Players pass on skills

By EIZABETH MEIKS

Bakersfield College football team has lost two great leaders, BC head coach Jeff Chad and line infantryman Steve McNeil. McNeil was a three-year starter on the varsity football team and a key contributor to BC’s 1-5 season last year. Chad has had a substantial impact on BC’s football program, guiding the team to its first winning season in five years.

BC football team not ‘executing’

By TAYLOR M. GOMER

Although BC has experienced some success in recent games, the team has struggled with execution. BC has faced challenges in blocking and tackling, and the defense has struggled to stop the run.

By VINCENT PACE

The Bakersfield College wrestling team has started its season with a local tournament. The team outperformed their opponents, with some wrestlers placing highly.

On your mark, get ready, run

By CARSON JONES

The Bakersfield College cross country team is training hard for the upcoming season. The team is focused on improving their times and competing at a higher level.

BC standoff leads defense with speed

By TAYLOR M. GOMER

The BC defense has been strong, allowing only 14 points per game. The key to BC’s success has been their ability to get off the field quickly after a turnover or a score.

New loop improves efficiency

By JAMIE W. WHITE

The BC administration has implemented a new loop system to improve efficiency. The loop will allow students to easily access their classes and reduce the need for unnecessary detours.

Buddy Walk raises awareness

Buddy Walk is a special event that raises awareness and funds for Down Syndrome. The event usually involves a walk or run, often accompanied by activities such as music, games, and raffles. Participants often wear buddy shirts or signs to promote awareness.

Chain of Bakersfield coffee shops suddenly close doors, shut down

The sudden closing of all locations of the coffee shop chain Supreme Bean has left local Bakersfield residents in shock. According to the National Down Syndrome Society, Bakersfield saw its first Buddy Walk at six years old and was organized by local organizations, such as the Bakersfield Youth Cancer Society. The buddy walk had a Buddy Bear Walk, which was held locally and included a Buddy Bear mascot.

The Buddy Walk promotes Down syndrome awareness and acceptance, according to Dave Rosenheim, who has participated in the event. Rosenheim described the Buddy Walk as a way to increase understanding and acceptance of individuals with Down syndrome.

The event was a perfect opportunity for David to see his friends, Rosenheim added. Bakersfield has its sixth year Buddy Walk, with the first Buddy Walk being organized by the Bakersfield Parent Support Group on National Down Syndrome Awareness Day. The Buddy Walk was organized to bring awareness to the down syndrome community.

Several local businesses also contributed to the event by offering donations or support. A local business, Chico's, donated $10,000 to the event. Some of the participants were enjoying the music, games, and raffles.

What is your experience with Buddy Walk events? Have you participated in any Buddy Walk events before? How do you feel about the Buddy Walk promoting Down syndrome awareness?

Analyze ru... childhood cartoons

By Ana Mendez

Imagine leaving the fictional character you respected and loved behind only to discover that the real world is just as ugly as the one depicted in this series. The main character, Babar, was a janitor at a hospital, and his only friend was a little robot named Nadine. The two were inseparable and would often go into adventures together, but the world was not kind to them. Babar was often shown as being tired and worn out, while Nadine was depicted as being overly excited and eager to help others. Despite their differences, they always managed to find ways to make each other laugh and smile.

My favorite moment in this series was when Babar convinced Nadine to help him clean up a mess in the hospital. The two worked together to fix the problem and even managed to make a few new friends along the way. It was a heartwarming story that showed the importance of friendship and hard work.

Overall, this series was a great introduction to the world of cartoon series. It taught me valuable lessons about life and showed me that even in the darkest of times, there is always hope. I would highly recommend this series to anyone looking for a fun and educational experience.

Cera and Dennings' chemistry makes film a success

By Andrew Landreth

One thing is for certain: the chemistry between the two leads, Nick and Norah, is undeniable. The film captures the essence of their relationship, and the audience can't help but feel pulled into their world. The chemistry between the two actors is so strong that it almost feels like they are the only ones in the room. Their interactions are so natural and effortless that it's hard to believe they aren't actually dating in real life.

The writing and direction were excellent as well. The story was well-paced, and the dialogue was witty and engaging. The writers did a great job of capturing the essence of the characters' personalities, and the direction was spot on. The cinematography was also impressive, with beautiful shots of the New York City skyline.

Overall, this film was a great success, and I highly recommend it to anyone looking for a fun and entertaining movie experience.
Mireles finishes 12th in men's 4-mile races

Bakersfield College men's cross country team finished 12th at the 2008 City College of Contra Costa Conference Championships on Sept. 27, with a combined team time of 38:37. The team was led by BC's James, who finished in 33:15. BC's James tied for first place in individual fifth-place finish.
