By R. Blaney

‘Driven by Art’ brings color and whimsy to downtown Bakersfield

If anyone has driven around downtown Bakersfield after Oct. 2, they may have seen the painted trucks on display as part of the Bakersfield Museum of Art’s project, “Driven by Art.”

The trucks “Bounty” by Ali Vaughn (front) and “CALI49A” by Jorge Guillen (rear) are located at the intersection of California Street and 19th Street.

Art’s project, “Driven by Art,” is one of the most used images of downtown Bakersfield after Oct. 2, they may have seen the whimsy to downtown Bakersfield because Structure Cast is a concrete platform attached to each of the vehicles. They also provided the concrete platforms to attach to each of the vehicles.

Choco Finish said she entered the first art contest and ended up winning the first place. “I was kind of surprised,” she said. “I really didn’t think I was going to win.

Koeth also added a little whimsy to the accuracy by re-painting the typical truck onto each with a set of “atlatl” that someone would paint, that they have no idea about space. The film featured big names like Matt Damon, Jeff Daniels, Jessica Chastain and many more. Though Andy Weir of the Bakersfield Post called the “Dystopian” example of real sci-fi for years.” The book was a hit and was quickly adapted to the big screen in 2015.

The movie “The Martian” was a hit, so Weir, who works for NASA’s Jet Propulsion Laboratory, decided to write his own novel. He based it off of things he learned while working on the space shuttle program.

The idea for the book came from his father, who was a physics professor. He inspired Weir to write the book, and it was published in 2013.

The book is about a Mars astronaut named Mark Watney, played by Matt Damon, and how he gets stranded on the planet and has to find a way to survive. Weir talked about the process of starting with the beginning part of his life being raised in Northern California by his brother, and how both became interested in science.

Weir’s mother, who was also a writer, encouraged him to pursue his passion for writing. He began writing short stories and then turned to science fiction, eventually publishing his first novel, “The Martian.”

Weir’s book was well received by critics and fans alike, and it was later turned into a successful film starring Matt Damon. The movie was a hit, and it helped to bring science fiction to a wider audience.

Weir has continued to write and publish science fiction novels, and his work has been translated into multiple languages. He has also been involved in writing and producing for television and film.

Weir has been an inspiration to many aspiring writers and scientists, and his work has helped to inspire a new generation of readers and fans of science fiction.
If you have questions on balance, I encourage you to start talking about them. It can be difficult to talk about anxiety, but it is important to understand that anxiety is a normal part of life. Sometimes anxiety can be overwhelming, and it can be helpful to seek support from a mental health professional. It is important to remember that anxiety is not a sign of weakness, and it is not something that you should try to hide or suppress. Instead, it is important to acknowledge and work through your anxiety in a healthy way. This can include seeking support from friends and family, practicing self-care, and using relaxation techniques such as deep breathing and progressive muscle relaxation.

The earlier you can discover that you have anxiety, the easier it will be to manage it. Anxiety is a lifelong condition, and learning how to manage it can improve your quality of life. It is important to work with a mental health professional to develop a plan for managing your anxiety.

When anxiety is severe, it can be helpful to seek treatment from a mental health professional. This can include therapy, medication, or a combination of both. It is important to work with a mental health professional to develop a treatment plan that is right for you.

It is important to remember that anxiety is a normal part of life, and it is not something that you should try to hide or suppress. Instead, it is important to acknowledge and work through your anxiety in a healthy way. This can include seeking support from friends and family, practicing self-care, and using relaxation techniques such as deep breathing and progressive muscle relaxation.
BC students take part in try to pit Paradise, one of the food trucks invited on campus.

Bakersfield College's decision to allow food vendors, such as Paradise in Cal Poly, on campus has become a welcomed alternative food source that benefits both the students and the vendors.

Marisol Santiago, an employee of Paradise in Cal Poly, said that she was contacted by Eric Sabella, manager of Food Services at BC, to come on campus. “Eric Sabella from Food Services. He touched us out on hand and he asked us if we’d be like to come once a week or twice a week, and we agreed to come on Monday and Tuesday every week from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. or 12 p.m. to 3 p.m. according to section 5.66.020. Food Vehicles must park at least 50 feet away from public schools or parks if they serve alcohol or operate in an area designated by the city or county Health Services Department.”

