BC hosts ‘Garden Fest’ green expo

By Alisa M. Martinez

The Environmental Entrepreneurship Tour was brought to Bakersfield College by the Student in Free Enterprise (SIFE) on April 23. The event was held in the Forum from 2:30 p.m. to roughly 7 p.m. While people were walking into the forum, outside was a table set up so students and visitors could sign up for the event and in order to keep track of how many people attended they were served. Tea, Latte, 24, assistant tour manager.

While registering for the event, the audience was greeted backdrops with pamphlets and goodies inside. Coffee, tea, and donuts were featured by the American Free Press and students were handed out by the American Free Press as well.

The event consisted of enthusiastic speakers sharing stories and answering questions. Audience interaction was more than encouraged, in fact it was encouraged.

While people were filling up the seats, there was a presentation highlighting entrepreneurs, quotes from young entrepreneurs and great inventions of the world.

And Moodle, co-owner of The Entrepreneurship Tour, professional speaker, young entrepreneur and author, shared some of his business story with the audience and offered advice in order to accomplish.

“Step one is to commit to something. Step two is to find or learn the proper technique. Step three is to find people you are inicioing. Step four is to face your fears and just jump,”

He said.

“Our goal is to have you here with the inspiration and tools for you to start making money and know you knowing that if opportunity doesn’t knock you need to build the door,” said Moodle.

The EET’s goal is to demonstrate.

Fun in the sun: Kern style

Summer is upon us, and once we’re out of class, the world is our oyster for four months. For those bound to the smaller, Bakersfield-area oyster, don’t fret. There is still plenty to do, believe it or not. Here is your guide to summer fun … Kern County style.

Skydiving

After about 20 minutes of training, guests of Skydive Skydive can be in the plane and ready to jump. Skydive Skydive offers tandem skydiving for $160, with special prices for groups and military. They are open from 8 a.m. until sunset daily, but all jumps require a reservation. To make an appointment or for more information, go to www.skydiveSkydive.com.

Bakersfield Blaze

Bakersfield’s minor league baseball team plays at Sam Lynn Ballpark (4001 Chester Ave.) throughout the season. Game day prices range from $5 to $9, and groups can receive discounted tickets. There are different promotions every day of the week, including: free hot dogs, ships and drinks for children. 12 and under on Wednesdays; 3 domestic beer and 5 fountain drinks on Thursdays; and buy one-give one-free ticket offers for military, police, firefighters and paramedics on Fridays.

River Rafting

Kern River Tours, based in Lake Isabella, gives guests the chance to tour and explore the Kern River with experienced guides. Guests can choose from different difficulties, from mild to wild. Prices range from $66/55 for the three-mile “Likely Style” trip, to $885 for the five-mile-class-V difficulty “Forks of the Kern” trip. For more information, please visit www.KernRiverTours.com.

Raceways

Bakersfield car fans have two places to get their fix in the Bakersfield area. Famous Raceway and Bakersfield Speedway. Both tracks have events planned throughout the summer. Famous Raceway is located about 25 miles north of Bakersfield in McFarland, and Bakersfield Speedway is located at 5001 N. Chester Exit.

Wildlife

The California Living Museum’s CALM is home to various animals and plants native to California. Currently, CALM is featuring a new mountain lion/habitat exhibit, which is open to the public. The zoo houses more than 90 species of animals that cannot be released back into the wild for medical reasons. CALM is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $10 for adults, $7 for seniors, $5 for children (3-12) and free for children under six. CALM is located in Bakersfield at 10500 Almond Boulevard.

Art

Downtown Bakersfield is alive with art. Metro Gallery (6139 Bear Valley Rd.), Susan Galley (7170 Red Ave.), the Bakersfield Museum of Art (1740 R St.) and the Bakersfield Art Council (204 Turquoise) are full of art of different mediums. One Friday takes place downtown on the first Friday of each month and is an event that promotes these galleries and museums.

Wine

Onlookers of Bakersfield don’t have to travel far for wine tasting. Around Kern County, Inkle Wine and Spirit Merchant sells all kinds of wine from around the state, country and world. Inkle frequently has new arrivals and has events throughout the summer. Inkle is located in Bakersfield at 4450 Truxton Ave. and is open Monday through Saturday. From 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. For those willing to travel a little farther, the Stoney Vines and “Tuscany in Tulare.” The Stoney Vines tasting room and gift shop is open Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. For directions or more information on the Stoney Family Vineyard, visit www.StoneyFamilyVineyard.com.

