Chudy family bonds on more than just sports

By Zaki Croman

As Jeff Chudy, the head coach of the Bakersfield College football team, is preparing his team for the next experiment, his daughter, Hannah Chudy, will be helping the BC volleyball team compete against the Cuyamaca Community College in a Western State Conference match-up.

Hannah enjoys being brought up around BC athletics through her father. “It’s exciting having a head coach as a dad, because you’ve been around this stuff your whole life,” she said. “I’ve been around the family, even when I was one, so it’s really cool that I get to grow up around athletics, and experience a lot.”

Hannah received an email about both of them being at the volleyball game that day. She got to see her dad a lot more often than usual.

Some people might think that having a coach as a parent sounds like a dream job, but in some ways it might prevent people from reaching their goals. “I feel like I have to work twice as hard as anyone else to prove myself,” she said. “I don’t feel like pressure, but I’m just really supportive of everything I do.”

Hannah said that her dad has allowed her in a lot of ways, but there’s nowhere she wouldn’t be if she didn’t have him. “In his head, that’s the strong impact of our family, and he’s really hard working in everything he does,” she said. “He’s a leader, in the family, and is really ready to tell me that I’m ready to tell me you’re ready,” said Chudy. “He didn’t really know what she wanted to be, it’s completely on her, and it will give her a chance to be involved, or if she wants to be and enter into this stuff in a subservient way.”

Chudy said that all of his sons have been BC volleyball players, and it’s a great place for local athletes to play. “I think we come out of that transition, and we’re ready when the opportunity presents itself,” he said.

Chudy said that Hannah is one of the team’s leaders, and she will be a leader her whole life. “We’re really lucky to have a young person just like her,” he said. “She’s always been the type of person who is going to thrive anybody or do anything. She has kind of been able to pick up and swing what she wanted to do, and she has always had volleyball.”

Chudy said that he hasn’t had a chance to watch one of Hannah’s games, mostly because she is busy with the football season, but he was able to watch her in volleyball the other day. “Even though Chudy is proud of Hannah’s athletic endeavors, he holds her education in higher regard.”

“Without a doubt (I’m proud of her),” he said. “I’m excited that she also wants what she does really enjoy her classes and that part of it is obviously something in a parent you want your kid to do.”

“Every step that you take is taking you into education and at the goal of it and they really are,” she said. “I’m glad that she’s involved in extracurricular activities.”

BC looks to end long road trip in positive fashion

By Julian Moore

The Bakersfield College volleyball team has played in two tournaments, six matches, and had to deal with the postponement of a game against Cuesta College, all of which have come on the road for over a three-week period.

During the span of eight games, the Renegades have a 5-3 record. The team was one loss to the number 10-ranked Santa Barbara City College, which came by the scores of 25-11, 25-11, 25-18.

The 5-3 win against the Roadrunners was a loss to the number 10-ranked Santa Barbara City College, which came by the scores of 25-11, 25-11, 25-18.

By the end of the road trip, head coach Carl Penner feels the team gained some experience from the games.

"I feel as a team we played awesome. We had an outstanding defensive game," he said.

It’s the opposite of what the team has been doing in the matches that they’ve won. "I think we’re just not as good on our defense," he said.

The Renegades have an upcoming home game on the schedule. After a game against the Cuesta Community College, Penner was looking forward to finally being back at home.

"It’s always fun to play at home, it’s always better to play at home," he said.

Penner said that he’s been in the game since he was one. "I’ve been in the game since I was one," he said. "I’ve been playing for a long time, and I’ve been coaching for a long time, and you’re always trying to change your defense and even your offense to different things."
Men and women finish third

The Bakersfield College men’s and women’s cross country teams competed in their only home invitational on Oct. 1.

The women’s cross country team finished third as a team in the #5 invitational, with a total score of 52 behind Ventura College and City College of the Cannons.

Dorina Mercado, 18, was the first BC runner for the women to come in, and the finished fourth overall with a time of 21:26. “I think the girls overall worked really hard at practices,” said Mercado. “I don’t know if it’s all at the most, but I’m satisfied with the outcome.”

“I feel like the weather didn’t help at all. All the runners are feeling the same way, so I had no help at all, but all the runners are just doing their best,” said Martinez. Margarita Martinez had higher expectations than her 7th overall finish, but she said that her outings contributed to her 23:36 time. “I’ve been having trouble breathing lately,” said Martinez. “It’s not like it’s a hard course, so it’s easy, it’s just that I can’t keep up with them, but for me it’s the best.”