Santiago claimed that she loves coming on campus to serve food. “It’s very nice, it’s totally different. It’s a great opportunity, especially because you have students watching from one class to another so you have the ability to see what they enjoy. We do all we and the business owners can to make people comfortable and not cause violations,” she said.

Santiago said she hopes to continue coming on campus as long as possible.

Bakersfield College student Shana Shaire, 18, said that having food trucks come to campus is a good thing for the students. “It’s pretty convenient, and they have really good choices of food. It’s pretty cheap too, I really like it.”

Marc Pace, 20, also felt that having food trucks on campus is a good idea for the students. “It’s a good alternative place to get food, you get variety. We’re not stuck with caldor’s, we have options,” Pace said.

Nicholas Simpson, owner of California Hot Dog and former BC student, said that he was also contacted by Eric Sabella from Food Services for the opportunity to come on campus. “We were contacted by the food department, Eric Sabella. He said that he had a lot of students on campus this year and that they wanted some vendors from out in the community to起伏 tos a bit and give people different options since there are so many people and so much traffic in the caldor’s,” Simpson said.

Simpson said that like Pita Paradise, she also has a temporary contract with BC, which means to fulfilling a fantasy she got the opportunity of achieving a dream to make fresh food for BC students. “It’s a good alternative place to get food, you get variety. We’re not stuck with caldor’s, we have options,” Pace said.

Simpson has had hopes of creating an organization on campus, and now with Eric Sabella’s support, she has the opportunity to do so. “We have the opportunity of creating an organization on campus like this, and now we have the opportunity to create something that will empower their daily lives,” Cervantes said.

Cervantes credits his upbringing in Bakersfield, where he grew up with 33 siblings, as a key factor in making him the man he is today. “I come from a small family, and my parents used to move a lot, but through my family, I learned that no matter how much you move, you can still make your mark in the world.”

Cervantes added that he hopes to one day make a movie about his life, something he has been working on for years. “I hope to one day make a movie about my life, because I feel that my story is important to share with others.”

Cervantes said that he hopes to one day open a business of his own, something he has been working on for years. “I hope to one day open a business of my own, because I feel that my story is important to share with others.”
Abortion protest sparks controversy among students on BC campus

By Daniel Jones James

Abortion protest sparks controversy among students on BC campus. A pro-life group set up a stall in the Cafeteria in-between the DJ’s music. This led to a debate on the event in the BC campus about what was happening. The group was protesting against abortion and were calling for a halt to the procedure.

The group was made up of students who believed that abortion was not the right thing to do. They were there to protest against the procedure and to make people aware of the consequences of abortion. The group was supported by their peers and they were ready to go on the protest.

The students were asking for more control over their bodies and they wanted to have the right to choose whether they wanted to have a child or not. They believed that women should have the right to decide what happens to their bodies.

The students were tired of having to make decisions for others and they were tired of the burden that comes with raising a child. They wanted to have the choice to make decisions for themselves.

The students were not the only ones who were protesting. Other groups were also protesting against the procedure. They were calling for a halt to the procedure and they wanted to make people aware of the consequences of abortion.

The students were not alone in their protest. Other groups were also protesting against the procedure. They were calling for a halt to the procedure and they wanted to make people aware of the consequences of abortion.

The students were tired of having to make decisions for others and they were tired of the burden that comes with raising a child. They wanted to have the choice to make decisions for themselves.

The students were not the only ones who were protesting. Other groups were also protesting against the procedure. They were calling for a halt to the procedure and they wanted to make people aware of the consequences of abortion.

The students were tired of having to make decisions for others and they were tired of the burden that comes with raising a child. They wanted to have the choice to make decisions for themselves.

The students were not the only ones who were protesting. Other groups were also protesting against the procedure. They were calling for a halt to the procedure and they wanted to make people aware of the consequences of abortion.

The students were tired of having to make decisions for others and they were tired of the burden that comes with raising a child. They wanted to have the choice to make decisions for themselves.

The students were not the only ones who were protesting. Other groups were also protesting against the procedure. They were calling for a halt to the procedure and they wanted to make people aware of the consequences of abortion.

The students were tired of having to make decisions for others and they were tired of the burden that comes with raising a child. They wanted to have the choice to make decisions for themselves.

The students were not the only ones who were protesting. Other groups were also protesting against the procedure. They were calling for a halt to the procedure and they wanted to make people aware of the consequences of abortion.