Bars

For those interested in more fun wine, Bakersfield has numerous bars. From the speakeasy to the gay bar, there is bound to be the right bar for anyone. For a dive bar, check out The Mint (1207 9th St.) for a sports bar, try Tailgaters (200 S. Golden). One of the best bars in town is The Statesman (1910 Chester Ave.); a good place to go if you’re looking for the classic sports bar experience and are looking for a good time.

Camping and hiking

The Kern Valley is home to the Sequoia National Forest and many other areas for hiking and camping. One of the best northern California camping sites is the Trail of a Hundred Giants, a self-guided, half-mile hike. Center Creek Campground is about 10 miles west of Truxton and has miles near the campgrounds, including CM Road Campground.

PLAY: Bakersfield College theater director Jennifer Sampson pangs with “Dark comedy” lights up indoor theater

By Katie Avery

The play on campus, “The House of Blue Leaves,” opened at Bakersfield College April 29, to a sound of mostly applause.

According to director Jennifer Sampson, “The House of Blue Leaves” is a witty, dark comedy about an aging lounge singer with dreams of stardom. The main character, Artie, is 45 years old with a crazy wife, a dirty girlfriend and a son with a raw voice. "The whole family is obsessed with fame," she said.

Sampson says the actors have to convince the audience that the characters are real, yet they have to make all others they speak to believable. This is called "breaking the fourth wall." In theater, Ricky Usher, who plays Artie, said the biggest challenge in this play for him was having to "sing Artie’s song, ‘I’ve never sang in my life,’ and look totally convincing into interacting with the audience, and that feedback from an audience can make or break the performance.

"If they laugh, it means all the hard work I just put in paid off," he added. "The cast is wonderful, my mom bought a lot of candy."

"It looks like they did have a good tour in a opening night," said computer science major, Phillip Scott, 62, Scott, who attends many local shows and said his performance was very good. "It’s about, with a lot of humor, in 1 minute," he said.

Choose were set up at a hand-made platform directly on the stage in the theater so the audience was just a few feet away from the actors. Artie is playing a song on stage. "Seeing stage means more believable," said, Kathy Hart, the technical director. "The crew had to build a platform that could sit as close to 80 people comfortably and softly. "It’s a very intense experience," Sampson, 22, in charge of all the technical aspects of the play, primarily lighting sound and set. "It was only 10 seconds and I thought the play wasn’t going to work. It’s so tight that even at 80 feet away," she added.

Sampson noted, "It’s OK to laugh. In addition to acting, Kathy went to a rehearsing to improve her own confidence."

Playing a male in a male role, Riki Suzuki, and he said that playing in a role in the stageword and most challenging role he has had. "I’m trying to relate as much as a woman is." "I truly love the more in the play, they come onto the scene and then they just join in," Levis said about her favorite scene. "The Pope is being pult at BC’s indoor theater May 6, 7 and 8 in Pal. Cal. Student admission is $5.00 and $5.50 for students, staff, seniors and military.

This will be Barkersfield College's first graduation ceremony on April 15 in Memorial Stadium, according to a graduation coordinator at the school.

According to a graduation coordinator at the school, about 1,800 Vanguard University students will participate in the ceremony on April 15. Approximately 300 of the students are Vanguard University students who are participating in a community college education program.

"Vanguard University students are not graduate students, but Vanguard University students are participating in the community college education program," said Laura Lira, a Vanguard University graduation coordinator. "Vanguard University students are participating in the community college education program, so they are not graduate students."

Several hundred Vanguard students who are participating in the community college education program are expected to participate in the ceremony.

GARDEN FEST: Annual BC Garden Festival takes over campus

"I don't think about it," said Ramírez. "I think it's really cool," said Ramírez.

They had more BC groups than any other group this year, and with the help of a California teacher, I had the biggest group of the year. I don't know why it happened, but the priority goes to the people who are there. I love being involved with people that you can connect with, and the more you fail, the better you become.
