California Guided Pathways Project:
Private-Public Partnerships for Local Change

Grantmakers for Education
October 16, 2018
Welcome!

• Learning Goals
  • Identify ways to support significant changes in institutional practice that better serve underrepresented students through a mix of local reforms and broader state policy efforts
  • Facilitate complex collaboration involving a mix of local and national funders and a coalition of grantees encompassing community, state, and national actors
Key Take-Aways

• National to state translation
• Promoting institutionalization and sustainability
  • Public-private partnership
  • Network effects
• Policy and practice
  • Leveraging the system
  • Investment from the state
  • Institutional reforms on campus
Roundtable Discussion

• How might you translate a state or national reform movement into your local context (or vice versa), and what major lessons could you take from that experience?

• How might you link institutional reforms and state policy in your work, and what major lessons could you take from that experience?

• How might you directly engage with faculty and curriculum reform in postsecondary settings and what could you learn about the prospects for substantive and sustainable change?
Thank You!

California Guided Pathways
https://www.caguidedpathways.org/

Sonya Christian, Bakersfield College, sonya.christian@bakersfieldcollege.edu
Chrystie Hill, Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, chrystie.hill@gatesfoundation.org
Loni Bordoloi Pazich, Teagle Foundation, bordoloi@teagle.org
Shawn Whalen, College Futures Foundation, swhalen@collegefutures.org
April Yee, James Irvine Foundation, ayee@irvine.org