The students were tired of having to make decisions for others and they were tired of the burden that comes with raising a child. They wanted to have the choice to make decisions for themselves.
Joanne’s is Gaga at her best

By Kyle Cortez

Joanne’s: The Renegade Rip

The Renegade Rip, Wednesday, November 2, 2016

Joanne’s is an incredible place to see Lady Gaga in her profile with a unique style. We go past the entrance where Lady Gaga is sitting and turn right.

In the dining area we can see that Lady Gaga is sitting on a large stage with a microphone and a huge video screen behind her. The place is full of people sitting on chairs, and Lady Gaga is standing in front of the screen, talking to the audience.

After a few minutes, Lady Gaga begins to sing. The music is loud and the atmosphere is electric.

Lady Gaga wears a black dress with a white collar and a black hat. She looks beautiful and is in perfect shape.

The audience is cheering and clapping as Lady Gaga sings. The song is intense and emotional, and the people in the audience are obviously moved by the performance.

The show goes on for another 30 minutes, and then Lady Gaga thanks the audience and walks off stage. The crowd cheers and claps as she leaves.

Overall, Joanne’s is a fantastic place to see Lady Gaga. The venue is great, the sound system is excellent, and the performance is amazing. If you’re a fan of Lady Gaga, you should definitely check out Joanne’s next time you’re in town.
Bakersfield College will have its ninth annual Comic-Con this year on Nov. 12-13, starting at 10 a.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. "I felt like this year was my year," said student Dylan Luebbert. "I finally got to do it!" Luebbert started studying comic books and creating his own at the age of 9. He started attending comic conventions three years ago, and this year he was selected as a Comic-Con exhibitor. "I was extremely happy interacting with the attendees," said Luebbert. "I wish I had the chance to do it again." Among the celebrities in attendance was Mike Vosburg, who created the character "Wade Wellstone" for the movie "The Punisher," which was released in 1989. Vosburg said he was surprised to see so many people attending the event both days with a one-day pass. "I have been promoting shows with my wife. His house has a yard with a Captain America billboard on it," Vosburg said. "He just didn't have time to do it."

By Stephen Underwood

The event will also have comic industry veteran Steve Lightburn, who created "30 Days of Night." Among the celebrities in attendance will be Steve Niles, who created "The Walking Dead." Wyatt said, "There will be no alcohol or drugs, and anybody who tries to handle Comic-Con here, but he just didn't have time to do it."

By Stephen Underwood

Bakersfield College held a Mental Health Awareness event on campus on Oct. 27. Multiple tables were set up in the middle of the Student Union Center and nearby sidewalk with the help of BC staff and BC students. "I felt like this event was meant for a group much larger than just us," said student Brandon Davis. "I was surprised at how many people actually attended." The primary speakers (Victor, Maria, and Jesus) were not delivering speeches to much of an audience. In a very personal, off-the-record, extremely authentic conversation. Only the first 100 registered students were given the opportunity to pick up a name tag at the reception desk. The students were pleased about the feedback.

By James Macias

The second annual Student Leadership Conference organized by the Student Government Association (SGA) was held in the Delano campus on Oct. 25. The student union was held in the main multi-purpose room of the Delano campus. The five-hour event was attended by about 30 students. The event was meant to be a forum for the student body to voice their opinion on important issues. Only the first 100 registered students were given the opportunity to pick up a name tag at the reception desk. The students were pleased about the feedback.

By James Macias

The second annual Student Leadership Conference organized by the Student Government Association (SGA) was held in the Delano campus on Oct. 25. The student union was held in the main multi-purpose room of the Delano campus. The five-hour event was attended by about 30 students. The event was meant to be a forum for the student body to voice their opinion on important issues. Only the first 100 registered students were given the opportunity to pick up a name tag at the reception desk. The students were pleased about the feedback.

By James Macias

The second annual Student Leadership Conference organized by the Student Government Association (SGA) was held in the Delano campus on Oct. 25. The student union was held in the main multi-purpose room of the Delano campus. The five-hour event was attended by about 30 students. The event was meant to be a forum for the student body to voice their opinion on important issues. Only the first 100 registered students were given the opportunity to pick up a name tag at the reception desk. The students were pleased about the feedback.

