Data Coaching

Did you know that there are several faculty, classified and administrators on campus that are being "certified" as data coaches?

These special colleagues like to look at data and discuss what the context, relevance and potential for decision-making may be for the college. The data coaches also help to craft our institutional scorecard and present important findings.

Examples of the kind of work data coaches have done include:

- Looking at equity data to determine disproportionate impact and targets for our Equity Plan (the plan represents over $1 million dollars for BC)
- Examining the success in accelerated and compressed courses
- CCSSE survey data analysis
- Institutional scorecard development
- Basic skills course progression

Find out more about how you can become a data coach as well as their important work on the Bakersfield College campus.
