Mauricio, the $800 million bond measure that would enable the school to build a new campus across the schools of the Kern Community College District. The measure, which passed on a vote to Nov. 8, will receive another shot as the bond comes from Bakersfield College if the project funds for larger projects won’t actually be on campus.

Instead, the college plans on building on-campus houses at positions in Shafter, and one in Taft Delano, the Delano campus would cost $92 million each. “Planning Measure J is the first step in making BC a region of schools,” said Christopher Counts, head of Kern College. “We need this bond to provide security and peace to our students.”

Though the numbers do not include incidents of assault, the school saw an increase of 18% from last year in reported incidents in 2016. “There is a lot happening around campus. In just the few months since this semester started, there have already been several disturbances reported to Campus Security,” said Counts.

“We can’t control what’s happening on campus, although we can provide information about public safety tips, survivor assistance and emergency contacts. Students should take part in the campus discussion about these programs.”

The students also need to make themselves aware of the increase in criminal activity around BC.

The report itself outlines various different topics about crimes on campus and surrounding areas. Of the hundreds of crimes, the most prominent one was a car burglary on campus (six in 2015) and 10 in 2016 in the last two years. Other crimes included sexual offenses, family violence, aggravated assault, domestic violence, data theft and stalking. These crimes have only one to two reports each year. Other disciplinary referrals include drug possession, trespassing and alcohol.

“Even though we haven’t yet seen the final report, it’s obvious that there are a lot of people here who don’t feel safe,” said David Franz, head of Kern College. “If we can get close to what the bond would do, we can work on ourselves and get a lot of what we want.”

The biggest expenditures of Measure J, the $503 million bond measure, would be to build new campuses: one in Shafter, and one in Taft Delano. “If we can get close to what the bond would do, we can work on ourselves and get a lot of what we want.”

Franz said that a study on Shafter over seven years ago pegged Shafter as a good candidate for a new campus construction that would have likely ended up near 36th Standard Road.

“When Measure J passes, we’ll get a lot of support from the community,” said Franz. “We’ll have a lot of people on our side who believe in what we’re doing.”

Pieology offers pizza variety

By Stephen Underwood

While some locations offer only a couple of pizzas, Bakersfield’s new Pieology offers 18 different pizza options. The restaurant is located at 5503 Calloway Drive. Customers can choose any combination of cheese, meats, veg- gies, and sauces to create a custom pizza that is both delicious and satisfying. This location is the third for Pieology, which opened in July in California. To bring customers that variety of pizzas, they even have a small open kitchen where you can watch them make your pizza.

Pieology has a positive outlook on the future of their new location. “We’ve had a great opening day, though, and free pizza is a great way to introduce your brand to potential future customers,” said Pieology. “We hope to continue to exceed the needs of our customers and provide the best experience possible.”

In addition to their delicious pizzas, Pieology has a commitment to using fresh, high-quality ingredients in all of their dishes. This commitment to quality extends to their atmosphere as well, where customers are encouraged to relax and enjoy their meals in a comfortable setting. Their goal is to create a welcoming environment for everyone who steps through the doors.

Pieology uses fresh, organic ingredients in all of their dishes. They source their ingredients from local farms and suppliers to ensure that they are using the best quality products possible. This dedication to quality extends to their atmosphere as well, where customers are encouraged to relax and enjoy their meals in a comfortable setting. Their goal is to create a welcoming environment for everyone who steps through the doors.

Pieology is also committed to sustainability. They use eco-friendly packaging and work with local charities to give back to their community. With a focus on quality, variety, and sustainability, Pieology is a great option for anyone looking for a delicious and enjoyable dining experience.

Bon lver delivers unique and unexpected sound

By Marie Saldaña

It’s been a year and a half since Bon lver released their latest album “22, A Million.” Though the album was met with mixed reviews, the band continues to impress with their unique sound and style.

This album features a different set of ideas for Bon lver, as they incorporate elements of folk, rock, and electronic music. The result is a diverse and captivating album that is sure to please fans of all ages.

“I think the most interesting thing about this album is how it all comes together,” said Bon lver. “It’s like trying to put together a puzzle, but instead of putting together pieces of a puzzle, we’re putting together different ideas and sounds.”

The album features a range of styles, from the acoustic guitar-driven “22, A Million” to the more electronic-driven “Circles.” This diversity is what makes Bon lver’s sound so unique, and it’s sure to appeal to fans of all genres.

Bon lver’s music is not just about the sound, though. It’s also about the lyrics, which are thought-provoking and meaningful. The band’s songs often explore themes of love, loss, and life, and they do so in a way that’s both accessible and thought-provoking.

“I think the most important thing about our music is that it’s relatable and meaningful to people,” said Bon lver. “We want our music to be something that people can connect with, something that they can use to express their own emotions.”

Overall, Bon lver’s “22, A Million” is a great album that’s sure to appeal to fans of all genres. With its diverse sound and meaningful lyrics, it’s sure to be a hit with fans of rock, folk, and electronic music alike.