By James Macias

The second annual Student Leadership Conference organized by the Student Government Association (SGA) was held in the Delano campus on Oct. 25. The student union was held in the main multi-purpose room of the Delano campus. The five-hour event was attended by about 30 students. The event was meant to be a forum for the student body to voice their opinion on important issues. Only the first 100 registered students were given the opportunity to pick up a name tag at the reception desk. The students were pleased about the feedback.
The measure would approve $9 billion in funding for the form of bonds for the state to build modern schools, including K-12 public schools, charter schools, and vocational schools. $2.5 billion would be designated to support preschool and development centers for low-income children. Prop 57 would also authorize certain parole reforms to help offenders to reenter the workforce. This would be a huge step toward modernizing our educational infrastructure, though it would come with a cost of about half a billion dollars for a year 35 years from now.

Supporters include: changing the California Education Code from requiring porn actors to wear face masks, so that citizens can identify porn stars. Opponents include: the National Rifle Association, which argues that school shootings could be reduced if more teachers and other school personnel were armed.

Prop 56, named the Adult Use of Marijuana Act, would legalize marijuana for personal use in the state of California. It would allow for the sale and distribution of recreational marijuana products, including medical marijuana, adult use and children’s products. This measure would also reduce or eliminate fines for those caught possessing marijuana for personal use. This measure would also fund public health programs, research, and education efforts to inform the public about the effects of marijuana.

Prop 63: This measure would require a background check to purchase ammunition, and would ban large-capacity magazines and establish procedures to ensure that the background checks are conducted. Opponents include: the National Rifle Association, which argues that this measure would infringe on the Second Amendment rights of law-abiding citizens. Prop 63 would also reduce or eliminate fines for those convicted of possessing a gun without a background check.

Prop 65: This measure would authorize the use of condoms by performers in pornographic films, and would require that any condoms used in pornographic films be made from natural latex or natural rubber. Prop 65 would also fund research to study the effectiveness of condoms in preventing the transmission of sexually transmitted infections.

Prop 66: This measure would increase the tax on cigarettes by $2 a pack, which would be primarily used to offset health care spending.

Prop 57: This measure would allow the use of categories and regulations for the state of California. It would allow for the sale and distribution of recreational marijuana products, including medical marijuana, adult use and children’s products. This measure would also reduce or eliminate fines for those caught possessing marijuana for personal use. This measure would also fund public health programs, research, and education efforts to inform the public about the effects of marijuana.

Prop 63: This measure would require a background check to purchase ammunition, and would ban large-capacity magazines and establish procedures to ensure that the background checks are conducted. Opponents include: the National Rifle Association, which argues that this measure would infringe on the Second Amendment rights of law-abiding citizens. Prop 63 would also reduce or eliminate fines for those convicted of possessing a gun without a background check.

Prop 65: This measure would authorize the use of condoms by performers in pornographic films, and would require that any condoms used in pornographic films be made from natural latex or natural rubber. Prop 65 would also fund research to study the effectiveness of condoms in preventing the transmission of sexually transmitted infections.

Prop 66: This measure would increase the tax on cigarettes by $2 a pack, which would be primarily used to offset health care spending.

Prop 57: This measure would allow the use of categories and regulations for the state of California. It would allow for the sale and distribution of recreational marijuana products, including medical marijuana, adult use and children’s products. This measure would also reduce or eliminate fines for those caught possessing marijuana for personal use. This measure would also fund public health programs, research, and education efforts to inform the public about the effects of marijuana.

Prop 63: This measure would require a background check to purchase ammunition, and would ban large-capacity magazines and establish procedures to ensure that the background checks are conducted. Opponents include: the National Rifle Association, which argues that this measure would infringe on the Second Amendment rights of law-abiding citizens. Prop 63 would also reduce or eliminate fines for those convicted of possessing a gun without a background check.

Prop 65: This measure would authorize the use of condoms by performers in pornographic films, and would require that any condoms used in pornographic films be made from natural latex or natural rubber. Prop 65 would also fund research to study the effectiveness of condoms in preventing the transmission of sexually transmitted infections.

Prop 66: This measure would increase the tax on cigarettes by $2 a pack, which would be primarily used to offset health care spending.

Prop 57: This measure would allow the use of categories and regulations for the state of California. It would allow for the sale and distribution of recreational marijuana products, including medical marijuana, adult use and children’s products. This measure would also reduce or eliminate fines for those caught possessing marijuana for personal use. This measure would also fund public health programs, research, and education efforts to inform the public about the effects of marijuana.

