volunteers are needed to officiate and keep score during the upcoming season. Interested individuals should contact the MECA organization for more information.

March is nutrition month

By ROBERT WOOD

The Associated Press

This month is dedicated to nutrition. The focus is on the importance of a healthy diet and ways to improve one’s overall health.

Poetry deadline April 1

By JANET ELLIS

The Associated Press

Entries are being accepted for the annual poetry contest. Winners will be announced in May.
From the Editor

Duke a financial hazard

By BAYLOR CHU

As a student of a community college, we are often faced with the dilemma of deciding whether to pursue additional education or get a job. While this is a difficult decision for all community college students, it is particularly challenging for those who are considering Duke University. Duke, along with many other prestigious institutions, offers a unique opportunity for students who are looking to take their education to the next level. However, the cost of attending Duke can be a daunting obstacle for many students. In this article, we will explore the financial considerations that Duke presents to its students and discuss some potential solutions to this problem.

As I see it...

Sex and violence - No game!

By ROY COCHRAN

As an enterprising student, in this electrifying world of unexplored avenues, it's inevitable that we come across situations where our values and beliefs are challenged. One such situation is the portrayal of sex and violence in the media. These elements have become increasingly prevalent in our daily lives, and it's crucial that we critically evaluate their impact on our worldview.

Frost puts one over ASB

By NICK NICOLAIDES

ASB is a student organization that plays a significant role in the decision-making process of valley students. They are responsible for organizing various events and activities on campus, which can have a significant impact on the overall experience of the students.

Opinion

U.S. veterans in hospital

By DENNIS M. MILLER

At the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs Medical Center in North Carolina, touching stories of dedication and compassion unfold daily. These heroes, once brave men and women who served our nation, now face the challenges of aging and illness.

Student savings

Get special values on some of today's top music through April 15, 1983.
Macpherson plans to teach agriculture in Africa

By RICARDO S. FLORES
Staff Writer

"My personal plans include obtaining a major in agriculture and animal husbandry at BC and then continuing at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo before returning to Zaire, Africa to teach the people improved crop and animal raising methods," says Bob Macpherson, ASB freshman representative. "I intend to spend most of my life teaching in Zaire in an effort to improve their standard of living.

Macpherson, who has spent 17 years in Africa, says that "Although Zaire is a rich country from exposing copper and diamond, the people are very poor. The country has a high unemployment and literacy rate." Macpherson states that although the people in the country are very poor, they are very friendly. "If I'm on the road, the people would never hesitate to invite me into their homes, offering water and food." By MELISSA MUNOZ
Staff Writer

On July 30, 1982, Marco Ndemphull, a BC President's Scholar, left on a dreamcome-true trip to Venezuela where she took on a busy schedule filled with interesting activities. Marco's dedication is evident in all that she has accomplished and in the level of enthusiasm with which she has taken on new challenges.

"She's very happy and her presence was very positive," says Ndemphull's mentor, Pat Wilkins. "She's been wonderful to work with, her enthusiasm is contagious, and she's a very hard worker." By STAFF

Bob Macpherson filed a letter from his family members who still reside in Zaire, Africa.

Dream comes true for BC President's scholar

"On July 30, 1982, Marco Ndemphull, a BC President's Scholar, left on a dreamcome-true trip to Venezuela where she took on a busy schedule filled with interesting activities. Marco's dedication is evident in all that she has accomplished and in the level of enthusiasm with which she has taken on new challenges. "She's very happy and her presence was very positive," says Ndemphull's mentor, Pat Wilkins. "She's been wonderful to work with, her enthusiasm is contagious, and she's a very hard worker."

10th birthday in Maracaibo, and, instead of giving her 10 "pizzas" and a "futbol" to grow up, they threw her up in the air 10 times, which after a while can make you dizzy. Although she grew close to the Andrea family, there was one other special friend, Maria Jesus Cataldo, whom had just returned from Canada. Ndemphull explained that Cataldo understood how she felt being away from home. "She was eager to know what I was experiencing," continued Ndemphull. There is still some contact between the two friends. Upon her return, Jan. 4, Ndemphull as well as her family have not been able to see a change in her. She continued, "I really did change, I was more shy, I have more self confidence. I'm also more aware of people and the world around me." She also said, "My family says I speak my mind more than I used to. They feel that it was a fantastic experience and they like how I came back."