The BC football team (4-2 overall; 2-1 Pacific conference) was hoping for a bye before they started conference play against Moorpark College (3-3, 1-4) on Oct. 18. Moorpark would end up beating the Renegades 30-27 in overtime. BC started off the game with a 71-yard kickoff return from La Meshio touchdown run from La Meshio, but the PAT was blocked so BC only led kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown.

Moorepark scored early in the fourth quarter on a 4-yard run from quarterback Kaido Brown, but would miss the PAT. Moorpark started their game-tying drive on their own 1-yard line with 1:56 left in the game. Brown completed a 5-yard pass to Kade Schmidt all the way to BC’s 30-yard line. Moorpark ended up scoring a touchdown on 16 seconds left on a 1-yard touchdown run from Brown in the game 27-27. "I thought we were a bit too conservative in the overtime, but we should have scored an extra point to end the game," said Vickers.

Vickers finished the game with 67 passing yards, and zero first downs. The Renegades held Moorpark to a field goal and a 93-yard kickoff return for a touchdown. Vickers finished the game with 33 rushing yards, 99 receiving yards, and a 93-yard kickoff return for a touchdown. Gallis went 16-for-30 for 184 yards, two touchdowns and one interception in overtime. Gallis was under pressure throughout the entire game being sacked five times.

"I think we’ve played good until the entire game, which has been an issue for the whole season. We let the game get to us in the fourth quarter,” said head coach Brian Nicola. “I think we’ve played good this season, but we still have something we need to improve on.”

“I think we started fast, but lacked the ability to finish. We could’ve been better in all three phases of the game: offense, defense, special teams,” said head coach Brian Nicola. “I think we’re best in the year yet to come for sure.”

BC will host Citrus College on Oct. 22.

The Renegades’ volleyball team has started conference play on a four-game losing streak to push their season losing streak to four straight matches.

The Renegades lost 2-0 to Fresno City College on Oct. 4. Leila Monzon scored in the second minute to give Fresno City the lead. Anna Wilson scored in the 59th minute to push the final score to 2-0. The Renegades did not have a shot on goal. Jeanette Gutierrez was the goalkeeper for BC. She was in the first half and made three saves, but she also allowed a goal. Alondra Villa played the second half and made four saves, but she also gave up one goal.

BC lost to Ventura College 4-1 on Oct. 7. Ventura scored late in the first half on a goal by Janelle Guzman. Ventura then went on to score three goals in the second half. Janelle Orozco scored two goals and Garcia scored one goal to make it 4-0. Ventura had 26 shots and 10 shots on goal. BC on the other hand had only 12 shots on goal.

BC then started conference play at San Mateo College on Oct. 11. Six of their goals in the second half. Jackie Johnson scored the only goal in the 47th minute. Amanda Baldemus scored in the 48th minute to make it 2-0, and then Jade Aune made it 3-0 in the 83rd minute. The Renegades were only able to muster two shots on goal. The Renegades lost their second straight conference game and fourth game in a row to Citrus College 4-0 on Oct. 14. Jasmine Collier scored the only goal in the first half. Citrus then scored three more goals in the second half. BC managed 2 shots on goal but Brittni Arras saved every shot for Citrus College.

Jeanette Gutierrez made three saves, but the allowed four goals. Despite the 4-game losing streak, head coach Scott Durham on-field felt confident in his team. “I like this group of players that we have. They are very resilient. I have complete confidence in them,” said Durmarto.

The Renegades’ next game is Oct. 21 against Victor Valley College. Their next home game is Oct. 25 against Antelope Valley College.

Men’s soccer hopes to start winning games

By Mario Saldana

Since facing Allan Hancock on Sept. 26, Bakersfield College’s men’s soccer team (2-1-0) is still searching for a win after losing four matches with one home and one away game.

They managed to tie Oxnard, but have been struggling to find a win even though they haven’t had problems with finding the back of the net of late. After the 0-0 loss to Oxnard, the Renegades faced Citrus College (5-4-1 at home and 4-2 on the road). BC won Oxnard 0-7, then it was a tie against Citrus College.

Before conference games started, the Renegades faced Clovis (1-5-4 at home) on Tuesday, September 20, at the Citrus College and managed to score the only goal by BC.

The Renegades faced Citrus College on Saturday, September 24, at home on Oct. 11, which ended with a loss 2-1. The Renegades scored the only goal by BC.

Their second game into conference play was against Citrus (1-0-1 at home) on Wednesday, September 28 at Alondra’s home in Citrus College. BC won 2-1, and then they will be on the road for two games before coming back for two home games against Citrus College.

The upcoming schedule has four of the last seven matches being played at home, beginning Oct. 11.

The big challenge is being fully present in the now, not taking what you’re doing and where you are for granted,” said Ferreira.

“We’ll focus on the match in front of us. We’ll focus on winning the day, and these fantastic moments will be ready to compete on game day.”