Prop 63: This measure would require a background check to purchase ammunition, and would ban large-capacity magazines and establish procedures to ensure that the background checks are conducted. Opponents include: the National Rifle Association, which argues that this measure would infringe on the Second Amendment rights of law-abiding citizens. Prop 63 would also reduce or eliminate fines for those convicted of possessing a gun without a background check.

Prop 65: This measure would authorize the use of condoms by performers in pornographic films, and would require that any condoms used in pornographic films be made from natural latex or natural rubber. Prop 65 would also fund research to study the effectiveness of condoms in preventing the transmission of sexually transmitted infections.
Women's basketball looking to rebound following last season

By Kyle Cortez
Managing Editor

The Bakersfield College women's basketball team is hoping to rebound from this year's loss after a season that saw them go 21-2 last year. "You know I'm excited about this year's group. We had three of those coming back from last year's team, we've got 10 new players. They've really bought into what we do and they're learning how to play well together," said head coach Penny Dahl. "We're going to be really fun to watch. We're going to play an extremely aggressive style of defense and we want to keep our post players at the end of September and we were really pleased with how they performed. They competed really well with some of the top teams in the state, so I believe that this year we're going to see a lot of success and we're going to be extremely competitive in every game, it's going to be fun; this is another group of really talented players that are just getting 100 percent to the system we're working with this year."

"I said that we're going to have returning players develop their game from last year, this year has been amazing for her to develop. They've shown tremendous growth and a lot of improvement, they've evolved greatly since their recruitment. I believe that they're able to help the other players. They've spoken about what's going to be happening so I think that they're able to help the other players in the development that they have," said Dahl.

"It's a great group and our basketball IQ is much higher this year, that's obvious. I'm excited to see what we're going to get," said Dahl.

"Though the team doesn't have the deal height, Dahl believes that her team makes up for it with quickness, speed and team effort. "We are very tenacious. In the showing there were some definite rotator that I've never seen before. They're going to be fun to play with. We're going to play an incredibly aggressive, risk-taking style of defense and I believe they're capable of a phenomenal job as they've been doing. I believe we'll get out and run and we got to box out and get the ball. As long as we box out, I think we'll be OK, but if we don't people are going to be able to dominate on us," said Dahl.

"I think at the end of the season, we want to be in playoffs and that's what we're working toward. The first day practice, I showed a picture of cutting down the net and we're working toward that. Last year was a tough year. This team is looking for a lot of consistency and we're sick of playing each other. We need to play somebody else. I think the possibilities are endless with this team and I'm excited about that," said Dahl.

Football prepares for playoff push

As the season winds down, BC controls its own destiny for the postseason

By Kyle Cortez
Managing Editor

The Bakersfield College football team (6-2 overall, 2-1 National Northern Conference) has won five of its last six and is currently in second in the conference.

The Renegades (4-2, 2-1 NNC) suffered their first loss Saturday night when they were defeated 28-14 by Cerritos College. Oct. 22 and went 26-21 on homecoming night against Santa Monica College. The scoring drive started until the second quarter when Derek Vickers ran for a 4-yard touchdown to put BC up 7-0. Cerritos answered with a 3-yard touchdown run from Rafa Bedoya at home in the 1st Q. 7-7. Dalton Gallis then threw an interception to Elijah Walker, who would return it 17 yards. A 21-yard field goal in the first quarter put Cerritos up 13-7, but the Renegades went on to score touchdowns after Gallis threw that interception. BC tied it on a 35-yard touchdown pass from De Leon to Jamir Tuml. The score at halftime was 14-14.

Vickers put the Renegades back in front as he scored the 23-yard touchdown run to put BC up 21-14. Vickers hit the first touchdow on the game on another 25-yard touchdown run to put BC up 28-21. Cerritos was driving down the field before fumbling the ball with 12 seconds left to seal the victory.

"We look at how we were playing and we played with a lot of spirit and a lot of heart," said BC coach Jeff Chudy. "We don't have one play that we weren't in the game. We weren't the first half I think we had four holding penalties and a penalty that cost us 10 yards on that drive. We had a big one on our first drive, we actually overcame that. But we're going to do what we do. These guys are good football team and we're going to keep playing like we play. I think that's our Renegades and to Cerritos. We know we're going to be able to go for a day, so we're just happy to get it done it.

