Andrews keeps his door open

by JOEL R. PARAMO
justin@bakersfieldcollege.edu

Andrews

Wllliam Andrews is Bakersfield College’s president and is going into his third year of office. He has been working with the California Community College System since 1991. Andrews is a community college graduate himself, making it easy for him to re- connect to students.

Andrews graduated from Marshall Town Community College in 1966. He says he has been a community college administrator in different states since 1991. “I think I understand what community colleges are all about.”

According to Andrews, he has an open door policy. "The only time it’s closed is when I’m out of the office or in a meeting I can’t get to in time," he said.

Andrews believes that having an open door policy helps him keep his desk or away from school, making himself more available to students and when it is a new year.

“The first week of school I’ll be getting out during the day, meeting the new students and help students find their way on campus,” he said. “I fully expect students coming to BC to be a high priority.

“Students don’t know what can happen but we have a lot of good people working here to make sure students are successful.”

Andrews has listed of plans and priorities for the coming year. His priorities include placing a major emphasis on making a better job of assisting first-year students be successful.

The first known as Foundations of Excellence, which involves over 900 full-time and part-time students in every aspect of what BC does with first-year students.

The service area, a key element in the Student Development Action Plan that will be presented to the community college, and they will be a member of them,” he said.

Andrews

Closing away to fall 2007

Bakersfield College student Andrew Torres starts the process to register for fall classes for his second year. Classes begin in late July and will continue until full in December.

Turney gives back to BC

by JOEL R. PARAMO
justin@bakersfieldcollege.edu

Name editor

If you happen to be around the Campus Center, chances are you’ll see your Dean of Students and SGA Advisor Don Turney, sitting in a busy Turney attended Bakersfield College from 1974 to 1976 as an underclassman. He has been a Bakersfield College student and profes­.

" I have a connection with BC,” said Turney. "I feel this school with that love I owe to the want to make sure the school is what I grew up in. I gave me my educational foundation and I’m glad I went on and succeed.”

Turney went on to receive two master’s degrees from Fresno State and Pepperdine universities, one in business management and one in psychology.

According to Turney, he found his voice here at BC and he credits his success in former controller and profes­.

"He grabbed me and showed me around. I went to help students find their own voice the way he helped me.

Turney feels as though he has to his students make mistakes even if he didn’t, they will beough conse­.

"I’m an advisor, not a dictator,” he said, "I want them to do the de­.

"When students talk to me, I don’t want them to feel I am the voice at the top, I want them to feel I am a source of help and support.

Turney has an open door policy and encourages students to talk to him.

"Any student can come see me,” said, "If I’m available students can make an appointment with me or I will have sufficient time for them.

Many things lead to success in Turney’s opinion, community in­.

"I’m here to make sure students get involved with school or community activities.”

Turney

BC catalog helps tread the career path

The BC catalog helps to point students in the career right direction.

by MARIZA CON
Features editor

The Bakersfield College catalog contains essential information and is usually in the student’s hands at least eight weeks before the start of the fall semester.

According to the July 21 issue of The Bakersfield Californian, aca­.

The catalog is a great resource for students who are looking to find classes that meet their needs.

According to the catalog, Bakersfield College offers over 400 majors, and professional degree programs are available in various fields.

Eduational and health services majors include health sciences, and professions.

Bakersfield College’s catalog is designed to provide students with the information needed to make informed choices about their career paths. The catalog includes a variety of options for students to choose from, including certificate programs, associate degrees, and bachelor’s degrees.

The catalog is available online at www.bakersfieldcollege.edu. It is updated regularly and is an essential resource for students.

BC catalog helps tread the career path

The Renegade Rugab would like to welcome all new and returning students back to school.

In hopes of enhancing your BC experience, the Renegade Rugab staff have compiled some images that may help families plan their homecoming season.

This special edition is a much smaller version of our regular editions, which are usually over 260 and 30 pages. Students and staff members will receive the following publications dates: Sept. 12, Sept. 28, Oct. 10, Oct. 26, Nov. 7, Nov. 16, Dec. 3.

You can look back to these regarding BC, features regarding events on and off campus, reviews an interviews, music, movies, concerts and events, and more.

Check out the following images and contents:

This special edition was compiled by:Eden Beck.cy, Ad/Marketing Manager, and Jamie Hamby, Managing Editor.

Copy editor: Krista Stahl
Photo editor: Eric Aguilar
Staff writer: Marcey Ropp
Counselors are essential for preparing students

By MARIANNE KOPP

Printed in red ink, the director of admissions for Bakersfield College, said the counseling center is crucial for students who need guidance to make the best decisions about their future.

"It's hard to get a handle on college," Kopp said. "It's a big transition, and it's important that students have someone who can help them navigate the process."

Kopp said the counseling center provides a wide range of services, from helping students choose the right major to offering support for students who are struggling emotionally.

"Our counselors are trained to help students identify their goals and work towards achieving them," Kopp said. "They can help students develop a plan for success and provide ongoing support as they work towards their goals."

Kopp said the counseling center also offers workshops and seminars to help students develop the skills they need to succeed in college. "We offer a variety of workshops and seminars on topics such as time management, study skills, and exam preparation," Kopp said. "These workshops are designed to help students develop the skills they need to succeed in college."

Kopp said the counseling center is open to all students, regardless of their background or experience. "We welcome all students, regardless of their background or experience," Kopp said. "We are here to help students succeed in college and to make sure they have the resources they need to be successful."

Kopp said the counseling center is located in the Student Services Building, and is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. "We are here to help students, and we are open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday," Kopp said. "We are here to help students succeed in college and to make sure they have the resources they need to be successful."

Purchasing a parking permit is a good idea

By MARIANNE KOPP

Parking permits are available for purchase through the Bakersfield College parking office, located in the Student Services Building.

"It's important to purchase a parking permit," Kopp said. "It's easy to get a parking ticket, and it can be expensive.""

Kopp said the parking office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. "We are here to help students purchase parking permits and answer any questions they may have," Kopp said. "We are here to help students, and we are open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday."
"Find your way at BC..."