Patience, the coach for the women’s cross country team, thought her team performed very well. “I think we are working toward getting a little bit more,” said Kelley. “We need to move forward, do more, feel, and see if we can do it better.” She said that she was proud. “I know the conditions aren’t what they are, but I’m happy about it.”

“I think the team did really good, but I don’t think we’re quite there yet. We need to work on our regiments a little more and just go out there and run,” said Lazarit. Santiago Lazarit, men’s cross country runner.

“I thought it was a good experience. We had a chance to compete, we didn’t have to leave at five in the morning, and it’s our home only meet of the year,” said Perez. Perez is hoping the women can improve as a team overall going forward. “I hope our girls can have better races for the rest of the year. I think we did today, where, you know, we ran together and did better than expected,” said Perez.

“I think the team did really good, but I don’t think we’re quite there yet. We need to work on our regiments a little more and just go out there and run,” said Lazarit. Santiago Lazarit, men’s cross country runner.

“I thought I met my expectations,” said Lazarit. “I’ve been drinking a ton of water the past few days, but today the weather was too hot and humid, but I liked how resilient we were.

“It was tough, the course should be really easy, but it’s a tough course when you factor in the weather.”

Lazarit doesn’t think the team met its full potential at the invitational. “I think the team did really good, but I don’t think we’re quite there yet. We need to work on our regiments a little more and just go out there and run,” said Lazarit. Santiago Lazarit, men’s cross country runner.

“Still, you just have to keep running and see where we go from there,” she said. The men’s cross country team finished third, with a total score of 82. Jorge Perez won the first of the men’s team to cross the finish line with a time of 23:21, and he finished overall.

Men and women finish third

The Bakersfield College women’s soccer team lost 3-0 to Santa Monica College on Oct. 1. The women faced and is pleased with how the players are responding. “We’re trying to see a peeking order developing a little bit,” he said. “Some of the places are interchangeable, though, and I think it’s good that they don’t have a pecking order in that respect, but they all belong in, and they all do a little harder.”

Frickel said that he thinks the men’s team met expectations, and that he thinks the women’s team had their best day of the season as a team.

FOOTBALL: Renegades lose first game of the year

The Renegades lost their first game of the year on Oct. 2, falling to Mt. SAC 34-20 at Memorial Stadium.

Mt. San Antonio College defensive back Deshawn Gaisie (20) returns an interception to BC's 1-yard line. Gaisie returned the interception to BC's 1-yard line. The Renegades get a bye week before traveling to Hancock on Oct. 3 for their first conference matchup of the season.

"We struggled with everything that we tried to do," said head coach Dan Chudy. "Defensively, we have a group of kids that are capable of playing at a high level, but we didn't play at our highest level. We knew going into this game, but we would have to execute at a high level and we just couldn't get it done."

Lamaison threw for 398 yards and one touchdown on 22-for-38 passing, and Mt. SAC running back Bryce McBride ran the ball 27 times for 129 yards and one touchdown.

"We converted on third down and our is sues too. Collectively as a group we have to get better," said Chudy.

"Inconsistency is an enemy for everybody, and I'll be the first guy to admit it," he said. "I have to look in the mirror and say, 'Why didn't we do that?' And we're going to have to right the ship. I think we have a group of kids that are capable of playing at a high level, but we didn't play at the level that we needed to play at, and at the end of the day, that's on me," he said.

It was a normal Saturday night on the corner of Stockdale Highway and California Avenue. Families converged on hamburgers, nachos, and Jamba Juice at the local shopping center. However, for this gathering of shoppers, there was a significant difference.

As people streamed into the mall, a group of actors dressed as zombies began to meander through the crowds. The scene was eerily realistic, with actors wearing gory makeup and costumes that brought the scenario to life.

The event was organized by the Bakersfield Zombie Walk, a group of local enthusiasts who have been actively promoting the event for several years. The goal was to bring together the community and raise awareness for a good cause.

Bakersfield’s first-ever Zombie Walk takes over the night to benefit local charities

The event took place on Halloween night, and it was a huge success. The organizers estimated that over 1,000 people participated in the event, with many more watching from the sidelines.

As the night progressed, the crowd grew, with people of all ages and backgrounds coming together to enjoy the festivities. The event included live music, a costume contest, and a variety of food and drinks.

“Zombies are a fun and unique way to bring people together and raise awareness for important causes,” said one attendee. “It’s a creative way to give back to the community.”

The event was a huge success, with funds raised going to support local charities. The organizers were pleased with the turnout and are already planning for next year’s event.

“I think we’ve shown that the community is ready for more of these types of events,” said the organizer. “We’re looking forward to seeing everyone come together again next year.”
