Winter days warm up

The California state budget, which was long overdue, was passed about two weeks ago. However, Bakersfield College students can expect fewer classes and longer waitlists.

By TORI KOCH

The wait for the California budget has ended as the Bakersfield College president Greg Chamberlain said that is a good budget for BC and the school's transfer center, Gregor De Ghell.

"The state recognized our role in a community college and our role in the economic problem," Chamberlain said.

Chamberlain said the school can now anticipate its ability to have must-needed classes, which is the economic problem.

Delano Campus professor dies of brain cancer

By AMBER TROJUE

Delano Campus is still in a ring of mourning for faculty member Robert Micklos, who had been teaching English at the campus since 1980. Micklos passed away last week, after being diagnosed with brain cancer.

"Robert was like a grandfather to me," said Jennifer Smith, a former student of Micklos. "He was always there for me, even after I left Delano."

Micklos had been a teacher for over 40 years before he was diagnosed with brain cancer in 2006. He taught at Delano Campus for 32 years, and then later at Bakersfield College, where he was a professor of English.

"He was an incredible teacher," said Mark Rice, a former student of Micklos. "He had a great way of making you think, and it was always fun learning with him."

Along with Christopher, other English professors were surprised to hear the news of his death. "We were all shocked," said David Jacobson, another English professor at Delano Campus. "He was such a well-loved member of the Delano faculty."

Micklos was known for his passion for teaching and his love for literature. "He always taught with his heart," said Smith. "He was so passionate about the works of Shakespeare, and it showed in his classes."

Micklos is survived by his wife, Carol, and his son, John. "We will miss him greatly," said Smith. "He was an incredible teacher, and we will always remember him with fondness."

MESA: Chevron gives $20,000 to BC program

The 2008 conference tournament hosted by WSC turned out to be a timely win for BC. The team finished fourth in the tournament, led by a 2-under-par 70 in the final round.

"We needed to win," said BC head coach Sandi Taylor. "We were playing well throughout the season, and we knew we had to close out strong."

Pitcher Myranda Sawyer delivered a pitch against Cypress, but was unable to prevent the Bobcats from scoring four runs in the ninth inning. "I was nervous," said Sawyer. "But I knew I had to relax and focus.""}

The Renegades won the first game of the series against L.A. Mission, but were unable to win the second game, falling to the Vaqueros in extra innings. "We had a chance," said BC head coach Sandi Taylor. "But we couldn't close it out."}

The Renegades now have a chance to upset L.A. Mission in the semifinals. "We have to play our best," said BC head coach Sandi Taylor. "We know we have a chance to win the championship."
Disney brings BC job offers

Disney internships offered at BC in the Football Room with an apartment and short commute.

The Rip

Disney College Program offers internships at a Disney resort, which is being offered at Bakersfield College. The program is open to all students, regardless of major, and the networking opportunities are excellent.

After the first five minutes of the seminar, students were able to ask questions and learn more about Disney's College Program. The seminar was presented by Mock, who emphasized the importance of networking and the opportunities available through Disney internships.

Disney offers a variety of internships, including behind-the-scenes roles in areas such as film production, marketing, and business management. Students can choose from a range of positions that align with their interests and career goals.

While working at Disney, students can gain valuable experience and skills that will be valuable in their future careers. Disney provides opportunities for students to develop their professional skills and build their resumes.

Mock noted that the seminar was only one part of the Disney internship experience. Students are encouraged to network and engage with Disney employees throughout their internship.

Mock encouraged students to consider applying for Disney internships, as the experience can be both rewarding and valuable for their future careers.

College students are adults, not kids

BY KELLY ADAMS
 Brilliant colors splash across the page of a February 2007 issue of Teen People. The cover shows a beautiful woman with a noticeable pierc by her right ear. The pull quote reads: "I was perky once. I had fabulous hair, too. I mean, a little too fabulous. Now I have a real job. With hair like that, you never know if you can't be fried at work. But in the end, does it matter?"

I always appreciated people who were colorful or had at least one piercing. I, too, have one piercing, but not by my right ear. I thought it was cool until I met two of my buddies. They had piercings by their right ear, as well. I was soooo impressed.

I want to start by saying I do not respect them. There are so many reasons why I think that people should not have piercings on their right ear.

For one, I think it is a little bit cray cray. I mean, I can see why people would want to have piercings on their right ear, but it just seems like such a weird fashion choice. I think that it is just a little bit too much.

Secondly, I think that it is a little bit tacky. I mean, I can see why people would want to have piercings on their right ear, but it just seems like such a weird fashion choice. I think that it is just a little bit too much.

Finally, I think that it is a little bit intelligent. I mean, I can see why people would want to have piercings on their right ear, but it just seems like such a weird fashion choice. I think that it is just a little bit too much.