Vickers ran the ball 22 times for 199 yards and three touchdowns to help carry BC of for. "He's a special player, and I'm glad he's playing for us," said Chudy. Gallis went 7-for-14 passing for 94 yards and two interceptions before De Leon came in for him. De Leon went 5-for-8 passing for 8 yards and one touchdown. "Cesar did a great job of stepping in and he finished the game," said Chudy.

BC scored a 29-26 victory over Santa Monica College on Saturday, Oct. 29. BC beat Santa Monica College 26-14 on the road. Santa Monica scored first on a 2-yard touchdown pass from Justin Bohnet to Blain Hondo. BC would tie it up on a 4-yard touchdown pass from De Leon to Jamir Tuml in the 2nd Q. 7-7.

Santa Monica tied it early in the fourth quarter on a 10-yard touchdown pass from Cesar De Leon to Jasmit Thind. The score at halftime was 14-14.

The Renegades outscored the Corsairs in the second half, scoring 15 unanswered points. BC controls its own destiny for the postseason. Football prepares for playoff push..."
The Bakersfield College men’s basketball team is looking to build on last season’s success.

“Women’s soccer looking to finish the season strong”

By Kyle Cortez

The Renegade women’s soccer team (3-1-2, 2 overall, 2-2 Western State Conference) has won two straight games after being on a four-game losing streak.

The Renegades beat Victor Valley College 2-0 on Oct. 19. Alexandria Castro scored the first goal for the Renegades with an assist from Emily Teston. Elizabeth Norton scored the second goal on an assist from Odilia Esperanza.

The Renegades beat Antelope Valley College 2-0 on Oct. 25. Odilia Esperanza scored the 31st minute on an assist from Santana Sanchez to push the Renegades up 1-0. Ten Phoenix scored the 67th minute on an assist from Alexi Castellanos to push the Renegades out to a 2-0 victory.

Two overall, 2-2 Western State Conference, the Renegades have won the last two games, scoring seven goals and three assists and 20 shots, according to head coach Margaret Bernal, who is Bernal’s first assistant.

The Renegades roster features the returning stars, and the team has been successful in moving up to third in the Western State Conference, and holding onto second place in the conference to the end of the season.

The Renegades are currently in third place in the Western State Conference and first heading into their final four games of the season.

The Renegades are looking to win their remaining four games, including a home game against Antelope Valley College.

Men’s basketball is looking to build on last year’s success.

By Sam L. Jaime

The Bakersfield College men’s basketball team has one of the best coaches in the nation in Thomas Hughes.

“Women’s soccer looking to finish the season strong”

By Kyle Cortez

The Bakersfield College soccer team (19-2-0, 6-2 overall, 2-2 Western State Conference) has won two straight games after being on a four-game losing streak.

The Renegades beat Victor Valley College 2-0 on Oct. 25. Alexandria Lopez scored the first goal for the Renegades with an assist from Emily Teston. Elizabeth Norton scored the second goal on an assist from Odilia Esperanza.

The Renegades beat Antelope Valley College 2-0 on Oct. 25. Odilia Esperanza scored the 31st minute on an assist from Santana Sanchez to push the Renegades up 1-0. Ten Phoenix scored the 67th minute on an assist from Alexi Castellanos to push the Renegades out to a 2-0 victory.

Two overall, 2-2 Western State Conference, the Renegades have won the last two games, scoring seven goals and three assists and 20 shots, according to head coach Margaret Bernal, who is Bernal’s first assistant.

The Renegades roster features the returning stars, and the team has been successful in moving up to third in the Western State Conference, and holding onto second place in the conference to the end of the season.

The Renegades are currently in third place in the Western State Conference and first heading into their final four games of the season.

The Renegades are looking to win their remaining four games, including a home game against Antelope Valley College.
Jennifer Garrett not only conducted her Chamber Singers at their “It’s a Matter of Life and Death” concert, she even joined in on the festivities that evening.

Above: The Bakersfield College Chamber Singers signed their performance alongside their singing in the “It’s a Matter of Life and Death” concert on Oct. 21.

Below: Men’s Chamber Singers Bray Anderson (bottom left), Ken Burdick (center), and Mason Edwards (bottom right) exhibiting lively facial expressions throughout their performance.

Choir: A Matter of Life and Death
Photos by Veronica Morley